AMERICA TO QUIT RUSSIA

U. S. TO CARRY 20 BILLION WAR LOAD 2 YEARS

Means Bonds, Inflation, High Prices, New Tariff.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—Approximately $20,000,000,000 must be forthcoming from the American people this year and next year in taxes and loans to pay for the war.

It is estimated that unless taxes are increased next year it will be necessary to raise about $12,000,000,000 of this amount through flotation of loans before June 30, 1920. This means that if the forthcoming Victory Liberty loan is for $6,000,000,000 there will be one or more issues of government bonds aggregating $6,000,000,000 next year.

"I doubt that the country can absorb so large an amount of bonds in seventeen months," said Senator Smoot of the senate finance committee today.

Means Inflated Prices.

"The banks will be compelled to take the amount of bonds that cannot be absorbed by popular subscription. They already have $2,500,000,000 of such bonds and the result has been a certain degree of inflation. I therefore fear that we must reckon with considerable inflation caused by government financing in the next year and a half and consequently continued high prices, which are produced by inflation."

The huge cost of the war which the American people will be paying directly and indirectly for a generation or more is only beginning to be realized. From April 6, 1917, to Jan. 31, 1919, the government actually paid out for war purposes $26,509,703,828, including $10,976,666 loaned to our allies. In less than two years the United States expended an amount only $5,000,000,000 less than the cost of the war to Great Britain in more than four years.

Price for Unpreparedness.

That billions of dollars were wasted is well known, the usual argument in explanation being that the United States was unprepared for war and was compelled to pour out money like water to obtain quick results. Expenditures have been greatly reduced since the signing of the armistice, but not sufficiently to satisfy the Republicans, who are demanding still greater retrenchments and charging the Democrats with inexcusable extravagance.

The Democrats contend that all the demobilization and reconstruction expenses have been lopped off, and the people must realize the cost of victory must be squarely met.

Mountains to Climb.

From April 6, 1917, to Jan. 31, 1919, the government received from taxes $4,646,355,533 and from Liberty bonds $21,946,938,000. The administration expects to collect about $6,000,000,000 taxes for 1918 under the new revenue law. Senator Smoot thinks the yield will be only $5,250,000,000. In any event it will be necessary to raise $4,000,000,000 from the forthcoming loan to meet war expenses up to June 30 next.

It is estimated that the expenditures of the government mainly on war account will be $10,000,000,000 during the next fiscal year. From taxes in 1919 the administration expects to obtain $4,000,000,000, while Senator Smoot estimates $3,250,000,000. In any event it will be necessary to raise at least $6,000,000,000 more by sale of bonds.

To Be Campaign Issue.

It is a foregone conclusion that government financing and possibly the tariff question will be an issue in the presidential election of 1920. As soon as the Republicans come into power in the next congress they will propose a revision of the system of financing, the chief feature of which will be legislation to increase the customs revenue and provide protection for American manufacturers and producers. Many Democratic leaders concede that a revision of the tariff upward "for revenue only" is desirable and great interest will attach to the attitude the president assumes toward such a proposal.

Test of Statesmanship.

Altogether it is going to be a long time before prices recede to normal levels, and rigid economy will continue to be imperative in every household if the baneful effects of inflation are to be mitigated.

To the extent that war loans are made to the government out of the savings of the people, to that extent will inflation be avoided. At the same time the future financing of the government is going to prove a severe test for statesmanship, and it will be to a large degree upon their stewardship in this respect that the political parties will render an accounting to the people in 1920.

GRASPS SPRING, AS IT WERE, BY THE THROAT AND—

Signs of spring, our north shore correspondent telephoned last night, have impelled Acting President Henry W. Wright of Lake Forest college to issue the following executive order for the conduct of students:

"Co-eds may have but two dinner engagements a week.

"Co-eds and boy students may not walk together across the campus.

"Only two dances or other social affairs a month.

"Boy students may pay their devoirs to co-eds only between the hours of 4 and 7 p. m.

"Compulsory study between 7:15 and 9 p. m. Then taps."

The restrictions were really imposed upon two couples, who were understood to have plighted their respective troths, Dr. Wright explained.

"But," added our correspondent, "he says if this springtime turtle dove stuff keeps up he'll enforce them on the whole college."

Kankakee Asylum Wants Monkey to Amuse Insane

NURSES FIGHT 'HOUSEKEEPERS FOR SICK' PLAN

Break with Doctors on Short Course of Training.

Doctors and nurses, who have been striving to agree on a new law, which will provide "housekeepers for the sick"—nurses, who will be competent to handle ordinary sick cases and will work for wages that the small salaried man can afford to pay, broke up in a row yesterday.

Two bills, one supported by the doctors, providing for short term trained nurses, and the other, backed by the registered nurses, demanding much more stringent requirements and training, will be presented to the legislature.

At present registered nurses are paid $35 or more per week. The doctors contended that only 6 per cent of the people can afford to hire registered nurses.

Call Nurses "Inhuman."

After the final conference in Health Commissioner John Dill Robertson's office ended yesterday, there were bitter words from both sides.

The doctors called the nurses' stand "inhuman."

The final conference was attended by Drs. W. A. Pusey, president of the Chicago Medical society; C. E. Humiston, chairman of the public relations committee of the society; M. L. Harris, president of the Illinois State Hospital association; W. L. Noble, former president of the State Medical society, and Commissioner Robertson. The nurses present were Miss Walsh of the Children's Memorial hospital, Miss McMillan of the Presbyterian hospital, Miss Johnson of the Durand hospital, and Mrs. Kennedy of the state board of registered nurses.

Need Many Plain Nurses.

"The great need is for bedside nurses to do plain nursing," Dr. Pusey said last night. "For this work a year of training is enough. There is no disposition on the part of the doctors to disturb the present three year course for nurse specialists. These nurses have their place in the medical profession and it is not jeopardized under the proposed bill.

"The nurses' bill as laid before us today proposed two courses—one of twenty-seven and one of eighteen months' training. We are willing to grant these new training periods. But we feel that the short term nurse should be the standard, with the present registered nurse as a super-nurse for exceptional work.

"That nurses should have a high school education is a hardship on many women who would make excellent nurses under the one year training plan. It is preposterous to say that no one shall nurse the sick except registered and licensed nurses. The great need is for plain nursing, which can be performed by any normal, healthy woman. Such an act, as the registered nurses want, would mean that the great majority of sick persons would go unattended."

Doctors Draft Bill.

The committee to draft the bill which the doctors will support is composed of Drs. M. L. Harris, C. E. Humiston, and W. L. Noble.

Miss Walsh, as representative of the registered nurses, left for Springfield last night to lay the bill which the women are backing before the legislature.

COPS TO DRESS AS WOMEN TO NAB MASHERS

Should springtime fancy lead you northward and you meet a smartly appareled Venus who smiles coyly into your eyes—

Stop! Look! Look, man, at her feet before you listen to her blandishments. It may be a he-Venus. They are going to camouflage the coppers of the Summerdale station in feminine garb in an effort to catch a number of mashers and morons infesting that vicinity.

The second case in three days was reported yesterday, the victim being a 6 year old girl, Agnes Matti of 1617 Olive avenue. She was lured into a vacant house at Bryn Mawr avenue and Clark street by a man she describes as about 25 years old and wearing the uniform of a street car conductor. He released her when she screamed.

The other case involved a woman 23 years old. She was attacked near the Rosehill cemetery.

Federal Judge Uses Habeas Corpus on an Appeal.

New York, Feb. 12.—[Special.]—Federal Judge John C. Knox, at the request of a group of Socialists, left a Lincoln celebration dinner tonight and issued writs of habeas corpus, returnable tomorrow, for forty-nine of the fifty-four aliens awaiting deportation at Ellis Island. Miss Caroline Lowe, a lawyer of Chicago, headed the group that obtained the writs.

The writs, which were granted as a matter of routine, provide for argument tomorrow, without the appearance in court of those on whose behalf it was issued.

Miss Lowe was selected to conduct this case at a meeting today which was attended by Scott Nearing, John Reed, the Rev. John Haynes Holmes, and the Rev. Norman Thomas. Seymour Stedman, counsel for Nearing at his trial on charges of obstructing the selective service act, was present.

Mr. Stedman said he believed that "if the government would open the door and allow people to return to Russia there would be a larger exodus than most people imagine."

MILLIONS OF ALIENS A PERIL.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—Presence in the United States of nearly 10,500,000 unnaturalized aliens endangers American institutions, in the opinion of Raymond F. Crist, deputy commissioner of naturalization. As a remedy he urges every American citizen to aid in a general campaign of Americanization of aliens.

"There are now 17,500,000 aliens in this country," he said, "yet barely 6,000,000 have become citizens. Such a tremendous unassimilated mass means danger.

"The war revealed that there were far too many German aliens who felt only hatred for the country. It is time now to act to prevent any recurrence of this experience."

May Chase 6,000 Out.

Anthony Caminetti, commissioner general of immigration, said tonight that reports of prospective wholesale deportations of aliens were "unjustified."

"It is estimated that about 6,000 aliens are to be deported, the great majority because they are insane or otherwise public charges," Mr. Caminetti said. "Most of the remainder are diseased or have been found guilty of offenses subjecting them to deportation. A few, comparatively, are agitators who are opposed to our form of government or all organized government."

WARN VISITORS HERE.

The vanguard of fugitive Pacific coast I. W. W.'s are arriving in Chicago, only to find that if they want to remain they must become horny fisted and do real, honest toil.

Thirty-four from Seattle and other western points, who had arrived here recently, were loaded into patrol wagons at a branch I. W. W. headquarters at 119 South Throop street yesterday. The raid was ordered by First Deputy Chief Alcock. They were taken to the bureau of identification.

Each man was questioned as to where he had ever worked, the period of that employment, how long he thought Chicago would be a healthy place for him to remain in, the cause of present idleness, and how long he expected to remain workless. They were given temporary freedom, which will be subject to frequent checkings.

"PILL HILL" AT VASSAR SOLVES CIGARET CLASH

New York, Feb. 12.—[Special.]—An armistice has been signed between the smokers and nonsmokers of Vassar college. The matter was thrashed out a week ago and a decision was reached which now prohibits smoking by the girls in dormitories, but they can smoke elsewhere.

Consequently the girls avail themselves of many secluded nooks. Probably the most patronized is Sunset hill. Here the girls are wont to gather and puff at their cigarets, unmolested by the trustees or the warden, Miss J. C. Palmer.

Vassar college is said to be the only woman's college which has heretofore recognized that girls smoked. In fact, all questions concerning the welfare of the girls while at college have always been placed directly before the students themselves.

LLOYD GEORGE SAYS NO MORE U. S. INVASION

Finds Problem of Bolsheviki Is Insoluble.

(By the Associated Press.)

LONDON, Feb. 12.—If troops are to be sent into Russia, who shall send them? Premier Lloyd George today in another speech in the house of commons on the general peace situation asked the foregoing question. America, he said, would send neither men, money nor material, and the work—if determined on—would fall upon the British and the French.

Attack on the President.

Rupert Guinness, Unionist, asked whether the premier was prepared to press to the utmost reparation from Germany and also to make Germany pay to the full extent of her resources. He also pressed for more information as to the status of the British colonies at the peace conference.

"We have had far too much of the particular panacea which America is supporting at the conference," Capt. Guinness said. "Since the days of Mahomet, no prophet has been listened to with more superstitious respect than President Wilson."

Mr. Lloyd George said that reparation by Germany was the election pledge given by the government after careful consideration by the cabinet. The government, he added, stood by every word of this pledge.

Bolsheviki Not Recognized.

The grave difficulties over Russia found no solution in Mr. Lloyd George's speech. He was sanguine that a complete agreement would be reached concerning the German western boundary, but the eastern boundary was a different matter. Until the commission sent to examine the matter reported the allies would be in no position to make demands upon Germany. The conference was unanimous, he said, that Germany had forfeited all rights to her colonies.

He declared there had never been any proposal advanced at the peace conference to recognize the bolsheviists. Russia, he said, was easy to dogmatize about, but difficult to deal with. He admitted that the horrors of bolshevism were so great that there was a sense of disgust when it came to dealing with its leaders, but it was useless to blind our eyes to the facts.

Russia represented in area over half of Europe and nearly half of Asia, and the premier pointed out if peace were not made the whole of this immense territory would be seething in lawlessness, disorder and bloodshed. There would be no peace in the world.

Bolsheviki Are Assassins.

The bolshevists, the premier continued, were assassins, guilty of the crimes laid to their charge. The allies had given the anti-bolshevik governments financial support and assistance. Much of their equipment had been supplied by the allies, who were anxious to keep the rich territories of Russia out of German hands.

The bolshevist machinery in Russia, he said, is ruthless and brutal, but there is no doubt about its efficiency, and it is the only machinery there. Everybody in the past who had interfered in Russia had come to grief. There was no idea of recognizing the bolshevists; it was quite impossible to do so as long as they were pursuing their present methods.

Reds Are Growing Strong.

It might be argued, Mr. Lloyd George said, that the bolshevists governed by terror. The same could be said of the French revolution. He was unable to disclose the figures that intervention would involve, but, after seeing them, no sane man, he declared, would advise the allies, after five years of war, to undertake the enterprise. The bolshevik military power had grown strong, while both England and Germany were too occupied to attack it.

"If we won how long should we occupy the country?" he asked, "and what guarantee would there be that, when we withdrew, a dependable government would be set up?"

Must Restore Order First.

Referring to the alternative of allowing the fire in Russia to burn itself out, the premier characterized this as a brutal policy, and added that it would

TO DEMAND NEW TEUTON REPUBLIC BE RECOGNIZED

BULLETIN.

BERNE, Feb. 13.—As a result of a long conference between Mathias Erzberger, member of the German armistice commission, and various ministers at Berlin Monday it was decided, according to the Frankfort Zeitung, that Herr Erzberger will demand that the allies recognize the new Berlin government when he meets the entente chiefs to negotiate a renewal of the armistice.

WEIMAR, Feb. 12.—Friedrich Ebert, elected president of Germany yesterday, in his speech accepting the office, said:

"I will administer my office not as the leader of a single party, but I belong to the Socialist party and cannot forget my origin and training. The privileges of birth already have been eliminated from politics and are being eliminated from social life.

"We shall combat domination by force to the utmost, from whatever direction it may come. We wish to found our state only on the basis of right and on our freedom to shape our destinies at home and abroad. However harsh may be the lot threatening the German people, we do not despair of Germany's vital forces."

Extend Martial Law.

BASLE, Switzerland, Feb. 12.—[Havas.]—The state of martial law proclaimed recently by the German authorities in the region of Kulmsee, Posen, has been extended to other localities in the vicinity, according to a dispatch from Danzig.

Food Will Not Save Them.

PARIS, Feb. 12.—The rehabilitation of Germany cannot be effected alone by supplying it with an adequate amount of food, in the opinion of an American trained observer who has just completed a tour of Prussia for the supreme council of food and relief of the peace conference. A letter from him received by the council today says:

"It may be that a food supply is the first and indispensable need, but I am not sure of that. The disorganization and lack of control is so extreme that I can without difficulty see food importations leading directly to new disturbances.

"The people will not work. They are paid a too high pension for idleness. They have no real leaders to organize and carry them. They are going down further and further, and with it all, with few exceptions, they do not blame themselves; they reproach the entente. They are blindly insolent."

WRIGLEY SAID TO HAVE BOUGHT CATALINA ISLE

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Pasadena, Cal., Feb. 12.—Announcement was made here tonight by William Wrigley Jr., gum manufacturer and one of the principal owners of the Chicago National League Baseball club, that he had purchased the greater part of Santa Catalina island, the noted pleasure resort, about thirty miles off the coast from San Pedro.

The property was bought from Capt. William Banning and others of the Banning family, for approximately $3,000,000.

Mr. Wrigley said he would make extensive alterations to make the island more attractive as a resort.

REPORTED IN CHICAGO.

Reports to the effect that William Wrigley Jr. had purchased Catalina island were current in the Chicago loop yesterday. Mr. Wrigley was said to have written local associates advising them "we are buying the island." THE TRIBUNE telegraphed to California for verification. The only reply received up to 3 a. m. was the following dispatch from Los Angeles:

WILSON MAY LEAVE PARIS FRIDAY NIGHT

PARIS, Feb. 12.—[By the Associated Press.]—It was learned tonight that President Wilson is considering the advisability of leaving Paris for Brest, enroute to America, on Friday night, if it shall then be clearly evident that the society of nations project cannot be put through the peace conference, in plenary session, by the end of the week.

In any case, it is expected, however, that he will at least be able to take home with him what may be regarded as a virtually complete draft of the project upon which to base any representations he may make to congress.

GERMANY MUST REVEAL EXTENT OF WAR STORES

Fix Harder Terms, Restore Harmony Over League.

PEACE PROCEEDINGS

SUPREME WAR COUNCIL—Powers agree on armistice renewal terms and call for inventory of German war materials.

COMMISSION ON LEAGUE—Redraft virtually agreed on—French are placated—Lord Robert Cecil denies acceptance of world army and navy plan.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Copyright: 1919: By the Tribune Company.]

PARIS, Feb. 12.—The terms for the renewal of the armistice are not radically different from the original and amended armistice terms. More rigid stipulations were embodied and stronger safeguards for allies incorporated, but the sweeping amendments advocated by the extreme radicals were not embodied under the new terms. Certain new provisions were incorporated owing to the fact that the armistice agreement signed Feb. 17 will be more or less permanent and not renewable or changeable monthly as hitherto.

This is due largely to the American protest against extending the terms every thirty days, as it is held that the original instrument signed Nov. 11 was an agreement and not subject to fundamental alterations. The enemy's failure to live up to certain demands gave the opportunity to exert further pressure, but it is now believed to be best to watch the Germans through various missions stationed in the principal cities of Germany and Austria and accept the best propositions the Germans deliver.

PERSHING AT SESSION.

PARIS, Feb. 12.—[By Associated Press.]—An official communication issued tonight announces that the war council, after meetings in the morning and afternoon, decided on the conditions of the renewal of the armistice.

There were present at the morning session, in addition to President Wilson and the foreign ministers of the great powers, Marshal Foch, Field Marshal Haig, Marshal Petain, Gen. Pershing, and Gen. Diaz.

A full agreement on the terms was presented in a report from the subcommittee, embracing military and economic members, named yesterday.

Report Is Unanimous.

The report was unanimous, including the adherence of the American members, Gen. Tasker H. Bliss and Norman Davis, which indicates that economic measures figure in the new terms equally with military measures.

The German authorities have been asked to furnish information confirming the amount of their war material, cannon, airplanes and other equipment. This question came up in the recent sessions of the war council when the extent of this war material was advanced as a reason for taking effective measures against the renewal of warlike activities.

Before determining on any such step, it was considered desirable to request information, both as a memorandum dealing with the subject and as testing the good faith of the enemy in disclosing the status of his military equipment.

Make Enemy Impotent.

The Havas (the French news agency) understands that the council decided first to place Germany in a military situation where it would be impossible for her to recommence hostilities. It is pointed out that the enemy countries are preserving war materials, permitting them to equip very rapidly an army of at least 3,000,000 men.

The council decided, secondly, according to Havas, "to make Germany realize that we are the conquerors and that it is not a 'white peace' that we are seeking to impose on her."

In case Germany submits with good grace, continues Havas, it is possible that the entente would facilitate the resumption of the entente's works of peace for the benefit of Germany.

The council also had to examine the demand by the Poles that a clause be introduced into the armistice that the agricultural machinery stolen by the enemy should be restored.

PLACATE THE FRENCH.

BY RICHARD V. OULAHAN.
Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.
[Copyright: 1919.]

PARIS, Feb. 12.—Disagreement over the French insistence on an international army likely will be harmonized. The United States and Great Britain have made it plain that they could not overcome their constitutional prohibitions against pledging themselves to war in advance, but France has been placated by a new provision in the constitution of the league of nations stiffening the prior provision intended to prevent war.

As rewritten this provides that when any nation declares war wantonly the other nations in the league are obligated to take measures to meet the situation. This means in the case of the United States that the president will be obliged to call on congress to determine whether our army and navy shall be used against the offending nation.

In the agreement on the armistice conditions it is understood that France is to share in business transactions with Germany under the proposal that the four great powers furnish Germany with food and accept German long time obligations.

LEAGUE IS APPROVED

PARIS, Feb. 12.—[By the Associated Press.]—The plan for a league of nations, which may now be considered as virtually approved by all the members of the special commission, provides for a small body of representatives of the great and small countries which will govern the society of nations, meeting every two or three months in a place that will be internationalized. The meeting place was not indicated in the plan, but during the discussion members of the commission spoke of Constantinople or some island.

Each country will provide a list of experts in international law, from which body will be chosen arbitrators when disputes between nations are submitted for settlement.

Dealing with Recalcitrants.

Every difference between countries will have to be submitted to the governing body of the society of nations, which will make a decision within three months, during which time the contending parties must refrain from any act of hostility.

Once a decision is given, if it is not accepted by one or more of the parties to the conflict, the case will be referred to a committee of arbitration, the members of which will be chosen from lists of experts on international law provided by countries which are members of the society of nations.

If the country which the decision of the arbitrators places in the wrong does not accept the ruling of the arbitrators and has recourse in arms, not only the forces of the other contending party in the dispute but the forces of all other members of the society of nations in a position to help will take up arms against it.

All Not to Go to War.

The covenant establishing the rules of the society of nations does not make it compulsory for all the contracting parties to go to war to help one of their associates.

This was decided when M. Bourgeois, in the name of France, asked that there should be a naval and land force of the society of nations ready to repulse an enemy attack whenever necessary, and in the present case to keep such forces in France until all possible danger of attack from Germany was over.

This was opposed by the United States and Great Britain and other countries, and after a long discussion it was agreed that no permanent international military force should be kept, but if a country should be attacked in violation of the rules of the society of nations the attacked country would employ her forces as "covering troops" awaiting assistance from other members of the society which could more easily help her.

To Boycott Aggressor.

No country would be obliged to go to the rescue of another country unjustly attacked, but all the signatories to the society of nations would be compelled to join in an economic boycott against a country which violates its rules and also to maintain friendly neutrality in favor of the attacked country.

Thus far during the discussion the British and American tendency has been to reach an agreement on general principles, while the continental European and Latin powers have been inclined to go into details which rendered unanimity by the commission difficult, if not impossible.

President Wilson succeeded in bringing about a compromise between the two tendencies, thus securing an adoption of the plan and covenant.

Lord Robert Cecil, the British representative on the league of nations commission, emphatically denied tonight the report spread in Paris today that the league of nations commission had approved the creation of an immediate international army, and that the United States and Great Britain had conceded a point to France.

Bourgeois Meets Straus.

Leon Bourgeois, French delegate, who introduced the amendment for an international military force in the league of nations project, had a prolonged conference last night with Oscar Straus, former American ambassador to Turkey, who is chairman of the delegation of the League to Enforce Peace at the peace conference. Mr. Straus said this morning:

"I am satisfied that all differences will be adjusted and a full agreement reached on the draft of the league."

MEETING ON RUSSIA

PARIS, Feb. 12.—[By the Associated Press.]—Prospects are brightening for the assembling of at least four of the Russian factions at the conference to be held on the Princes islands.

Word has come from the Ukraine that the government of that former part of Russia will participate in the conference and it is reported that the indecision of the government of Gen. Denikine has given way to a desire to join the conference. The government of the Crimea already has accepted the invitation, as has the Russian bolshevik government. The success of the conference, however, depends upon the willingness of the Moscow soviet to guarantee, a cessation of hostilities.

LABOR FOR FREE SPEECH

PARIS, Feb. 12.—The peace conference commission on international labor legislation at its meeting today adopted article IV. and V. of the British draft of a plan for an international labor organization.

At the suggestion of Samuel Gompers, the president of the commission, the members arose and stood silent for a few moments in honor of the anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln.

Article IV. provides that representatives of the governments, employers, and working people should be entitled to speak and vote independently at the proposed international labor conference without regard to the views expressed by other representatives of their nations.

Article V. provides that the international labor conference shall meet in the capital of the society of nations unless it is decided by a two-thirds majority to meet elsewhere.

WHAT THE CZECHO-SLOVAKS WANT

The Czecho-Slovak republic is now a nation in fact and seems to be fast establishing an orderly government. The above map, by Joseph Dvorak, an authority on Bohemian geography, shows what the Czecho-Slavs hope to incorporate into their new country.

The Bohemians insist that the Germanized portions of their land be kept free from Germans until conditions can be adjusted. The Slovaks, they claim, are of the Czech race, and should also be incorporated into the nation. Slovakia was a part of Hungary before Austria-Hungary broke up.

They also claim that the Serbs of Lusatia should belong to Czecho-Slovakia. Lusatia belonged to Bohemia before 1620, when it was taken by Germany. The process of denationalizing the Bohemians in the German speaking portions of Prussia and Austria must cease, the Czechs say.

The Czecho-Slovaks do not claim any of the Polish parts of Silesia, Mr. Dvorak asserts. The Poles and Bohemians are not particularly friendly, and the latter would welcome a buffer state between them to preserve the peace.

The part of Ruthenia south of the Carpathians joined Czecho-Slovakia of its own free will. The Ruthenians are also of the same race as the Bohemians, and they advance this as their strongest claim for entrance into the new republic.

DAWES ON BOARD TO LIQUIDATE U. S. AFFAIRS ABROAD

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 12.—Appointment of "the United States liquidation commission—war department," to liquidate the business and financial affairs of the American army in England and France, was announced today by Secretary Baker. Edwin B. Parker of Houston, Tex., is chairman.

The other members already appointed are Senator Henry F. Hollis of New Hampshire, whose term in the senate expires March 3; Homer H. Johnson of Cleveland, and Brig. Gen. Charles G. Dawes of Chicago, who is now serving with the American expeditionary forces.

In addition to settling all claims of and against associated governments, the commission will be empowered to dispose of properties in France and England used by the American forces and "generally to liquidate the business and financial affairs in France and England of the American expeditionary forces." Headquarters will be maintained in Paris.

Claims against the French and British governments growing out of arrangements and contracts made in the United States with the war department will be developed, disposed of as far as practicable, and then referred to the liquidation commission for final disposition.

NEW OFFENSIVE BY BOLSHEVIKI IN ARCTIC ZONE

ARCHANGEL, Tuesday, Feb. 11.—[By the Associated Press.]—Bolshevik forces have resumed the offensive in the region of Sredmakrenga. For a brief time last night the bolsheviki occupied several allied blockhouses after penetrating the town, but they were driven out by a British and Russian counter attack. The fighting continued today.

Patrol activity continues on the Kadish sector, but the American, British, and Russian troops maintain the gains made in the offensive last week. On the Pinega sector, east-southeast of Archangel, Russian forces drove back the bolsheviki yesterday.

"The French foreign legion," which is composed of Russian volunteer troops trained at Archangel by French officers, is fighting on the Kadish front.

ATTACK ITALIANS IN AFRICA.

ROME, Feb. 12.—Rebels, aided by Turkish artillery, attacked a column of Italian troops marching in the interior of Libya (northern Africa). After a brief fight the rebels were defeated and fled in disorder. The Italians lost a few killed and fifty wounded.

Paris Frantic Over Absurd Rumors of Renewed War

BY HENRY WALES.
[By Special Cable.]
[Copyright: 1919: By the Tribune Company.]

PARIS, Feb. 12.—Since Monday Paris has been a hotbed of the wildest and most fantastic rumors. "Is the war going to begin again?" was a question the French people asked everywhere. Bartenders, taxicab drivers, waiters, chambermaids, barbers, and hotel clerks anxiously inquired if warfare was about to recommence.

It was positively asserted that demobilization of the French army had been stopped, and that all transports carrying American troops homeward had been ordered to turn about and return to French ports by wireless. It was stated British troop trains carrying soldiers to Dunkirk, Calais, and Havre had been stopped, the locomotives changed to the other end, and the troops taken back where they had been billeted.

Munition Plant Tales.

It was said that munitions workers who had been making shells, machine guns, and artillery had been ordered to returns to work immediately, and that factories which were in process of being changed over to the manufacture of automobiles and other peace articles instead of war materials had been recommandeered by the government and told to stand ready to again begin making munitions.

Even American doughboys just back from the Coblenz region asserted that when they left everything in the American army was "moving up," getting nearer to the Rhine. The troops said artillery, tanks, and stores of shell were being sent forward night and day, and every road leading Rhineward was congested with motor trucks and troops marching up to reinforce the armies of occupation.

The fact that certain factions of the peace conference suggested a change of venue and transferring the sittings to some neutral country spread like wildfire. Among the French and by nightfall Monday, every one was discussing the matter and wondering what the trouble was.

"Is Wilson sore about the Clemenceau interview?" was the question generally asked.

German propaganda, insidiously directed, is undoubtedly gaining a certain footing. For example, the assertion that Germany and Austria were entirely satisfied with accepting a Wilson peace naturally made the French nervous. The French attitude is as follows: French opinion is so diametrically opposed to German opinion that the average Frenchman says: "Anything that is acceptable to the Germans can't possibly be favorable to France."

Old Rumors Revived.

Old rumors that existed prior to the breaking off of relations with Germany in February, 1917, by the United States are reappearing as well as that Wilson is too friendly toward the Germans, and that he is the greatest advocate of bolshevism in the world.

The French people, every one of whom has lost a father, brother, or husband killed at the front and nearly all of whom have been in the towns and cities shelled or bombed by the Germans during war, can't understand the American sense of fair play toward Germany.

Frenchmen who have fought the Germans since 1914 and who know the average German soldier fought bitterly, tenaciously, stubbornly, and courageously, never can understand the president's differentiation between the German rulers and the German people.

All Germans Alike.

They claim all Germans are alike, and cite the acts of vandalism and barbarity by officers and men. They say the German enlisted men were not forced to continue the war with officers' revolvers thrust at their backs. They believe the entire German nation willed the war, willed the barbarity and continued these tactics until they finally were beaten.

So Paris today is frantic with rumors that the American and British peace delegation chiefs will refuse to return to France, and that Foch fears war may begin again at most any time. Censoring the Paris press does much to foster these rumors, and credence in the wild reports, as only excerpts of articles leading up to important statements, are left to be printed.

A certain section of the French press may be demanding unwarranted territorial aggrandizement and disseminating jingo propaganda, and certain French statements may be obstructing and delaying the completion of the league of nations' constitution until after Wilson leaves for America.

But the root of the entire matter is the fact that France, with half the population of Germany, is virtually afraid of the Teuton power just across the Rhine. France realizes well that if Von Falkenhayn had not committed an error in detaching several corps from Von Kluck's army when the Russians invaded East Prussia in August, 1914, the battle of the Marne might have had a different outcome. And they still fear that the Hun hordes may again sweep through France and not commit errors, overwhelming the nation and seizing ports long before the British forces could arrive in strength, or American forces could even be mobilized.

Charge Admiral Schroeder with Death of Fryatt

BERLIN, Feb. 10.—The Freiheit charged today that Admiral Schroeder was directly responsible for the death of Capt. Fryatt, commander of a British merchant steamer, who was executed for ramming and sinking a German submarine. Schroeder is alleged to have appointed U-boat commanders as members of the court martial and to have declared "I wish this man shot."

BAKER SUPPORTS WORLD LEAGUE AS MORAL DUTY

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—Secretary of War Baker told 700 women at a "victory" dinner that he is for the league of nations because he would be afraid of the moral position in which the United States would place itself should it fail to support the plan.

"Some people," the secretary said, "talk of entangling alliances, and seem to fear the idea because it is new. But they suggest nothing else. There is no other settlement except through the old balance of power method and whether the league of nations was conceived yesterday, ten years ago, or was one of the favorite meditations of Methuselah, I am for it."

He spoke of the president as the "captain of our ship of state," who in Paris is seeking to reflect the wish of the American people, and suggested that the part of the people at home was to "look after public sentiment" in his support.

Shouts of "No, no," answered him when he asked dramatically if the people wished to see this war end as had the wars of the past, in a division of the spoils, rather than a gathering to good use of the fruits of victory.

Cost of the War.

The total cost of the war to all belligerents, including the central powers, was placed at $193,000,000,000 by Secretary Baker in an address here tonight at the American Women's "victory dinner." This estimate, the secretary said, was based on figures just compiled by the war college.

New inventions in the process of development by the associated governments and the enemy, Mr. Baker said, would have made the fifth year of the war twice as destructive in human life as all the four years that had gone before.

Pleads for Aid to Russia.

In introducing Mme. Catherine Breshovskayam, the aged and pathetic "little grandmother of the Russian revolution," Miss Desha Breckinridge of Kentucky, who presided, said that out of her years and experience she might be able to forgive what was difficult to understand, the extending of an invitation to delegates "of the bloodiest tyranny the world has known" to take part indirectly in the peace conference.

In halting English, breaking frequently into French, "Babushka" asked the sympathy and help of America for Russia, which she said is "sick, unhappy and ignorant, and in that condition a danger to the world."

Miss Lathrop a "Casual."

Miss Julia Lathrop of Chicago, chief of the children's bureau who has just arrived from England, said she crossed on a transport through the "unconscious courtesy of Secretary Baker" and was feeling quite set up about it until she discovered that she was listed as a "casual miscellaneous female," which induced a proper spirit of humility.

She paid a glowing tribute to the labor party of England and to the league of nations plan of Gen. Smuts.

PARIS DISCUSSES ALARM VIEWS OF CLEMENCEAU

Upheld by Some Editors; Denounced by Another.

PARIS, Feb. 12.—The newspapers today comment at length on the recent interview given by Premier Clemenceau to the Associated Press.

"In the same way as President Wilson was speaking directly to the people about their governments," Le Pays says, "it is to the American nation, in full agreement with his grand ally, that M. Clemenceau desired to speak. He wanted that nation, which is inundated by enemy propaganda, to know in a direct manner in what state this war of destruction and plunder had left victorious France."

The Petite Republique says: "The interview places us face to face with formidable after-war economic problems, and from the very outset one question arises—namely: that of commercial relations between nations and of commercial treaties and tariffs. This question not only concerns relations between victor and vanquished, not only is between the adversaries, but also between France and her allies. The debates will begin and it is essential they be complete and public. . . .

"Our politicians should not forget that France for some time to come will need to erect barriers around some of her renascent industries until their reconstruction has been achieved."

"Jingoism," One Editor Says.

Humanite, in an article written by Daniel Renault, which is headed "The Digression of M. Clemenceau," says:

"The people of France will be astounded to learn that the chief of their government has used language such as it reads in this interview. No doubt it is well known that an alarmist campaign has been decided upon and is being organized to warm up jingo ardor, which was getting tepid, as well as M. Clemenceau's popularity, which is getting cooler. But is it possible that a premier the very day after a victorious war could contribute himself by his evident exaggerations to trouble public opinion?

"In this same interview we hear Clemenceau affirm that his entire program is based on the splendid platform of President Wilson whose 'noble candor' he recently scoffed at in the chamber and whom he was continually having attacked by pinprick warfare by his valets of the bourgeoise press."

Senator Lodge Quoted.

L'Action Française says: "M. Clemenceau's declarations have the great merit of warning France and the allies of the German peril. In his statement we are no longer in the skies of Wilsonian idealism."

In the Democratic Nouvelle, Andre Cheradame quotes in full Senator Lodge's speech in the American senate Dec. 21 and seeks to prove that the statement a few days ago by a well known Paris newspaper, that the whole of America was in favor of a league of nations was unfounded.

JAPAN ORDERS CHINA TREATIES BE PUBLISHED

All Secret Papers to Be Given Out by Peace Envoy.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—Baron Nobuaki Makino, head of the Japanese delegation at the peace conference, has been instructed to disclose all the unpublished treaties between China and Japan, says a Reuter dispatch from Tokio today.

Chinese Want All Facts.

PARIS, Feb. 12.—[By the Associated Press.]—The Chinese delegation to the peace conference has been advised that there have been many interpellations in the Chinese parliament from members representing both the northern and southern provinces, demanding fuller information concern Japanese and Chinese relations, as laid before the conference.

The Chinese delegates say they are ready to submit all secret agreements with Japan to the council of the five great powers, which probably will consider the matter this week.

Want All of Secrets.

In addition to the secret agreement between Japan and China relating to Shantung province and Tsingtao, the secret agreements between Japan and other powers made since the beginning of the war and before China became a belligerent, have been asked for by the big five council.

Great Britain, Italy, and France are reported to have entered into an agreement with Japan similar to the Lansing-Ishii agreement published by the United States. The American agreement was made public in 1917, immediately after Viscount Ishii, now ambassador to the United States, but then on a mission to that country, returned to Japan and before China's declaration of war on the central powers. The agreement acknowledged Japan's special interests in China because of geographical propinquity.

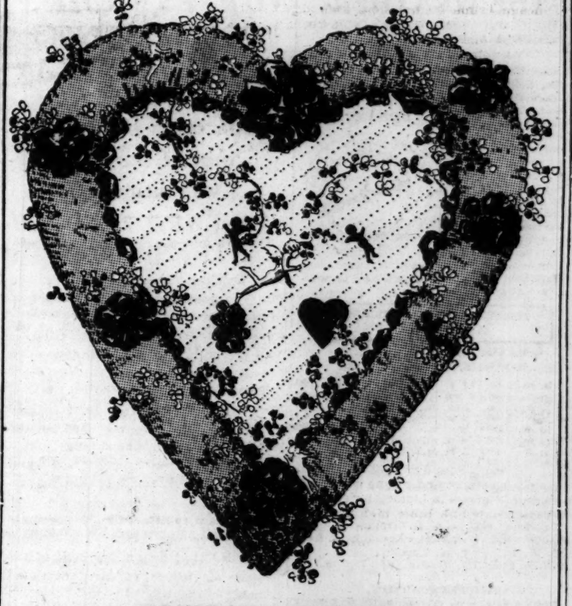

NOT THREAT, BUT ADVICE.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—It was learned in a high diplomatic quarter today that the Japanese government, while denying that a threat had been made, admits that a hint had been conveyed to China to cease its opposition to Japan at the world peace conference.

CARSON FATHER OF BOLSHEVISM, DEVLIN CLAIMS

BY HENRY M. HYDE.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Special Wireless Dispatch to The Tribune.]
[Copyright: 1919: By the Tribune Company.]

LONDON, Feb. 12.—This afternoon in the house of commons, Joseph Devlin of Belfast, in a moving speech, demanded that the government either grant Ireland full representation at the Paris peace conference or else apply to the unhappy island the great democratic principle of the self-determination of small nations.

It was a speech of defiance and almost of desperation. Devlin declared he had no mandate to speak for Ireland or the Irish people. He appeared only as a lover of fair play, of common honesty and of humanity. He threw in the face of the government benches the charge that the present house of commons is most reactionary.

Several times he was interrupted by questions and angry jeers and once the speaker had to rise from the dusky seclusion of the great hooded oak throne in which he sits and call for order repeatedly.

Charges Deceit to Unionists.

Devlin accused the Unionist majority of deceit and trickery. Why, he demanded, does not the government state its Irish policy? If they would bluntly say they intended to crush Ireland under the heel of the military, that would at least be understood.

"Are the Unionist members afraid or ashamed to let Ireland be represented at the Paris peace conference?" he asked. "How dare they prate about self-governing dependencies and talk about the sacred right of small peoples to determine their own destinies while the Irish question remains unsolved?"

Denies Aid to Bolshevism.

Mr. Devlin indignantly denied the charge that bolshevism was behind the great strike in Belfast. He knew that there were bolshevik missionaries at work in Ireland and elsewhere in the kingdom, but the Belfast strike, he said, was only an attempt of the working people to secure for themselves shorter hours of work and more decent conditions of living.

As for bolshevism, he declared that it was born in the house of commons on the benches formerly occupied by the members of the Tory party, who now support the Lloyd George government. When the home rule bill was up for passage in the recent house, one Tory leader—he evidently referred to Sir Edward Carson—said he would put on a uniform and go to fight against its enforcement. Mr. Asquith at that time asked him if he knew he was proposing bolshevism. The honorable member replied that he knew and recognized it. That, said Devlin, was the birth of bolshevism and here on these benches it was fostered and protected.

Tells of "Kaiser Threat."

Devlin asked if the members were aware that the German emperor had been invited over to take charge of Ireland—and not by the Irish home rulers, either.

When the cries of dissent were heard Devlin drew forth a newspaper clipping. He was aware, he said, that his statements were likely to be challenged. Therefore he came always armed with the proof.

He read what he said was an extract from the organ of the Irish branch of the Church of England, which stated that, if the attempt were made to enforce home rule in Ireland, the emperor of a powerful European country had agreed to send over a great army and annex the island to his possessions and that those opposed to home rule would be better satisfied to be so governed than under home rule.

Quotes the Premier.

Mr. Devlin also quoted from the speeches of Premier Lloyd George that the settlement of the Irish question was vital to the security of the empire and the peace of the world. Such statements, he said, the prime minister had made, not once but twenty times. But now what had the government, what had the prime minister, to say on the question?

Mr. Devlin's appeal was seconded by J. R. Clynes, one of the leaders of the labor party and lately a member of the government. He quoted Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman's saying that "good government will not take the place of self-government" and pledged the support and sympathy of himself and his allies to a speedy solution of the Irish question.

Sends News of 122d; In Luxemburg Villages

Lieut. Col. Frank R. Schwengel of the One Hundred and Twenty-second field artillery, has written under date Bissen, Luxemburg, Jan. 21, the following with regard to this Chicago regiment:

"We are well located here in Luxemburg. The regiment occupies the villages of Boevaugo, Bissen and Colmerberg. Immediately after the armistice we were billeted in Saulmory and later at Steney, the crown prince's former headquarters.

"On Jan. 5 we were ordered into Luxemburg, joining the army of occupation and after three days' marching through France, Belgium and Luxemburg we arrived at our destination.

"The health of the regiment is generally good and while we all have a deep seated longing to return we are patient in the thought that our mission has not yet been fulfilled and we are making the best of it."

UNITED STATES' WORK WON WAR, MAJ. GETZ SAYS

Victory Spirit Called Essential in Job of Reconstruction.

"Forget the post-mortems. Put an o. k. on the past and mass to beat the problems of today."

This is the terse advice brought to Chicago reconstructionists by Maj. George P. Getz, 5825 Blackstone avenue, president of the Globe Coal company, and for the last five months associate field director of the Red Cross general relief in Europe. The major came home this week to find himself appointed vice president of the Chicago crime commission, and identified with other phases of the reconstruction movement.

"The spirit that carried Uncle Sam to victory in the war is needed right now," he declares. "It is a spirit that forgets the past, disregards all obstacles, and hurls deeds instead of words at world problems.

Says U. S. Won War.

"There is serious criticism of overseas activities. Probe them by all means, investigate and survey, but in the end, when all of the results have been footed up, the nation will find that the greatest combination of service and hard work the world has ever seen was done by the United States—the work that won the war.

"Mistakes were made. That is certain. Nothing human is free from mistakes. Money was wasted in some instances, but war is a concentration of all waste effort, and the things done in Europe were done at high pressure while thousands of boys were giving their lives and to save as many thousands of lives. There were no long conferences to decide on expenditures. Workers could not put off decisions for a fraction of a minute.

"When I found myself in command of the business end of one of the greatest enterprises in history I was stunned until I saw how other men and women were going forward. Then I canceled the past and worked by the day. 'What did the business man and the washerwoman give their money to the Red Cross for?' we asked in all questions of policy. Then we served our boys first and took care of refugees afterward."

Tells of War's Ruin.

Nine huge warehouses, each feeding a sector of the battlefields and together covering the entire western front, were under command of the Chicago man.

"No single man returned can picture the colossal ruin over there," he said. "Pictures show tiny sections of it, but, when a man can ride all day and all night and all the next day, and see nothing but ruin and desolation, without a single living object to break the hell of it, he has some conception of war's meaning.

"A giant hand fell across the western front with the signing of the armistice. On one side green life stretches away for miles, on the other black desolation reaches out to the horizon."

German machine and airplane guns, the handsome serge uniform coat of a junior officer, helmets of all grades, and Hun citations of all types are included in the big souvenir collection brought home by the field director. They probably will be exhibited at the South Shore Country club.

ARMY MEASURE FRAMED TO HALT AFTER WAR FORCE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—Members of the house military affairs committee, in drafting the annual appropriation bill, made an effort to so frame the language that the war department would not be able to read into it authorization for a permanent peace time army of 500,000. This was emphasized by Representative McKenzie of Illinois, Republican member of the committee, during the debate on the bill today in the house.

"The legislative rider on this appropriation bill says in effect that during the next fiscal year we shall have the regular army at war strength and in addition enough more to bring it up to 23,000 officers and 509,000 men, Mr. McKenzie said.

"We have undertaken to write this rider so that it will be impossible for the war department to fasten this number of men upon the country as the permanent size of the army."

Pershing to Review Divisions at Coblenz

COBLENZ, Feb. 12.—[By the Associated Press.]—Gen. Pershing will arrive at Coblenz Saturday for a visit of several days. He will review the Thirty-second and Forty-second divisions, which, according to present plans, will be the first two divisions to start homeward, possibly by way of the Rhine. No date has been set for the departure of either division, but both are making preparations.

WORLD LEAGUE IN AGRICULTURE, FARMERS' PLAN

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—A program embodying inclusion in the league of nations of a special body to deal with international agricultural questions was adopted today at the closing sessions of the semi-annual conference here of the National Board of Farm Organizations.

Questions which this special body would consider under the plan of the national board would include uniform crop reporting, equality of pay, and other conditions for the farmer as compared with workers in other occupations, collective bargaining through organizations, gradual abolition of farm tenancy on the theory that no land should be held permanently for renting, preservation of natural resources, and the right of nations to withhold from export essential agricultural supplies where the amount held by a country is limited.

The conference adopted resolutions favoring a league of nations.

JELLICOE SAYS BRITISH FLEET FACED DISASTER

Admits Germans Had Advantage in First Years of the War.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—The dangers to which the British grand fleet, short of cruisers, destroyers, and with defenseless bases, was exposed during the first two and one-half years of the war owing to the German use of submarines, mines, and torpedoes, is described in a book written by Admiral Viscount Jellicoe, former commander of the fleet, and published today, covering the activities of 1914-'19.

Admiral Jellicoe points out that the German high seas fleet possessed eighty-eight destroyers, compared with forty-two for the grand fleet, and reveals that owing to the submarine menace the grand fleet in the fall of 1914 moved to and only returned to the North sea when the anchorage in Scapa Flow became reasonably safe.

Neither in October, 1914, nor in May, 1916, Admiral Jellicoe says, did the British margin of superiority justify him in disregarding the enemy's torpedo fire. The situation gradually improved after 1916.

Gained Advantage by 1918.

"The position in 1918 was assured and we could have afforded to take risks which in 1916 would have been most unwise," Jellicoe says. "If the German fleet had come out to battle, a terrible punishment awaited them."

One-third of the admiral's book is devoted to the battle of Jutland. In summing up the lessons of the battle, Admiral Jellicoe dwells upon "the danger involved in leaving too much to chance in fleet action because our fleet was the one and only factor vital to the existence of the empire, and, indeed, to the allied cause. We had no reserve outside the battle fleet which could in any way replace it in the event of disaster or even should its margin of superiority be eliminated."

Maneuver Which Beat Germans.

"When the battle fleets approached," the admiral continues, "there was a difference of reckoning between the British battle fleet and the battle cruiser squadrons, due to the cruisers having been engaged for several hours and having repeatedly altered their course. Hence, instead of being encountered right ahead, the enemy appeared on the starboard bow."

Instant action was necessary, the admiral says, and he decided to deploy on the port wing division, thus compelling the Germans to turn off to starboard to avoid being crossed. This maneuver threw the enemy into complete confusion, and the German commander in chief realized that his only hope lay in escape, profiting by his superiority in torpedo craft, low visibility, the approach of darkness, and the proximity of his bases and mine fields.

Germans Fired Many Torpedoes.

The enemy fired hundreds of torpedoes, as German officers have since stated, Admiral Jellicoe continues, and although the Germans were in the gravest peril, the position of the grand fleet itself was menaced. But the British fleet by turning its battle line four times during the action, the admiral says, got clear of the torpedoes which were racing toward the British ships and defeated the tactics upon which the Germans based their hopes.

Admiral Jellicoe explains why he did not seek night action and refers to the more powerful German searchlights, the superiority of the enemy in destroyers, and the greater number of torpedo tubes fitted in the enemy ships, giving the enemy an opportunity of scoring heavily at the outset of an action, the result of which would always be a matter of chance.

After estimating the relative strength of the two fleets early in the war, Admiral Jellicoe expresses surprise that the Germans were so cautious, and says:

"If this country in the future decides to rely for safety against raids or invasion on the fleet alone, it is essential that we possess a considerably greater margin of superiority over a possible enemy in all classes of vessels than we did in August, 1914."

COURTS MARTIAL BY ARMY TO GET SENATE INQUIRY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—Charges that the secretary of war and chief of staff rejected the recommendations of the judge advocate general to set aside unjust convictions of a large number of enlisted men tried by court martial will be inquired into by the senate committee on military affairs at hearings beginning tomorrow.

Chairman Chamberlain has asked Judge Advocate General Crowder and Gen. Ansell to appear before the committee and discuss not only specific cases of the miscarriage of military justice, but reforms of the entire court martial system such as is proposed in the Chamberlain bill.

Secretary of War Baker also will be called to give his views and to explain why hundreds of enlisted men are serving severe sentences for trivial offenses or suffering punishment for offenses of which the judge advocate general held they had been illegally convicted.

TAFT INDORSES WILSON LEAGUE

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 12.—Former President William Howard Taft and Henry Van Dyke, former minister to the Netherlands—the principal speakers at the league of nations congress here tonight—indorsed President Wilson's plan for a congress of great powers to preserve peace and uphold democracy. They took issue with those quoted as declaring that the constitution of the United States forbids American participation in such an international organization.

URGES AMERICA TO BE PROTECTOR OF ARMENIANS

LONDON, Feb. 12.—Viscount Bryce, former British ambassador to the United States, speaking today at the Lincoln's birthday luncheon of the English Speaking union and the Atlantic union, two Anglo-American societies which recently consolidated, expressed the hearty gratitude of Great Britain to America both for aid in winning the war and for the moral support given the cause of the allies.

"There is one great service more she may give freedom and humanity," he said, "in the reconstruction of a better world which is being attempted by the Paris conference. Some of the liberated peoples are not yet able to stand alone, but need the help of a civilized power during a limited period to start them on the path of peace and progress. Such a case is that of Armenia."

The American people, Lord Bryce added, have done much for the east by schools, colleges, and hospitals they have founded. He continued:

"America is especially fitted for the task because she stands apart from the jealousies of the European powers and none could suspect her of seeking dominion for herself."

POWER OF ARMS, WILSON'S REPLY IF LEAGUE FAILS

May Demand America Raise Army, Navy to Strongest.

BY HENRY WALES.
[By Special Cable.]
[Copyright: 1919: By the Tribune Company.]

PARIS, Feb. 12.—If the league of nations is thrown down the United States will become the predominating military power with the world's largest army and navy.

At present there is only the smallest change perceptible that Mr. Wilson's pet idea may be overthrown, owing to ideas of France, but if the peace conference refuses to ratify the agreement Mr. Wilson will demand that the American house and senate realize the gravity of the situation and, by the creation of the world's greatest armament, establish a balance of power equaling the possibilities of a league of nations.

Need the Ships Also.

So if the league of nations cannot be realized as a concrete organization, the president will emphasize to America the importance of creating the vastest force ever conceived in order to awe and subdue any recalcitrant nation.

The president fully realizes that a huge American army is meaningless as far as overseas troubles are concerned, without transports to carry them where they are needed and without a navy sufficiently strong to protect the transport convoys. Therefore the extension of American shipbuilding will be urged in order that American owned and manned ships will be always available in any emergency against the time when it is necessary for an American force to go overseas to safeguard the rights of some small nation or preserve inviolate the standards of democracy.

Strive to Pass Britain.

Thus America's answer to any repudiation of the league of nations will be the extension and perpetuation of national military training and the biggest warship building program ever conceived. Within five years Britain's navy can be equaled and five years later the British navy can be excelled, gun for gun and ship for ship.

HOW LEAGUE WILL ACT TO PREVENT WARS

Outline of Functioning of Society if Crisis Comes.

BY CHARLES A. SELDEN.
Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.
[Copyright: 1919.]

PARIS, Feb. 12.—Oscar S. Straus, who recently arrived in Paris as chairman representing the League to Enforce Peace, told me today that he had established a perfect liaison between that body and the official commission of the peace conference at work on the constitution of the league of nations.

Furthermore, Mr. Straus affirmed that the plan for a league, which probably will be made public at the end of this week at the plenary session of the conference, will form the best device that can be humanly arranged to prevent wars.

Mr. Straus was not at liberty to give the details of the plan so far formulated, but from various other fully reliable sources at least suggestions can be given now of what this constitution consists.

Three Main Bodies.

There will be three main bodies of the league—an executive, consisting of nine representatives of as many nations; a legislative body, consisting of an international parliament; and a judicial tribunal. As planned now the tribunal will be authorized by the constitution, but the details of its construction will be worked out later after the league is in actual existence.

The machinery for preventing war will work something like this: Suppose two member nations are at odds; the case will come before the executive council of nine, which will rule on the matter or refer it first to the judicial tribunal, according to the nature of the controversy. If the two nations in dispute accept the ruling of the executive or judicial body of the league that will end the matter.

Right of Appeal.

If either of them, however, is dissatisfied, it will have the right to appeal from the decision of the council of nine or the tribunal to the full membership of the league of nations. Furthermore, if the council of nine itself cannot reach a unanimous decision the minority will also have the right to appeal to the full league from the vote of the majority in the smaller body.

The important point is that the council of nine will not have power within itself to decree the use of force in order to prevent war between the two contending nations should they decide, after all preliminaries have failed, to fight out the issue. The council of nine has the right only to recommend the use of force, but that recommendation must be adopted by the full league before it is effective.

May Impose Boycott.

As measures short of actual military activity there is ample provision whereby the league upon recommendation of the council of nine may impose an economic boycott or blockade to bring the would-be belligerent to terms.

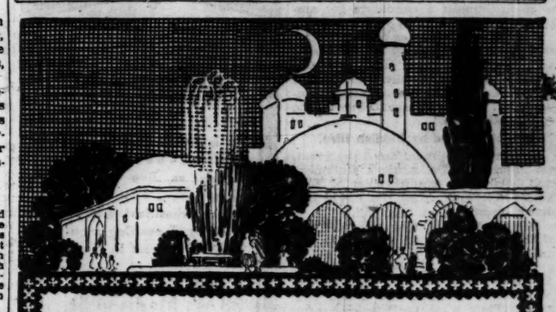

There is to be no international army and navy functioning all the time as such. Instead each nation will retain its own military force on sea and land, and when occasion arises will furnish such part of it as may be required to enforce peace.

FOUND DEAD NEAR I. C. TRACKS

An unidentified man, about 60 years old, was found dead beside the Illinois Central railroad tracks near One Hundred and Eighteenth street yesterday. The body was removed to 11823 South Michigan avenue.

"JACOB BLOCK" IDENTIFIED.

"Jacob Block," confidence man, who died in the midst of a confession to the police night before last, was identified yesterday as Benjamin Fellner, 32 years old, 823 East Forty-fifth street. Relatives seemed much surprised to learn he was connected with swindling operations. The contents of Fellner's stomach are being analyzed by the coroner to learn if he took poinson when arrested.

SAYS AMERICA WILL NOT HELP INVADE RUSSIA

be useless to send food to Petrograd when the only distributing organization was bolshevik.

Supporting the Prinkipo proposal, the premier argued that it was by no means unknown on the northern frontier of India to parley with brigands and even assassins. The bolshevik system could not last forever, and, in the meantime, he was informed, the threat of intervention was driving the moderate elements into bolshevik hands. He urged that the allies must do their best in the interests not only of Russia, but also of Great Britain and of the world, to restore order and good government in the distracted country.

Rely on Nations League.

Mr. Lloyd George said he was sorry to hear members talking in rather slighting tones about the league of nations. Any one attending the peace conference must realize how much the little nations were relying on the league. They were not only unanimous, but eager, in its support.

It was suggested in the United States that President Wilson only represented one political party regarding the league, but former President Taft, he said, went much farther on the mandatory question than President Wilson himself, and much farther than Britain could follow him.

"I have been assured by a prominent Republican," he continued, "that so far as the league is concerned, the Republican workingmen of America are just as keen as the Democratic working men, and that American public opinion is not divided on the league, although there may be differences of opinion on details. I agree that a nation ought not to be committed to war by any league without having the responsibility considered by itself."

CALLS ROBINS A PERIL

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—[Special. — The bolshevik movement, which holds Russia at its mercy and raises its menacing head in every great country in the world, originated in the east side of New York, Dr. G. A. Simon, a Methodist clergyman, just back from Petrograd, told the senate propaganda committee today.

Dr. Simon was pastor of the American church in Petrograd until last October. He testified that 265 members of the North Petrograd commune came from the east side of New York, and declared that the bolsheviki movement could not have succeeded without the aid of the Yiddish element of the east side.

Blames Robins' Influence.

Dr. Simon gave interesting testimony regarding the relations of Raymond Robins of Chicago, former member of the Red Cross mission in Russia, with the soviet government. He stated that Sergius Zorin, the bolshevik commissioner of post and telegraph, had praised Mr. Robins as "the greatest American in Russia," and expressed the hope that Mr. Robins would be appointed ambassador to the soviet government.

Mr. Robins, Dr. Simon testified, "embarrassed the American embassy in many ways" during his stay in Petrograd. "We felt very badly about it," said Dr. Simon, "because we thought it was a time for Americans to stand together, and not the time for any one to make himself a candidate for ambassador to the soviet government."

Dr. Simon said it was customary for the bolsheviki to regard Mr. Robins as a "typical American" and to praise him as "a toiler," while they derided David R. Francis, the American ambassador, as "a representative of the capitalistic class."

Senate Stirred by Yiddish Idea.

The committee manifested the greatest interest in Dr. Simon's statement that bolshevism got its start in New York City, and asked the clergyman many questions on this point.

Dr. Simon said that the majority of the persons, associated with Lenine and Trotzky were Yiddish. He met a great number of persons on the Nevsky prospekt from the lower east side of New York, he said, and talked with them. They went to Petrograd after Trotzky went there from New York, he explained. He expressed the opinion that Trotzky probably arranged for their going to Petrograd.

"I have no doubt," Dr. Simon said, "that the predominating element in the bolshevik movement is the Yiddish east side. These are not the real Jews. They are the apostates, who have given up the religion of their fathers and have no creed but bolshevism."

Russ Reds' Rubles Raise Rows in U. S., Says Judson

Money sent by Russian bolshevists is being used to foment trouble in the United States, in the opinion of Dr. Harry Pratt Judson, president of the University of Chicago, who recently returned from a trip to Persia and parts of Russia.

"The plunder seized by the bolshevists is being used to spread their propaganda for the overthrow of all governments," said Dr. Judson. "They are spending millions to spread their doctrines throughout Europe and, I strongly suspect, in the United States as well. They have no more use for the republic of the United States than they have for any other government. They are as much opposed to labor unions as they are to governments.

Foes of Order United.

"The movement seems to be one in which all foes of government have joined forces, and I cannot see anything in it that looks like human progress. From many sources I gained the impression theoretical international Socialism has only one element, and that is to govern by the most absolute tyranny. There is not the slightest freedom of speech or of action. Any one who differs from them is shot at once. The bolshevists have the same secret service as the czar employed, with the same individuals engaged in the work.

"The 'Red' army is made up of mercenaries. Among the soldiers are a lot of Chinese coolies, imported by the Russian government as laborers, who commit the worst outrages. The bolshevists pay high wages to the soldiers, who have an abundance of food, although food is scare in Russia.

"Reds" Plunder and Loot.

"When the 'Red' army takes a town it plunders and loots until everything is taken or destroyed. It is not a question of seizing factories but merely of plundering personal property. Torture to locate wealth is common. We were told of an archbishop tortured to death over a slow fire and mockingly advised to call on his God to perform a miracle. Endless tales of murder and outrage are told by those who have come into contact with the bolshevists. They even have opened the prisons and have taken the criminals into their armies.

"The whole movement is nihilism and anarchy behind a camouflage of Socialism. We gathered our impressions from so many sources that I am convinced of their truth. The bolshevists supply food to children in order to have them sent to school, where they teach them atheism and that there is no moral code.

Promised Great Things.

"The bolshevists got into power by promising peace, an abundance of food, and work for every one. Then they took possession of the arsenals and all the arms. The real Russians find it hard to make a move. Conditions are just as bad for them as they ever were under the czar. But the Russians have been making headway against bolshevism in Siberia, in southern Russia, and in northern Russia, where they are organized and are doing their best to restore order. The republic of Georgia, bordering on the Caucasus, has been able to keep out the bolshevists and to maintain order.

"One of the results of the war, of course, was the freeing of Poland, which the bolshevists are doing their best to destroy, as well as Roumania. They tried to get into Bohemia. The Spartacides in Germany are bolshevists, but I doubt if they will make much headway there."

SAYS U. S. FACES CRISIS

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—"Lawlessness has reared its hideous head. It is time that the American should awake to the realization of the danger. Congress and the legislatures of the various states must meet this issue. The insidious propaganda must be crushed and crushed now."

This was the declaration of Congressman William A. Rodenberg of East St. Louis in his address on Lincoln, before the joint session of the house and senate today. He flayed bolshevism and the I. W. W. before a crowd that filled the hall. He praised the war record of Gov. Frank O. Lowden.

"Blind must be the man who does not realize that the spirit of discontent is abroad in the land," Mr. Rodenberg said. "A feeling of rebellious unrest is manifesting itself.

"There is today a systematic, nation-wide propaganda being carried on, having for its purpose the overthrow of law and order and constituted authority. There must be a revival of genuine Americanism throughout the length and breadth of the republic. Respect for law and obedience to authority must again become our watchword. We must revitalize and carry into practical operation the sentiments of Lincoln."

WARNING BY BURNQUIST

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 12.—"As Lincoln prophesied before the civil war, so it is true today that 'our greatest danger is not from without but from within,'" Gov. J. A. A. Burnquist of Minnesota, Lincoln day orator at the annual banquet of the King County Young Men's Republican club, declared tonight.

"The most threatening menace to our free institutions today," he asserted, "is not our own sectionalism, the despotism of a Spain, or the kaiserism of a Germany. It is, in the words of Lincoln, 'the increasing disregard for law which pervades the country.' It is the spirit of bolshevism which is springing up among us, and which, if not checked, will eventually produce a class war that may be even more serious to our nation than any of its previous conflicts."

Warns Against Internationalism.

Portland, Me., Feb. 12.—Senator Poindexter of Washington, speaking tonight at a dinner given by the Lincoln club of Portland to the members of the Maine legislature, warned the American people against surrendering their liberties to international rule by a common world power set up by all the nations, or to international class rule by the bolsheviki. The result in either case, he said, would be imperial despotism and the end of national independence and liberty.

Senator Poindexter asserted that there is "spreading throughout the land another manifestation of the same principle of internationalism." This, he said, has been shown most strikingly in the recent strikes on the Pacific coast, brought on "by advocates of what is called world-wide solidarity of labor, for the purpose of confiscating and taking over by the laborers all the industries and property of the land."

PLOT TO MURDER WILSON, HATCHED HERE, IS BALKED

Coincident with the arrest of Pietro Pierre, an I. W. W., at Cleveland, O., it was stated yesterday that a plot was formulated in Chicago last October to assassinate President Wilson. Following his release from the Leavenworth penitentiary, where he had been sent for a year and a day for failing to register for military service, Pierre came to Chicago, and met with other "reds" at I. W. W. headquarters in West Madison street.

Almost coincident with his arrival, operatives under Capt. Thomas I. Porter picked up the trail. They pursued him to Virginia, Minn., where they lost him. Later he was found to have headed for Cleveland, and agents found him there. Pierre is being held under $10,000 bonds at Cleveland.

Claim Right to Strike Even if the U. S. Owns Roads

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—The right of railroad employés to strike would be insisted upon under government ownership, A. B. Garretson, president of the Order of Railroad Conductors, said today in reply to questions of Senator Cummins of Iowa during his examination on railroad problems before the senate commerce committee.

Sharp opposition to the government's present policy toward organization of its employés was expressed by Mr. Garretson, who also opposed the minimum wage as an effective method of settling the wage question. He proposed that wages should be determined by a "tribunal fairly balanced in which no one interested element could dispose of the question."

BRITISH MINERS REFUSE OFFERS OF GOVERNMENT

Coal Strikes Likely and the Supply Now Is Short.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—The conference of the Miners' Federation of Great Britain at a meeting at Southport today decided against acceptance of the terms offered by the government for a settlement of the demands made by the federation.

The federation, which has 800,000 members, wants a six hour day and a 30 per cent increase in wages. The conference adopted the following resolution:

"We reject the terms offered by the government as not being in reply to our demands and we remit to the executive committee the duty of laying before the conference a proposal as to what should be the next step to press our demands."

Coal Shortage Already.

The decision of the federation if followed by a strike, which seems likely with the miners in their present mood, will create an extremely serious industrial situation, as the coal shortage is embarrassing.

While the first object of the miners is to absorb surplus labor, consequent to the demobilization, there is declared to be behind the movement a determination on the part of the miners permanently to nationalize the industry.

Offer of the Government.

The government reply says that, in regard to the demand for a six hour day, the government, while it sympathizes with the desire of the workers for an improved standard of life, must, in considering the increases in the cost of production in trades whose products form a staple of other occupations, think also of the consequences upon the general trade situation.

The government says it is willing to add a shilling a day to the present war bonus, which is equal to the rise in prices since January, 1918, and to refer other demands in connection with wages to the representatives' committee.

MEETING URGES LIBERTY FOR ALL HELD ON SPY ACT

A massmeeting for general amnesty for persons imprisoned under the espionage act during the war was held last night at the old American Music hall, 741 South Wabash avenue. Congresswoman Jeanette Rankin of Montana sent a telegram indorsing the movement to Miss Lenette M. Cooper. It read:

"Believing as I do that freedom of the press and freedom of speech are the very heart and core of the liberty for which the western world has fought again and again and for whose perpetuation we have just paid so terrific a price in blood and treasure, I must indorse unqualifiedly a movement for the general amnesty of political prisoners of the espionage act."

Speakers at the meeting were Evan Thomas, Anton Johannsen, Ernest Reichman, and Laura Hughes Lande.

Toledo, O., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—United States Senator Warren G. Harding of Ohio was formally put forward tonight as a candidate for the Republican nomination for president in 1920. The candidacy of Senator Harding was given official indorsement by members of the Republican state central committee and officials of the state advisory committee at a Lincoln day dinner today.

DEMOCRATS ON SPENDING ORGY, PENROSE SAYS

Waste Enough to Pay the Whole Cost of War, Senate Told.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—Waste and extravagance unparalleled in the world's history were charged against the Democratic party today by Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania, ranking Republican member of the senate finance committee, in a survey of war expenditures and pending appropriation measures.

Senator Penrose declared the money wasted and damage done, particularly by the railroad administration and the shipping board, were so vast as nearly to equal the whole legitimate cost of the war.

Enumerating measures now pending "to get money out of the federal treasury," the senator declared that approximately $10,000,000,000 will be added to the burden of the taxpayers unless congress acts quickly to check needless expenditures. He told the senate the country would get "a new deal" after the Republicans take control.

Flails Rail Administration.

Senator Penrose arraigned the railroad administration in the most scathing language, declaring "the bolshevik government of Petrograd could have run the roads better than they have been run since they were taken over."

He said the present congress had created 274,000 new federal offices, calling for an annual outlay of $159,000,000 in salaries, and charged that between 60 and 70 per cent of these offices were useless.

The Pennsylvania senator's humorous shafts at some of the pending money measures kept the senate in a state of merriment for nearly three hours. Even the Democrats laughed.

The senator was speaking on the revenue bill, which he said he would support despite his belief that a majority of the people were so disgusted at "Democratic waste" that they silently hoped for the failure of the measure.

Calls It Spending Debauch.

"Money has been poured out in a kind of debauch by those who seem to have lost all idea of what a billion dollars means," Senator Penrose said. He then enumerated some of the pending proposals to spend money. Here are a few:

"Five million dollars to permit the secretary of the interior to travel over the country and stimulate the production of food, whatever that means.

"Five hundred million dollars carried in a bill introduced by Senator Lewis of Illinois to create a bureau of farm colonization.

"One billion two hundred and fifty million dollars to guarantee the price of wheat and make good the folly of Mr. Hoover.

"Thirteen million dollars to educate illiterates.

$100,000,000 for Swamps.

"One hundred million dollars for that ingenious project, swamp reclamation, to reclaim swamps wherever they can be found, even if they have to be advertised for.

"One million dollars to distribute war trophies.

"Fifty million dollars to relieve the drought in Texas and the southwest, caused probably by prohibition.

"One hundred million dollars for the emergency growing out of demobilization.

"Seven million dollars to extend the telephone system in the District of Columbia.

"Fifty million dollars—here's a gem appealing to the loftiest aspirations—proposed by Representative Blanton of Texas to erect a suitable monument to war heroes in his home county in Texas.

"Two million dollars to build a victory arch in Washington.

"Fifty million dollars to buy iron ore.

"Ten million dollars to transport coal and food.

Rail Conditions "Deplorable."

At this juncture Senator Penrose halted to pay his respects to the railroads, which he declared had fallen into "a scandalous and deplorable state of inefficiency," under federal operation.

The senator declared the Shipping Board has "practically wasted nearly $2,000,000,000."

GREETINGS, GENERAL

MORE ARTILLERY OF BLACKHAWKS GETS HOME TODAY

331st Will Parade Loop and Enjoy Big Dance of Welcome.

Marching in platoon formation, with two military bands, Blackhawks of Col. MacK. Lamdin's Three Hundred and Thirty-first artillery will hold the center of Chicago's homecoming stage today.

Scores of telegrams from the three section troop train headed for home advised mothers, fathers and sweethearts yesterday to prepare for a strenuous day. The members of the regiment from all classes of Chicago homes, from the north shore mansion to the humble tenement. Practically all junior officers in the regiment were trained in the First and Second Fort Sheridan training camps.

Members of the official reception committee will meet the Blackhawks as they detrain at the Dearborn station at 8:30 a. m. The men will go to the Coliseum, where relatives and friends will be assembled to welcome them. At 10:45 a. m. the gunners will assemble by platoons for the parade down Michigan avenue and past the stand at the Art institute, where Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood and city officials will review them.

Will Dance in Afternoon.

A jackie band was obtained yesterday by Col. William Nelson Pelouze to augment the regimental band. It will lead the contingent of 250 casuals.

The line of march will turn west from Michigan avenue, on Randolph to La Salle, then south to Jackson. A part of the regiment will fall out at the Hotel La Salle for luncheon. The regiment will entrain for camp at 3 p. m., after enjoying a dance at the First regiment armory.

Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood took over active command of the central department yesterday. Arriving at 8:30 a. m. from Camp Funston, he was driven to the Ohio street army building, conferred with officers of the department, cleaned up a mass of routine work, and was ready to give Chicago's official welcoming committee his entire attention when they arrived at 10 o'clock. He caught a train for Grand Rapids to address a Lincoln meeting and promised to be back in time to review the troops this morning.

Must Give Soldiers Jobs.

"I am ready to stand heartily with the public spirited citizens of Chicago, bound by one motive—the best interests of our common country," the general told the Pelouze committee after hearing the expression of appreciation extended by Chicago. "Our first duty now is to make certain that these returning soldiers who risked all for their country do not come back to find themselves jobless and unwelcome. Chicago's leadership in securing jobs for fighters and in publicly welcoming them is a credit to the city."

Gen. Leonard Wood is expected to define the policy of his administration tonight at a dinner, in his honor, given by the Chicago Association of commerce, at the La Salle hotel.

Another request was sent to Washington yesterday by the welcoming committee asking for the date of arrival of the "Old Eighth" infantry, but no reply was forthcoming. The Negro soldiers are expected home Monday or Tuesday of next week.

SLICKERS' GANG MAKES $1 BILLS INTO TWENTIES

Federal Raid Bares New Invention in Crookdom.

A gang of "bill raisers" operating eastward from St. Louis, passing "raised" $1 federal reserve bank notes, was broken up by secret service agents yesterday by arrests made here, at Pittsburgh, and at Quincy. The members of the gang are Negroes. Two colored women are said to be leaders of the gang.

The Chicago headquarters were at 3708 Indiana avenue and 3409 Calumet avenue.

More than a dozen "queer shovers" for the gang have been operating for over a month, it is said, and have passed "doctored" bills aggregating over $10,000.

By cutting four numbered corners off $20 reserve notes and pasting them on $1 reserve notes the gangsters managed to pass the $1 note for a $20.

No attempt was made to change the body of the $1 bill. It required four $20 notes to "finish up" a $1 bill, only a single corner being taken from each bill used and the mutilated one being repassed.

Arrested in Chicago.

The arrests made in Chicago were:

Robert Reed, 3708 Indiana avenue, a former barber; Percy O. May, 3411 Vernon avenue, an entertainer, and Lil Demay, a poolroom hanger-on.

These were arrested at Quincy, Ill.:

Those arrested in Pittsburgh are:

Boyd Willis, 3409 Calumet avenue; Nellie Lyons, who posed as the wife of Willis and was a "bill passer," and Ora Hayden, who lived with Reed. Later she was released.

Forty Bills Passed Here.

According to Operative Peter Drautzberg, who made the three arrests at Quincy, about forty of the "doctored" bills were passed in Chicago.

Other places where the gang operated included Cleveland, Toledo, Detroit, Buffalo, Pittsburgh, Indianapolis, Quincy, and St. Louis.

Robinson, said to have originated the idea, confessed, the police say.

TOILERS OFFER PROGRAMS FOR SHIP BUILDING

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 12.—Representatives of the shipworkers from Maine to the Great Lakes and the gulf will present to Vice President Marshall at a conference in Washington Friday a program upon which, it is said, organized labor has agreed as far as it relates to the shipbuilding industry.

This program is embodied in resolutions adopted today at a convention here of the shipbuilding federation of the Atlantic coast, Great Lakes and gulf, attended by seventy-five delegates representing various allied crafts and trades in industry.

The conference to be attended also by members of the house and senate, has been arranged, the labor leaders said tonight "to bring about unity of action, discipline, the rights of shipyard employés and to lend every effort to carry out the big shipbuilding program and to stabilize the industry of this country." The program briefly stated is:

To cancel immediately the pending $62,000,000 contracts with Chinese yards and the $100,000,000 contracts with Japanese yards, and to build the proposed vessels in American plants.

To construct the great navy and merchant marine as already planned and to make both second to none in the world."

GUARD BUTTE NEWS VENDORS; CITY IS QUIET

Butte, Mont., Feb. 12.—Only a few minor disturbances were reported today. Three arrests were made. Newspapers were delivered under protection of guards to protect the carriers from bands of boys who had been interfering with delivery. Soldiers tonight protected newsboys who sold papers on the streets.

A meeting of Butte business men and workers at which the cost of living was discussed was held in the morning at the city hall. No action resulted further than the appointment of a committee to give further consideration to the question.

A and B companies, Forty-fourth United States infantry, under command of Maj. George Halloran, arrived in Butte late tonight from Fort Lawton, Wash. The men will join other units of the same regiment stationed here on duty in connection with the miners' strike.

Arrest Seven at Jerome.

Jerome, Ariz., Feb. 12.—Seven men, all but two of whom are said to be I. W. W. agitators, were arrested here late today and are being held for further investigation following the arrival of a department of justice agent. This was the main development today in the unofficially called strike which began Monday following a 75 cent per day cut in copper miners' wages.

Arrest Two Alleged I. W. W.'s.

Newark, N. J., Feb. 12.—Two arrests were made here today after a general order had been issued from police headquarters to round up all persons found distributing I. W. W. or other radical pamphlets.

Five Chicago Flyers Given Higher Rating for Valor

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—Five Chicago aviators and one from Wilmette, two of them deceased, are included in a list of twenty recommended by the director of military aeronautics for advanced flying ratings, carrying extra pay. The recommendation is due in each case to distinguished service in action overseas.

Four Chicagoans in the list who survived the war are:

Capt. Reed G. Landis, First Lieutenant William P. Erwin, First Lieutenant James A. Keating, Second Lieutenant Earl W. Porter, observer. Officers deceased included in the list were First Lieutenant Edward Orr of Chicago and Second Lieutenant Frank B. Bellows of Wilmette, Ill.

Lieut. Col. William Thaw of Pittsburgh, Capt. Edward V. Rickenbacher of Indianapolis, and Capt. Douglas Campbell of Mount Hamilton, Cal., also were among those included in the list.

215 ILLINOIS MEN ENTRAIN TODAY FOR CAMP GRANT

Newport News, Va., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—Two hundred and fifteen Illinois veterans, many of them from Chicago, will leave here tomorrow afternoon for Camp Grant. Four troop trains are scheduled to leave tomorrow. Officers of the debarkation force say the Illinois men are due in Chicago Friday night or Saturday morning. All are casuals, men from practically every Illinois organization which took part in the war.

The freighter Bremerton arrived today with fifteen officers and three men. Among the officers were Second Lieutenant Ryan J. Soukup, 1400 Crawford avenue, Chicago, and Second Lieutenant Charles A. Zeller of Lockport, Ill.

AGED MAN WANDERS AWAY.

Relatives reported to the police last night that Jerome Warner, 74 years old, had wandered away yesterday and had not returned. With his wife he lived with a son, George Warner, of 1806 Eddy street.

"Your Personal Bank"

Why Bonds Are Safe Investments

Perhaps you do not realize to what extent you are now indirectly investing in bonds and enjoying the advantages which bonds have made possible.

The insurance company in which you, your family or your property is insured invests its funds largely in bonds. So very likely does the bank in which you deposit your money. The school where you send your children has probably been built from the proceeds of a bond issue, as have many of the other public improvements, the railroads, the trolley lines on which you ride, etc.

Many of the greatest conveniences of the present day would have been impossible if bonds had not been considered safe investments.

If you would like to know more about bonds we shall be glad to give you a booklet in which we try to explain what a bond is and why you can safely invest your money in properly protected bonds

LAWYERS HEARD IN SPEEDWAY HOSPITAL QUIZ

Adcock Charges Trainer Was Victim of Hines "Frameup."

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—Calling upon Edward Hines, Jacob Newman and George H. Shank to apologize for their charges against J. Milton Trainer and Wallace G. Clark of Chicago, E. D. Adcock, counsel for Trainer, today summed up the testimony of the Hines witnesses to show a "frame up" against his clients.

He said the idea of a bribe of $100,000 having been asked for by Trainer "originated in the diseased mind of Hines, who probably remembered a conversation in the Union League club years ago in which that sum figured."

"This charge against Trainer is brought by a man whose reputation is not the best," Mr. Adcock declared. "Why did he do it? Because he had to find a goat so as to get an excuse to go to the secretary of war and try to show why the Speedway contract had not been signed by Assistant Secretary Crowell?"

Refuted by Own Witness.

Adcock said the testimony of Hines and Newman that they had been told by Shank in a restaurant in Washington of Trainer's alleged proposal was refuted by Shank himself; that every government witness had testified that Trainer had never said a word in derogation of the Speedway project. He pointed out that although Trainer has been in the government service many months, connected with many large transactions, not a breath of scandal has been breathed against him in any other connection.

Adcock then reviewed Newman's original testimony in which he implicated Samuel Hodge in the attempt to extract a bribe from Hines, and his return to Washington a week later to retract that statement after Hines had gone to see Gen. Goethals, Hodge's superior officer.

"The true theory of the situation all points to one thing," said Adcock. "They were agitated when they learned that THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE had the story that they intended to pay commissions to a government employé. They knew that Shank had offered to pay a commission in June and that Trainer annd Hodge had both refused to consider the suggestion. They were afraid this story would come to the attention of the government officials and end their chances of getting the speedway project approved."

Hodge Refuses to Sign.

Adcock said that with this fear in their hearts they framed the scheme of having Albert Erskine disclose a set of alleged facts, and it was then that Erskine, Poppenhusen, and Newman drew up the paper for Erskine to sign, which was intended to exonerate everybody.

"They wanted Hodge to stand for it, and he would not, and he tore up the paper when it was shown to him. That paper was the record they wanted to make in order to satisfy any government inquiry. Then, having made that record, Hines went to Reynolds to get him to intimidate Trainer."

Adcock told the committee that Hodge, Trainer, and Clark all testified that Shank had made an offer of a commission on June 25.

"They had to get Shank out of that meeting, which is the only one at which commissions were talked of," said Adcock, "so they concocted a fictitious meeting on June 28, at which Shank was not present, and that is the reason why they have paraded their photographs of Hines' telephone bill showing calls to a country club in Oak Park."

Bennet Answers Adcock.

Attorney William S. Bennet replied to Adcock's statement and defended Newman. He declared there existed "a real estate ring" in Washington composed of Trainer, Hodge, and Jarvis Hunt, "close business associates," which by underhand means tried to stop the approval of the Speedway hospital.

"Who is the man responsible for including in the papers which were sent by the secretary of war to the department of justice on the Trainer matter an unsigned letter purporting to be from the secretary of war exonerating Trainer and praising him which was actually written by Trainer himself?" asked Mr. Bennet.

Maj. Loring of the judge advocate's office rose and offered to produce any witness wanted to throw light on that occurrence.

Lawyer Offered Assistance.

"Who was responsible for sending Col. Sterritt from Washington to Chicago to get the atmosphere about this project?" asked Bennet.

Senator Hardwick said he would recall Col. Sterritt to satisfy the committee on that point, while Mr. Adcock called attention to the fact that Barney Baruch was responsible for Sterritt's trip.

Bennet told the committee it had no jurisdiction to vindicate Trainer, because the department of justice still has the case as it was presented to it by the war department under investigation.

Tells How Chicagoan and Detroiter Beat 300 Germans

BY C. V. JULIAN.

New York, Feb. 12.—[Special.]—How a Chicagoan and a Detroit officer captured a nest of five German machine guns, killed all the gunners, turned two of the guns on a group of 300 Germans and held them at bay until the American infantry appeared was related here today by Lieut. Douglas Jetty, 257 Joseph Campau street, Detroit, on his arrival on the transport Stockholm.

Lieut. Jetty was one of the two Americans. The other, he said, was Sergt. Walter Larson, 76 Michigan avenue, Chicago. Larson, he said, is still in France. He was wounded in the leg by a rifle bullet.

Larson and Jetty were doing some experimental work in an airplane, although neither was an actual flyer. They flew over the German lines near St. Mihiel and were shot down. They fell in a nest of German machine guns and both were on their feet almost as soon as their plane hit. Before the five startled Germans manning the five guns realized what had happened the two Americans killed all five.

Hold Off 300 Germans.

Three hundred Germans were forming nearby for an attack on the American lines. Undaunted by the odds and disregarding the fact that Larson had already been wounded, the two men turned two of the machine guns on the massed ranks of the boche, mowing them down like wheat. Despite the Germans' repeated attempts to recapture their machine guns, they were held at bay by Larson and Jetty for three hours.

Realizing that something strange was occurring behind the German lines, the American infantry came over the top and captured twelve field pieces and 200 machine guns. Both Larson and Jetty were decorated with the croix de guerre.

Lieut. Harry P. Carlton of Chicago is one of the few Americans who have returned wearing the Legion of Honor. He says he has forgotten his street address, but he thinks it is 4723 Sheridan road.

Enlisted in Foreign Legion.

Carlton went to France three and a half years ago as an ambulance driver, but enlisted in the Foreign legion. When the United States entered the war he returned home and tried to enlist, but was refused on account of his age. He went back to France and succeeded in being transferred from the Foreign legion to the American aviation corps.

The Chicago man participated in the historic defense of Verdun. After joining the aviation corps Carlton shot down two German planes.

Lieut. Carlisle Rhodes, 733 Rush street, Chicago, had been an aviator in France, had been shot down over Chateau Thierry, and spent five months in a German prison camp, but he declined to tell any of the details of his experience. A friend with him said the lieutenant had been decorated with the croix de guerre and recommended for the D. S. C.

HENEY DENIES TRADE BOARD BARRED PACKERS

Had Full Opportunity to Appear at Hearing, He Says.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—Francis J. Heney, testifying before the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce, denied today that the packers ever sought an opportunity to be heard before the federal trade commission.

He not only took exception to assertions by Levy Mayer, counsel for J. Ogden Armour, but also said that W. B. Colver, chairman of the federal trade commission, was in error when he testified before the committee that the packers were denied an opportunity to be heard.

"Hearings were conducted for a month or more in Chicago, where the big packers were and where Levy Mayer was," Mr. Heney said. "There is not any question but what they would have come to one of those hearings and made a record by asking to be heard if they wanted it. The fact that they did not come there showed that they did not want to be heard.

Praises Their Lawyers.

"They have as clever and ingenious attorneys as I have come in contact with in my thirty-seven years' experience. Levy Mayer is not the least of them. Henry Veeder is pretty hard to surpass. Those attorneys know how to have made a record. Where is the record?"

Representative Winslow of Massachusetts asked Mr. Heney how he justified the failure to call the big packers as witnesses if the purpose were to get all the facts.

"I went to the fountainhead for information except that I kept in mind that the federal trade commission act gives immunity to persons who testify," Mr. Heney said. "Therefore I did not call the principals, but I called their subordinates who knew most about the matters.

Tells Men He Sought.

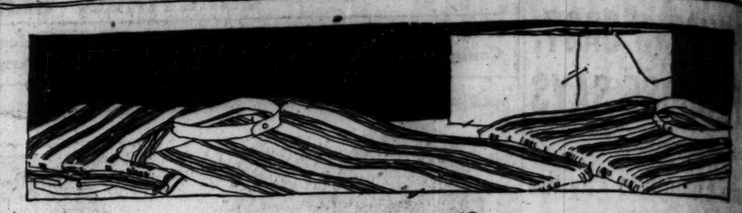

"When I went to St. Paul I subpœnaed the president of the St. Paul Stockyards company. In Omaha I subpœnaed the chief buyer of Cudahy & Co. In Kansas City I spent three days trying to locate the president of the Kansas City stockyards, which is controlled by Morris. His employés three days in succession said they did not know where he was or where the books of the company were. In Chicago I took the testimony of the treasurer of Armour & Co.

"We sent a questionnaire to the packing companies. Armour & Co. failed to state that it had any interest in the Union Stockyards company of Chicago. The treasurer of the company after we had got some information about it testified that this interest originally was held personally by Mr. Armour. Mr. Armour recently before this committee said it always was a company matter."

Mr. Heney insisted that if the packers ever had appeared at hearings and asked to be heard they would have been given an opportunity to testify if they had waived their right of immunity.

SHOT, BUT GETS HIS MAN.

Creston, Ia., Feb. 12.—Koe Evans, former county sheriff, was shot twice and seriously wounded late last night, when he caught Harold Harpin, 19 years old, after the latter had forced his way into a grocery store. Evans took Harpin prisoner after the youth had shot him.

WAR BOARD'S AID ASKED BY 40,000 SILK WORKERS

Strikers Want U. S. to Take Jurisdiction in Demand for 8 Hour Day.

Representatives of 40,000 striking eastern silk mill workers will appear before the National War Labor board today to ask that body to take jurisdiction. They are demanding the eight hour day and increased wages.

The silk workers' representatives were accompanied here by a conciliator of the department of labor, who has been attempting to adjust the strike. While the committee came from Paterson, N. J., it claims to represent all silk workers in the country.

V. Everit Macy, member of the shipping board, was agreed to by both sides in the New York harbor marine workers' controversy as the umpire to hear arguments upon the testimony already introduced. Mr. Macy will hear arguments next Wednesday at Washington. Frank P. Walsh will represent the workers and Paul Boyenonge the ship owners.

Insist on Eight Hour Day.

The marine workers, whose strike early in January completely tied up New York harbor and who went back to work only after a cabled request from President Wilson, are insistent upon an eight hour day. They also seek a wage increase. The workers' representatives claim they were offered what practically constitutes a 20 per cent raise.

John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, asked the board yesterday to reopen the case of striking waiters and cooks at the La Salle, Sherman, and Fort Dearborn hotels. The board did not announce any decision in the matter.

A number of small awards were made by the board yesterday, among them being:

Granted members of the Paper Handlers and Sheet Straighteners' union of New York City wage increases of $6 a week over the rates in effect Oct. 31, 1918, retroactive from that date, payable either in a lump sum or divided into weekly payments, the payments to start with the next pay day.

Adopt Alschuler Wage Award.

In the case of employés of Jacob E. Decker & Sons, hog packers, Mason City, Ia., the board practically substituted the Alschuler wage award for the "Gill agreement," in effect since July, 1918, making the increase in wages retroactive from July 31, 1918.

Ruled in the case of the Omaha Building Trades' council controversy with the Luhr & Luhr Electric company of Omaha that work on a hospital there should be done by union labor.

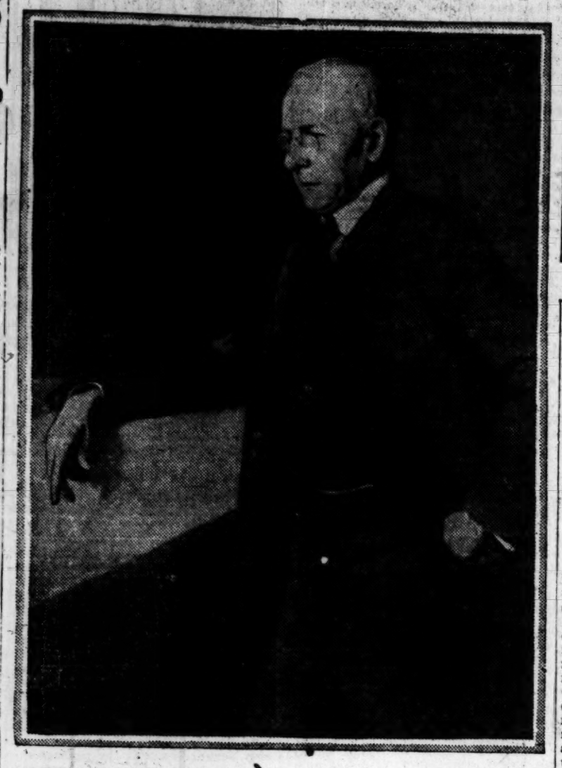

In the cases of Parlin and Orendorff of Canton, Ill., and the Hayes Pump and Planter company of Galva, Ill., ruled that the employés have a right to organize; that no coercion be attempted against union employés and recommended that the companies meet with shop committees in an effort to adjust differences.

Fix Minimum Wage for Women.

The board also made an extended award in the case of the American and British Manufacturing company of Providence, R. I. It virtually coincides with the "Bridgeport" award," covering wages and working conditions in munitions and short-arm plants. The award provides that no male worker over 21 years of age shall receive less than 40 cents an hour wages and fixes 35 cents an hour as the minimum for women's wages.

PRIZE WINNING PAINTING

OIL PAINTING POURS TROUBLE ON ART WATERS

Kultur Charge Flung at Jury for Its Award of Logan Medal.

Chicago's art colony, on the eve of its annual exhibition was stirred by a first class word rolling contest yesterday over the selection of the first prize winner of the paintings. Inuendoes and charges of frameup and German propaganda were made.

Yesterday morning the award jury of five men decided that this year the Frank G. Logan medal, carrying with it $500, would be awarded to Frank A. Werner for a portrait of Louis Sullivan, the architect. The second prize was given to Carl Buehr.

The award committee consists of the following:

Arvid Nyholm, chairman, H. Leon Roecker, Alfred Juergens, Emil R. Zettler, Wilson Irvine.

One Juror Balks.

The award of the first prize was not unanimous. One member refused to vote with the majority, and last night said he based his reasons on his belief that the committee was not "honestly deciding on the best work, but that its motives were impelled by nothing more than a desire to perpetuate German kultur."

This juryman told another juryman of his convictions and pleaded with him not to "vote with the majority." This member, the juryman said, voted against his "own convictions," even though informed the informing juryman had heard a report that Artist Werner is alleged to have had intimation he was to get first prize.

It was reported a conversation at the Cliff Dwellers' club had been overheard in which Werner is said to have been congratulated on his success before the jury had officially acted.

Winner Denies Advance News.

The juryman declared to a reporter for THE TRIBUNE that he was convinced the Werner painting was not the best, and that there are others at the show that not only equal it, but are said to be its superior.

Artist Werner denied emphatically that he had the slightest information of a premature nature that he was to be given the prize.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Feb. 12.—John Callan O'Laughlin, in an address tonight at the Lincoln day banquet, said: "For God's sake, for your own sake, for your son's sake, do not send your boy again to war—and war will come—without adequate training, without arms."

QUESTIONNAIRE TO FIRMS BARES LABOR SURPLUS

Proof of a labor surplus in Chicago and vicinity is found in answers of employers to a questionnaire sent out by the association of commerce. In the questions the firms were asked the present number of employes and the number of the pay rolls Nov. 1, 1918.

They were asked if they expect to take on or lay off employes during the next three months and whether there is a labor shortage in any particular line of business.

The questions referred to both skilled and unskilled labor.

Replies received from 346 concerns showed they employ 46,940 skilled and 56,243 unskilled men, as compared with 52,207 skilled men and 44,143 unskilled on Nov. 1, 1918.

Fully two-thirds of the firms stated they would take on no new men during the next three months.

In reply to the question regarding the laying off of employés during the next three months, 253 concerns replied they do not intend to release any skilled men and 251 do not expect to let out any unskilled labor. The release of skilled men by 21 firms is likely and 23 expect to lay off unskilled men. More than 300 firms replied there is no labor shortage.

Cripple's Honesty Gets Him Permanent Position

When John R. Galvin, 23 years old, who has lost both legs, found $300 and a watch belonging to William Hafner, a member of the Skokie Country club, he returned the property to the manager of the club and disappeared. After a long search Hafner found him yesterday and took him to the club, where he will give him permanent employment.

BOLSHEVISM.

"Bolshevism," writes Henry Hyde, "means that church, home, school, and all the institutions we call civilized shall be destroyed; that banks shall be looted of all cash, and all debts, public and private, shall be repudiated; that marriage shall be outlawed and free love the rule."

In another column of THE TRIBUNE yesterday was a report of Dr. W. C. Huntington's testimony before a senate committee. Dr. Huntington said that the bolshevists had spent $10,000,000 last summer in spreading bolshevist doctrines outside of Russia. Some of it may have come to the United States.

"The government," he said, "maintains itself absolutely by terror. They got into power by promising the people peace, bread, and land. They kept in power by owning machine guns and using them."

Bolshevism is temperate and reasonable in Russia and elsewhere only to obtain means of spreading the destruction further. It believes in the destruction "of all institutions we call civilized." It believes in their destruction throughout the world as well as in Russia. It spends money which it has taken from the bourgeoisie in Russia to destroy the bourgeoisie in every country.

Reports of Lenine's consideration for manufacturers in Russia, of prosperous merchants calling on him in furs and limousines, give Americans a false idea of the rationality of bolshevism. Of course Lenine has to give manufacturers consideration now. Of course he has stayed the torch in their behalf. Lenine has to have machine guns to support himself. He has to have money to spread his doctrine of destruction.

An examination of Russian bolshevik history will show that the party has always supported persons or institutions when it was of advantage to do so and has quite as promptly murdered and imprisoned persons who had helped when these men ceased to be necessary in their scheme of tearing down civilization.

A constantly recurring figure of speech in their propaganda is, "The world should be burned over like a field." That is the object of their political philosophy and any means which forward destruction or which will indirectly forward destruction are justifiable means.

They cannot, of course, be successful indefinitely. They can be successful so long as they have the means of starting conflagration and the opportunity to use the means. The problem is that of limiting bolshevist opportunity.

PUNISH THE PLOTTERS.

Americans will demand instant and drastic action against those concerned with plots against the life of the president. Radical demonstrations no doubt give courage to persons of exotic tendencies to lend themselves to vicious conspiracies. Swift punishment is the surest means of discouraging such plottings.

Extremists, rankling with hate for the government, represent nothing but the very elements that strove to hamper the nation in its most important emergency. Failing in their purpose to arouse widespread hatreds in wartime it is not surprising they should seek both revenge and the instillation of new antagonisms.

OUR RESPONSIBILITY IN MEXICO.

Disorders in Mexico since 1914, says Premier Clemenceau, have cost France all return on two and a half billion francs invested in Mexico. Disorders in Mexico since 1914 have cost England more than that. Mexico is a bad debt.

It is not alone. Russia is also a bad debt, but that is no one's responsibility. Mexico is very definitely some one's responsibility and that some one is the United States. It was not thrust on us, an unwilling charge. We took it ourselves. Mexico is still a bad debt and she is still our responsibility.

We are reminded of it by Premier Clemenceau. He says that the money owed France may be considered simply as payment deferred. That is not a threat but it is a statement of fact. Frenchmen are going to sweat for every centime of interest due the United States and they know that the United States is not letting them collect from Mexico. It is an issue which will touch every provident Frenchman. He is paying for four years of disorder in Mexico.

Mexico is the world's dead beat. How long will France and the rest of the world pay for our bungling diplomacy?

THE BIG DENT.

Mr. Baker's much Dented army bill probably will set a sane military policy back fifty years in the United States. It will try to produce a big professional army for an emergency. It will try to discredit that army. It will try—and in this effort it will succeed—to make it the most ineffective and expensive army in the world. It will abolish its proper administrating body, the general staff. It will do everything militarily wrong in the worst possible fashion.

If the bill is not in its worst possible shape now Dent will see that it gets in such shape quickly. It may prevent the United States from adopting universal service as a school of citizenship, a means of nationalization, and an instrument of national security.

We hope that at least middle western congressmen have a sense of national prudence and a finer sense of national obligation—and will not support this bill.

OUR LAND NAVY.

THE TRIBUNE is for an adequate navy. We are for a navy which can maintain every American requirement upon the seas. If American requirements demand a greater navy than the British navy we are for that navy. We do not believe that American requirements do demand that. We do believe that American requirements demand unquestionably the second navy of the world and an effective army under universal service.

That is not a flamboyant, provocative policy. It is a steady, stabilizing, peace preserving one, one which will meet the real needs of the United States, meet the needs of its internal development and its external dignity.

The house of representatives, which is prepared to vote against a real army, is also prepared to give the nation an unreal navy. It has voted for a navy which is to sail the streets of Paris at the present time and never sail any sea at any time.

It is probably the first time in our history that a diplomatic gesture has had added to it a congressional gesture. Our present policy seems to be to speak bolsterously and carry a small stick and not go anywhere at all.

THE TRIBUNE SCHOOL LEASE.

Mayor Thompson asks to be reelected mayor of Chicago because some twenty years ago the ground lease upon which the Tribune building stands was renewed to THE TRIBUNE upon terms known to be equitable and just.

The political sod is arched over a number of politicians who, having nothing good to say of themselves, tried to continue in office upon what they could say of THE TRIBUNE. We do not object to the process, but the voters apparently do, not because they care for THE TRIBUNE but because they do not care for the method.

THE TRIBUNE ground lease executed by the board of education has been used by politicians, some crooked, some disreputable, some inefficient, some misguided—used for at least eighteen years by men who thought they could promote their own interests by attacking THE TRIBUNE. It has been used by some men who were not disreputable or crooked, but who differed with THE TRIBUNE in political matters and who wished to slur an opponent.

When a man begins to talk about THE TRIBUNE lease he wants to evade something, to divert attention and get away from the issue—which is himself. THE TRIBUNE is not running for office. It is not trying to control or influence men in office except as it can influence them for public good by measures publicly advocated and by the support of public opinion for measures publicly urged. THE TRIBUNE has no private dealings with any administrator or legislator.

Mayor Thompson is a candidate, not THE TRIBUNE. THE TRIBUNE lease has been attacked in every possible fashion by men who did not want their own records examined. Mr. Lorimer was an example. It was in his school that Mr. Thompson learned his methods.

THE TRIBUNE lease has been in the courts. It has been to the Supreme court. It has been sustained in legal and expert real estate opinion, in intelligent opinion, as not only just but advantageous to the public body that granted the lease. The board of education is a tenant in the Tribune building. It has taken more space from time to time of its own desire. We will say that it is a disadvantageous tenant. The brawls which occur on the premises occupied by the board of education, brawls which require squads of policemen to stop the rough house or to enforce arbitrary and unjust orders issuing from the city hall, make the board of education a tenant which no reputable building would desire, and a very poor tenant for the Tribune building. When the board of education gets out the Tribune building will be quieter and its space will come more nearly providing a profitable return.

THE TRIBUNE lease is clean, but Mayor Thompson cannot glorify himself on it, not in the sight of people who have intelligence enough to ask what relation that lease has to the administration of William Hale Thompson and to the desirability of reëlecting him.

HE LIVES TO FIGHT ANOTHER DAY.

What we admire in Mayor Thompson's courage is its discreetness. He accepts an invitation to debate with Charles Merriam. His adjutants organize a gang. They did not wholly pack the hall. Mr. Merriam is not wholly despised in the neighborhood of Fifty-first street and Michigan avenue. But the gang was there.

Mr. Thompson speaks first, big bills for an hour, and when Merriam begins to talk, his honor does as Mr. Dooley does "whin they begin to talk of Greece and Rome." He takes his hat and goes home.

If Mr. Thompson can do the talking and none of the listening he'll live to talk another day. Big Bill is one who is not pained by his own talking but might be by another's. Therefore talk and run away and live to talk another day.

It was admittedly discreet. If one has to do the things Bill the Big has done why hear about them afterward? The boy really has sense.

Editorial of the Day

THE PERIL OF FITNESS.

[Boston Transcript.]

Isn't Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood out of tune in his declaration to Kansas legislators that preparation should be made for the "next war," the reason being that "war is like a pestilence and comes unawares"? The United States, like the whole world, is thoroughly sick of war. The Versailles confreres will signally fail if war in the future is not made as unlikely as human agencies can make it. Their success will be measured by the permanency of the peace they establish.

Gen. Wood's plea for a training of our young men is admirable in many ways. The more extended this system of training the better. But what good would it all be if it acted simply as a provocative of war?—From the Boston Post.

Or, as might be said of Gen. Wood's close friend and co-worker who helped him clean up Cuba:

Isn't Surgeon General Gorgas out of tune in his declaration to the convention of doctors and nurses that preparation should be made for the next "epidemic of influenza," the reason being that "influenza is like war and comes unawares"? The United States, like the whole world, is thoroughly sick of influenza. The doctors and nurses in conference will signally fail if influenza in the future is not made as unlikely as human resolutions can make it. Their success will be measured by the permanency of the health they establish.

Gen. Gorgas' plea for a training of our young men is admirable in many ways. The more extended this system of training the better. But what good would keeping ourselves in fine physical condition be if it acted simply as a provocative of disease?

DIAZ TELLS ITALY'S HOPES

BY FLOYD GIBBONS.

[By Special Cable.]
[Copyright: 1919: By the Tribune Company.]

PARIS, Feb. 12.—"Italy gives thanks to America for her sons who fought on the Tagliamento. American troops who attacked shoulder to shoulder with the Italians left an undying name in Italy. The fame of their deeds never will be forgotten by the people of the country."

Gen. Diaz, supreme commander of the royal Italian army, expressed to me this opinion of American fighting men as they proved themselves in Italy. The hero of the Italian campaign which forced Austria to sue for peace accompanied this expression with an Italian's warmth of gesticulation and fervid eloquence.

"They were wonderful! They were splendid!" he said. "America can well be proud of the soldiers she sent to Europe. As members of an army hurriedly improvised, the facility with which they developed themselves to equal seasoned troops was most remarkable."

I asked the general if he could tell me the aims and ambitions of Italy at the peace conference.

"I am a soldier," he said. "I would not discuss the question, which, besides its military character, is quite important politically. If the matter were not under discussion at the peace conference nothing would please me more than to express my feelings.

"The Italian people, opposed for long centuries, had one dream. That dream was shared by all members of the Italian family—under one national flag for the security of our land.

"During the last fifty years our countrymen were oppressed. Our countrymen were compelled to live under a threat of the enemy. Now that we have won the victory, after heavy sacrifices, we naturally want to be liberated from foreign threats and give our people happiness, which they have won with blood on the battlefield.

"We fought for liberty and justice. From these principles we derive our claims, in accordance with the great ideals of the American people so highly expressed by President Wilson.

"The feelings of America are ours. We are fond of progress; we are fond of working in the same way. The geographical situation of Italy, with our broad coast on the middle Mediterranean, may be in the future a bridge between America and the new growing nations of central Europe. We are a growing people and we now are approaching our full growth. We arrived at that point thanks to our efforts in the war. We want to be allowed to shut the door of our house and sit safely in it.

"We want to be put in a position freely to attend to work and to coöperate in the human brotherhood in a renewed world made safe from any attempt against liberty and any guilty imperialistic ambitions."

Gen. Diaz received me in a suite of the Edouard VII. hotel, which the Italian delegation has taken over completely.

WANT TO RETURN TOGETHER

BY PARKE BROWN.

COBLENZ, Feb. 12.—With the only casualties threatened being suffocation in their feather beds or slipping off a castle wall in the Luxemburg area, there is one outfit in the army of occupation that doesn't care when it goes home so long as it goes back for a Chicago parade intact.

In this unit are the doughboys in the Illinois group of the Thirty-third division, comprising the Hundred and Thirty-first infantry, formerly the First Illinois; the One Hundred and Thirty-second, formerly the Second, and the One Hundred and Twenty-ninth, including Oak Park and Rockford men. Their headquarters are at Diekirch, in the valley of the Saur river.

Col. Clinnin passed through Paris recently en route to Nice for a brief rest, with the prospects of standing up on the twenty-two hour railway journey because of the congested travel.

"We are mixing higher education with practice marches to the historic points and a basic education in the trades with the best billets the army ever had," declared Col. Clinnin. "We have been watching for signs of melancholia or homesickness like that which developed in Cuba. This is not the case, apparently. The boys have three dances weekly.

"The removal of the anti-fraternization restrictions make it a paradise for the men from Cairo, Carbondale, Vandalia, the other Paris, and Mount Vernon, and the thousands of boys in our own regiments from Chicago.

"When the army Y. M. C. A. educational program was announced one-third of the regiment responded for the special courses. The best indication of the high spirit is given in the fact not one application has been made for return unless with the entire outfit for final review and discharge."

WOMEN'S CONFERENCE IN PARIS

BY CONSTANCE DREXEL.

[Copyright: 1919: By the Tribune Company.]

PARIS, Feb. 12.—Belgian and British women have arrived in Paris for the interallied conference of women to be held here this week. Mrs. J. Borden Harriman and Mrs. Juliette Barrett Rublee of Washington and Dr. Katherine Bement Davis of New York are the three American delegates. Mme. Dewitt Schlumberger, the president, and Mme. Brunchwig, the secretary, of the Union Française pour le Suffrage des Femmes, which has taken the initiative in calling the conference, and Mme. Pichon Landry are the French delegates.

The purpose of the conference is to take action in regard to the peace conference and the establishment of a league of nations. Ways and means by which the needs and opinions of the women of the world may be brought into play will be discussed, with suggestions made by the peace delegates.

It is now thought that an international commission of women will be appointed, which suggestion has already met with the approval of President Wilson. The president will receive the delegates representing France, Belgium, America, England, Australia, New Zealand, and Italy again on Monday evening at Villa Murat.

REPUBLICS TOY WITH MONEY

VIENNA, Tuesday, Feb. 11.—[By the Associated Press.]—Bankers here fear a financial panic throughout the former empire because of the recent efforts of the new republics to discard the old paper kronen of the empire by restamping them so that in effect they become new money.

At present there are about 36,000,000,000 kronen of this old paper money in circulation, while the new Austrian state has only about 10,000,000,000 kronen in circulation.

The question has an international phase, since much of the old money is held in the Ukraine, the Russian provinces, Galicia, Poland, and in French, English, and Swiss banks. If the money held abroad is not stamped it has no circulating value in any of the new republics.

The bankers say the situation is bound to have great influence on the commercial future of the several republics, which, they say, are pursuing a policy of self-destruction.

Dr. Alfred Treicht, director of the Anglo-Austrian bank, declared today that if the allies did not want Austria to be driven financially to join Germany, some solution of the situation must be found, as the kronen is depreciating rapidly in value in foreign countries.

Labor is scarce, though idleness abounds. Recently an advertisement for 5,000 men to clean the streets resulted in only 800 men applying.

How to Keep Well. By Dr. W. A. Evans.

Questions pertinent to hygiene, sanitation, and prevention of disease, if matters of general interest, will be answered in this column. Where space will not permit, or the subject is not suitable, letters will be personally answered, subject to proper limitations and where a stamped, addressed envelope is inclosed. DON'TS FOR BABIES.

If you have some notions about caring for babies and you love those notions, have faith in them, want to hold onto them, do not relish seeing them bowled over, abused, ridiculed, ruled out—then do not read this story, for I am going to quote Dr. Remsey of the University of Minnesota, who every now and then lays right and left.

How is this? The common error in believing that new born infants must be bathed as soon after birth as possible is responsible for many deaths. If the baby is frail, or the labor had been hard and the child has been depressed thereby, clean it with oil and do not bathe with water for a day.

Another popular fallacy is that the mouth of the infant, beginning soon after birth, should be swabbed daily. The common practice is to stretch a piece of gauze over the finger and then to scour out the mouth of the baby. This is the most common cause of stomatitis. The mouths of young infants do not need swabbing any more than their eyeballs need washing.

The practice of putting the baby to the breast every two or three hours during the first day is also erroneous, and responsible for many failures in nursing.

The common practice of ordering a dose of castor oil for the baby on the third day cannot be too strongly condemned.

The prevalent idea among physicians that many mothers cannot nurse their babies is false. At least 90 per cent of mothers can nurse their babies in whole or in part for the whole or a part of the first year. There is, practically speaking, no such thing as bad breast milk. A baby having frequent green curdy stools on breast milk has simply been having "too much of a good thing." An analysis of a portion of breast milk usually gives fallacious information. Infants who are gaining properly in weight are always getting enough food, and frequently too much.

The common belief that the curd of cow's milk is the most difficult of digestion is erroneous. That cow's milk or any other food, patent or otherwise, can be juggled in its percentage to ven approximate human milk in its effects is false.

That infants should be fed wholly upon milk for the first year and largely for the first two years is also fallacious. Infants fed exclusively on milk for the first year are usually pale, flabby and lacking in tone, and will be much improved if given some extra food after the sixth or seventh month. After the first year the child should have a good mixed diet, supplemented by milk in limited amount.

The almost universal idea that heating or boiling milk destroys or at least injures it seriously as a food for children is also erroneous.

The giving of sweets in the form of candy is usually injurious to children, especially if given between meals. They create a craving for highly seasoned foods and set up intestinal troubles.

STOMACH TROUBLE.

Mrs. W. C. P. writes: "I have a stomach trouble of seven years' standing. After meals gas forms on stomach. There is a sore place on left side, at end of short rib; can feel it at times. Also urine is very strong. Cannot drink lemonade, grape juice, tea, or anything acid. If so, it seems to irritate channel through which urine passes. Also have large pimples come on shoulders and arms. They leave large dark spots and they seem to stay.

"Do you think the trouble is in the blood?

"Why should these drinks affect me this way?

"Do you think I could help myself by taking up athleics?"

REPLY.

You should have an examination. Your symptoms indicate that you have a long standing stomach ulcer. It is risky to neglect ulcer of the stomach.

SLEEPING PORCH.

F. P. writes: "1. Can you give me any possible information where I can get a window sleeping porch?

"2. Can you give me a remedy for constipation in a 2 year old child who was regular until two months ago? He eats plenty of apples."

REPLY.

1. There are several on the market. If your hardware dealer cannot get one for you, send us stamped, addressed envelope with request for address.

2. See that he drinks water abundantly. Have him eat bran as a cereal and bran bread. Keep up the feeding of apples and vegetables.

HERPES.

Rose writes: "What can I do to rid myself of the disease herpes? I have had it about six months. It is very irritating, as it causes an itching sensation. Is it contagious? If it has once been checked, is it liable to come back again?"

REPLY.

Are you certain of your diagnosis? Supposed herpes lasting six months may be something else. Herpes is a bloodstream infection, with a resulting neuralgia. The ulcers occur along the course of the affected nerves. Salicylates give temporary relief. The infection is generally self-limited—that is, it gets well after a time without treatment. Soothing salve such as oxide of zinc ointment is of service. Purgatives are generally indicated.

MAKE SLIGHT CHANGE.

Mrs. A. V. R. writes: "My baby boy, 8½ months old, weighs 30½ pounds. He weighed 11¼ pounds at birth. He has been bottle fed from birth. Is he not growing too fast and is there any danger in him being too fat? He is perfectly healthy and normal in every way. Shall I change his diet or is he too young? As yet he has had nothing but cow's milk."

REPLY.

While the rule is that a baby that is growing has no pains and is always happy should be let alone, I think you should change the diet somewhat. Milk is not a perfect food for a baby 8½ months old. Continue milk as the backbone of the diet. Give in addition cereals, hard toast, and hard crackers, some finely chopped vegetables, and fruit juices. Lessen the allowance of milk.

INSURANCE PREMIUMS.

Chicago, Feb. 4.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—Please answer the following question in the column. I was discharged from the army in December but have made no payments on my insurance premiums since then. Is my policy nullified thereby, or would my policy go on if I made the back payments now?

R. B.

You should take this matter up with the bureau of war risk insurance. If you intend to keep up your insurance they will probably arrange for you to make the back payments. Premiums should be sent by money order or check made payable to the treasurer of the United States; mail to the Disbursing Clerk, Insurance Section, Bureau of War Risk Insurance, Washington, D. C.

MANY QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

P. H. S., Reinbeck, Ia.—The Thirty-first engineers are not attached to any division. When this unit is to return it will be listed as the Thirty-first engineers. A. S. C. means aviation signal corps.

Katherine Hiltbrand, Lostant, Ill.—The Forty-second division, which includes the One Hundred and Sixty-fifth infantry, is not expected home for some time, as it is in the army of occupation, although some unofficial reports have been made that they are preparing for return.

M. T. H., St. Charles, Ill.—The Seventy-second engineer regiment is not part of any division. They are not in the army of occupation.

H. Leucht, North Crystal Lake, Ill.—The Seventy-sixth field artillery is not assigned to any division. A. P. O. 704 is in Perigueux, France, and A. P. O. 903 is in Vitrey, France.

J. Muskin, Benton Harbor, Mich.—The Thirteenth regiment is not with a divisional organization. The One Hundred and Twenty-second field artillery supply troop is part of the Thirty-third, or Prairie division, which is made up mostly of Illinois men.

Mrs. Charles Sherwood, Peoria, Ill.—The Fourth infantry regiment is part of the Third division which was located at Tannois and St. Dizier, France, on Nov. 11. They are at present located in the district of Mayen, Germany, with headquarters at Andernach, Germany.

R. Angus, Centralia, Ill.—The Three Hundred and Thirty-sixth field artillery is a part of the Eighty-seventh division now located in St. Nazaire, France. Their return orders have not been issued, although they are not assigned to the army of occupation.

Fred Michaels—All companies of the Three Hundred and Thirty-fourth regiment of infantry are with the Eighty-fourth division, which was lately reported located in Le Mans, France.

Henry Howe, West Pullman, Ill.—A. P. O. 709 is with the Twenty-sixth division. They are not scheduled to return for some time, as they form part of the army of occupation.

Mrs. F. A. B., Geneva, Ill.—The Eighty-eighth division comprises field artillery regiments numbers 337, 338, and 339 and infantry regiments numbers 349, 350, 351, and 352; machine gun battalions 337, 338 and 339, and number 313 of the trench mortar battery. This division also includes number 313 of the field signal battalion, ammunition train, supply train, engineer regiment and sanitary train.

Batteries A and B of the Three Hundred and Thirty-ninth field artillery arrived on the Wilhelmina Jan. 19. The Eighty-third division is scheduled to return some time in February.

Ann Havac, Springfield, Ill.—The Fourth supply train is part of the Fourth division. The Twelfth field artillery is part of the Second division, which is also in Germany. Neither division is expected home for some time.

Ella Neary—We do not know why certain regiments are not being returned. Probably because they are not prepared and that it comes to a choice. Shortage of ships sometimes accounts for the delay in returning troops.

Stella Gambouri, Escanaba, Mich.—The Sixteenth infantry is part of the First division, which is now in the army of occupation. The Thirty-second division is in the Third army of occupation; has its headquarters at Rengedorf, Germany, and occupies Britscheid, Herschbachm, Alsbach, and Sayn.

Katherine B.—The Forty-ninth infantry regiment returned on the Belgic and George Washington, arriving, respectively, Jan. 18 and 28. It is now scattered about in several camps awaiting demobilization.

Hazel R.—The Forty-second infantry is at Camp Upton, New York.

W. B. Sterens—A. P. O. 705 is located in Bordeaux; A. P. O. 724 in Issoudon, France, and A. P. O. 702 is stationary with the Eighty-third division.

Mrs. Edward Corrigan—The One Hundred and Fifth field signal battalion is part of the Thirtieth division, lately reported in Le Mans, France.

Walter Massock—To learn the latest address of your son, inquire of the adjutant general of the army, Washington, D. C.

X. O. X.—The Ninety-seventh transportation corps is not attached to any divisional organization. Their location is Rochefort, France. No announcement of return of this unit has been made.

Major—The First corps artillery park is in the army of occupation, so will not return for some time. The Twenty-first engineers are not home yet.

E. Adeson—Base hospital 24 is in Limoges, France. The One Hundred and Third infantry is part of the Twenty-sixth division, now in Germany.

M. Edgress—The bill about soldiers retaining their uniforms has not been passed.

C. Bernhardt—The One Hundred and Fourth engineers is still with the Twenty-ninth division and has not been assigned to the army of occupation.

F. S. O.—After discharge if an allotment check is sent to your wife it should be returned to the Bureau of War Risk Insurance.

M. G., Washington, Ia.—Camp Hunt is located near Le Courneau, France. No announcement has been made about the return of the reserves in this camp.

A QUERY FROM OVERSEAS.

SANDWICH, Kent, England, Jan. 15.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I am an Englishman by birth, but was a resident of the United States for about ten years, although I never applied for citizenship until June, 1917. I then took out first papers that I might be eligible for conscription in the American armies. After registration I made several attempts to enter service by enlistment, but was rejected each time. At last, however, I managed to get into the Second Illinois ambulance corps and was finally assigned to the Thirty-third division at Camp Logan, Tex. At the medical examination before shipping overseas I was found unfit, discharged and sent back to Chicago. I reported to my draft board there and was put in class 1A and told to await call to the colors.

I was anxious to get into service and finally volunteered for service in France as a sapper in the Royal engineers of the British army. I learned after I had reached France that I had been called by my draft board to go to Rockford, but, of course, I was not there to answer.

1. Am I liable to any laws, military or civil, upon return to the United States for not having awaited the call from my board?

2. How has my citizenship status been affected by enlistment in the British army?

3. Will I have any difficulty in re-entering the United States?

DISPATCH RIDER.

The alien has forfeited any rights to citizenship he may have acquired under his declaration of intention by joining the armies of his native country, and should he desire to be naturalized he must, of course, return to the United States and file a new declaration of intention. It is believed that he will have no difficulty in re-entering the United States, and that it will not be found that he has violated any law of the United States in enlisting in the armies of his native country.

Chief Naturalization Examiner.

LOW CHIMNEY TO BE EXTENDED.

Chicago, Feb. 7.—[To the Friend of the People.]—A garage at 1322 Newport avenue has a chimney only eight or ten inches high. Day and night thick black smoke pours from this chimney and comes in the windows of adjacent buildings. The condition is intolerable. To whom may we refer this matter to have relief?

NEIGHBORS.

An investigation was made by an inspector from this department, as a result of which a notice was served on the owner to properly extend low chimney to abate nuisance of smoke and fumes entering living room windows of adjacent buildings.

SECOND MARRIAGE PROBABLY INVALID.

Kenosha, Wis., Feb. 8.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Is a marriage legal when a couple is married within a year after the man is divorced? He received his divorce in Ohio and was married in Illinois, and the couple live in Wisconsin.

2. Could this man's wife get a divorce if she could prove he had never supported her and she always worked after her marriage? Could she get one in Wisconsin or Illinois?

3. If the husband is out of the country could she get one or must she wait until he is here?

4. If this marriage is not legal, can the wife get the marriage annulled and would she have to pay for it?

5. If the man borrowed money from her before the marriage to get married, would that influence a divorce for her?

ANXIOUS.

1. If the divorce was secured on one of the grounds recognized in section 1 of our act it is probable that a marriage within the period specified by section 2 is invalid.

2. Nonsupport is not a ground for absolute divorce in either state.

3. She need not wait, assuming that he is not in military service.

4. She should not remarry without first settling the matter by annulment proceedings.

5. Not directly.

DIVORCE AND REMARRIAGE IN MISSOURI.

Chicago, Feb. 9.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—How long must one wait in Missouri to marry after they are divorced? 2. If they go to Iowa and are married two months after the divorce and stay there a month, and then live in Illinois, is the marriage legal? L. B.

1. There is no statutory period.

2. Probably not, if they resided in Missouri before the marriage.

SWIVEL CHAIR HEROES.

Mason City, Ia., Feb. 12.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—For many years I have enjoyed reading THE TRIBUNE, and I have read and have reread your splendid leader entitled "White Crosses and White Flags in France."

I do not know who wrote it, but I would like some time to take the man by the hand who wrote the article and tell him how deeply I appreciate what he said.

While the war continued we all kept silent, but now that the war is practically over, we have no longer any fear of "lese majeste," and we can say what we think.

While the war was on "sidewalk" patriots strutted about, while their friends and relatives, who ought to have been on the firing line, held soft jobs at Washington with their spurs dangling about their heels, as Joe Cannon said, to keep their heels from slipping off from their mahogany desks.

Since the war ended no more fit and proper editorial has appeared, in my judgment, than your own of the 10th inst.

Hit them, and hit them hard, as you are able to hit the men who held and participated in pink tea festivals while our boys were dying in the trenches. You cannot make your criticism too strong.

DUNCAN RULE.

THE RUSSIAN PROBLEM.

Chicago, Feb. 12.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Russia needs individuals who are neither friends nor enemies of the existing parties, or a new party which would not strive merely for rule or power and which would not interfere with the different classes or parties but should work out its own plan and conduct its work, not hesitating to select from every party the best workers and to take all the principles of every faction, no matter what their source.

The existing parties should be neither united nor suppressed, each should create and develop its best ideas. The more martyrs you make to a cause, even though it is a bad cause, the more rapidly will its partisans multiply. [Nothing develops culture and progress as quickly as injustice, despotism, and war.]

There are always in every party some dissatisfied members who generally are the best workers, and many progressive and efficient persons, for one reason or another, do not belong to any existing party; they should join if for no other reason than for self-protection. The organized classes and creeds are fighting for their existence and we have seen that the greatest sufferers are the innocent unorganized masses. No one should lose a chance for self-defense and humanity.

I speak for myself alone, but there may be some one who sympathizes with me.

RUSSIAN MOUJIK.

THE SMOKE HORROR.

Chicago, Feb. 12.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Chicago citizens are painfully cognizant of the smoke evil. We all know that the sun seldom shines on our sooty faces. We all know that our parched throats cry for surcease of the cloud of soot and cinders that blacken the air like a pestilence. Constant repetition of the statement that Chicago is cursed with a low hanging pall of soft coal smoke acts after a certain length of time as a drug to our senses.

Why not give us a start on a new track? Instead of telling us again and again that Chicago is suffering from the smoke evil, tell us how we can remedy this state of affairs. Blindly heaping curses on the city of Chicago, Chicago manufacturers, the smoke inspection department, and the universe in general doesn't get us anywhere. If you could direct the mighty power of public opinion into some channel of constructive criticism by suggesting a remedy for existing evils it would surely be a step in the right direction; for remedy there must be.

Possibly the secret lies in increased efficiency in methods of firing or in more rigid enforcement of anti-smoke ordinances. Powdered coal, which is attracting such wide attention at this time, may be the solution. At any rate, give us a clew to work on. Help us get on the track of constructive criticism.

FRANK HOVE.

A QUESTION.

Winnetka, Ill., Feb. 11.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Apropos of "White Crosses and White Flags in France," may one be permitted to know, as a matter of historical interest, on which of the great battle grounds of France a search must be made for the valuable shrivel of the editor's priceless easy chair? It may be on the Marne, at Reims, Soissons, Chateau Thierry, or possibly the Argonne.

THERESSE S. FAVEL.

GO TO CHURCH.

Chicago, Feb. 12.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—More people ought to go to church. They will find seats there, which can't be said of the movies and street cars, where the sovereign citizen is hustled and herded like the wastrels in the municipal pound.

JARVIS BEDFORD.

A TAG DAY FOR LENINE.

Winnetka, Ill., Feb. 12.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Now let us have another tag day and raise a fund to set up figures, like the Guildhall Giants, at Petrograd or Moscow, of those eminent rubber-collar statesmen, Lenine and Trotzky, to remind future generations of Russians what hugs boobs their forefathers were.

PENNY LUNCH IN SCHOOLS IS BADLY NEEDED

BY EYE WITNESS.

The penny lunch, and the penny lunch alone, will put the all-day sucker, the cream puff, and the dill pickle out of business.

Those insalubrious messes are prime factors in the creation of juvenile dyspepsia, and will continue to be until they are supplanted by the hot, tasty penny lunch available for every Chicago school child.

The extension and systematization of the penny lunch idea is so vital a factor in adjusting the problem of the malnourished that it is a plank in the platform of every child welfare association and of every social settlement that has gone into this campaign for the right feeding of the oncoming generation.

Hot Lunch for All.

That is why the words, "a hot lunch available to every school child," are proposition one in the very first report which the Peterson commission on the malnourished school child made to President Loeb of the board of education last Monday.

There are now thirty-two penny lunch centers in Chicago public schools. According to experts who have accumulated a large amount of authoritative data on the subject, there should be one hundred.

The first penny lunches were introduced here in 1910 and were financed by the Chicago Woman's club.

May Take 18 Years.

At that rate of progress we shall in eighteen years more reach the minimal number said to be required—and then it will not meet the requirement, because by that time the school attendance will have at least trebled.

That the principle of the penny lunch has proved both feasible and beneficial is indicated by the fact that the board of education now pays such expenses as are not covered by the amount the children pay for the food, and that eight more centers are planned.

"Penny" in Name Only.

"Penny lunch" can, however, now be used only as a term of convenience. With foods at the prices they are today you can't give a good normal school child enough to eat for a penny, and it is owing to the rising prices that the last year has been a critical one for the system.

In Wells Street school, for example, they give a child a good meal for between 3 and 4 cents. On that schedule the system pays its own way so far as food goes.

As to an experiment lately made along these lines under the direction of the Chicago Normal college, Miss Jenny H. Snow, supervisor of household arts in the Chicago public schools, says: "It was expensive, but in a few months it brought every child either to or almost to normal. In every detail the experiment brought precisely the result expected."

Must Include Penniless.

The sole objection to the extension of the penny lunch system so that it shall include even the child who has no penny (and hence is, of course, the child who most needs the lunch) is that such extension holds the peril of pauperization.

That danger is not fanciful. But this is a case where the removal of an actual evil is of more moment than the avoidance of the possible evil that might take its place. The actual evil is the throwing of a race of malnourished or undernourished weaklings into the affairs of life, a race of dyspeptics bred by ten years of school tasks performed under the handicaps of malnourishment and undernourishment.

Do you know what those handicaps mean? Probably not. But grown men and women (who may be supposed to bear such punishment better than children can) who returned to this country after three or four years in the warring central countries or the neutral northern countries of Europe will tell you with a shudder of the fearful physical, mental, and spiritual lethargy, of the sickening lassitude, and of the depression amounting to melancholia which are the sure consequences of the lack of a balanced diet.

Quality Most Needed.

As to quantity, they often had enough to fill themselves with, but as to quality and as to the due proportions of fats and sugars and starches everything was wrong. The same lacks and the same upsetting of proportions are in a general way the conditions which afflict the malnourished and undernourished Chicago schoolchild.

They increase, as they did among the European populations, the child's susceptibility to disease (notably pneumonia), increase the tendency to hysteria, and turn school tasks from profitable employments into punishment.

Nor is poverty the principal reason why the well ordered, carefully prepared school lunch ought to be made available in every public school.

Here, again, ignorance at home in the proper selection and proper preparation of foods best suited to a child is a factor. Not long ago the son of an eminent surgeon living on the north side was among the children whom experimenters at a certain school reported as subnormal through malnourishment.

When the father learned that he nearly blew the roof off. He had been so busy cutting out appendices that the malnourished condition of his own child had failed to come home to him. It was a case where the school was able to provide a child from a prosperous home with the kind of instruction the home did not provide.

Poverty No Factor.

Poverty was not at all a factor in the case.

Nor is it always a factor among those who seem poor. Dr. Fryette says that as a result of his observations among children of the apparently needy and the apparently well to do during the luncheon hour in the neighborhood of public schools he believes that where the well to do lads have pennies to spend for candy and cream puffs and lollipops the children not nearly so well clad have nickels.

And a social settlement worker whose observations have been extensive and thorough says: "There are mighty few families today who haven't got the nickel for candy and gum and the dime for the picture show."

YOUNG JOHNNIE—

The Cream Puff and Dill Pickle Fiend, Decides for the Better Life.

On the left the array of highly seasoned, unnutritious foods that render Johnnie malnourished and undernourished; on the right the foods he will get by extension and thorough organization of the penny lunch system in Chicago public schools.

IT'S SIGNIFICANT

that malnutrition was the second deciding factor that prevented thousands from "serving humanity overseas," or rather the result of under-nourishment passed down from childhood.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

is ideal nourishment for an underweight, anemic child. It nourishes the body, improves the blood and builds up strength. It is likewise significant that many thousands of children are given Scott's right through the year. Scott's Emulsion is a rich growing-food that every child needs.

G. O. P. DECRIES FORD MOVE TO GAIN SENATE

Declares He Ignores Fact Michigan Doesn't Want Him.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—The Republican publicity association issued a statement today declaring that the protest against Henry Ford's attempt to force himself into the United States senate despite defeat at the polls is not due to personal prejudice against the Michigan manufacturer.

"This protest," the statement says, "is based purely on the question of maintaining the principles and practices of representative government.

"Mr. Ford does not represent the governmental ideas of the people of Michigan in any respect. He is a free trader, while a great majority of the people of Michigan are protectionists. He is a pacifist, while the people of his state believe in aggressively asserting and defending the rights of the nation when infringed upon by any other nation.

No Public Interest.

"He takes no interest in public affairs, as evidenced by his statement that he voted for Garfield, although Garfield was elected president before Ford was of age. The people of his state want a man in Washington who has taken an active interest in public affairs and who has shown his patriotism in a practical way.

"But, more important than all these, Mr. Ford believes in selection of senators by the president. He said he did not want to be a candidate for senator, but entered the race because the president wanted him to. He let all the power of the administration be placed behind him in the effort to force his election in spite of the will of the people. He let the administration exert an influence that could not have been enlisted by the expenditure of a million dollars in his behalf.

Out of Harmony.

"He is so far out of sympathy with representative and truly popular government that he was willing to let a national executive invade a state and try to dictate to the people whom they should elect to represent them in the United States senate. Such a man is out of harmony with the thought and desire of the people of Michigan and of the whole United States. He is out of harmony with them not only in superficial matters, but upon the very fundamentals of government.

"Michigan has a history of which she is proud. She has a citizenship that is independent in thought and courageous in action. Her people are accustomed to do their own thinking and to act upon their own judgment. They may err, but not more frequently when they act upon their own judgment than if they accept the dictation of an autocrat at Washington.

Will Cling to Rights.

"If they err, the responsibility is theirs and they will profit by experience. But they have not abandoned and will not abandon their rights and duties, one of which is the selection of senators who represent their ideals in government.

"Michigan has no personal objection to Mr. Ford. On the contrary, the state is proud of his achievements as an automobile manufacturer. But the state cannot agree with his economic theories, his ideas of internationalism, or his acceptance of executive dictatorship. Because Michigan does not propose to be misrepresented in the United States her people are making their protests heard in opposition to the effort to place Ford in the senate after one of the most powerful political machines in the history of the world had failed to force his election."

BREAK IN WATER MAIN CAUSES $125,000 LOSS

Damage amounting to $125,000 was done in the neighborhood of the Twenty-second street pumping station, 2260 South Ashland avenue yesterday afternoon when a valve blew off on a thirty-six inch water main and flooded the vicinity. The estimate of damage was made by M. B. Flynn of the Pottinger & Flynn Coal company, 2221 South Ashland avenue, whose losses are $10,000

Ten tons of coal belonging to the company was washed into the Chicago river by the water from the main, which flooded the coal yard to a depth of two feet and a half. Hundreds of tons of other coal, 1,000 tons of which belonged to the board of education, was covered with muddy water and rendered practically unserviceable.

Because of damages done to the American Foundry company at the corner of Twenty-third and Paulina streets the foundry had to close down for the day and sent its 400 employés home.

The lumber yard owned by Charles S. Smith and machinery owned by H. Stern were also damaged.

MAYOR ADMITS HE'S 'BEST EVER' AND TELLS WHY

Explains What Led 250,000 to Pine for His Return.

Mayor Thompson yesterday invaded the Seventh ward again and had no hesitancy in declaring to a crowded house in the South Shore theater on Stony Island avenue that he was the best mayor Chicago ever had.

The mayor didn't lend the impression that he exactly hated himself. He said:

"Among the achievements of my administration, which have led 250,000 citizens, both men and women, to petition me to become a candidate for renomination and reelection, the following are considered of great importance: In the last four years Chicago has been made the most healthful large city in the world; the law has been enforced in such a sane and effective manner that crime has geen greatly reduced, with the gratifying result that life and property are now more secure in Chicago than ever before; the efficiency of the fire department and fire prevention bureau has been increased to such a degree that property losses by fire have been greatly reduced, and all the great achievements of the present administration have been accomplished at a gradually lessening cost to the taxpayers.

Cuts Government Cost.

"In spite of the increasing area of Chicago, which is at present 200 square miles; in spite of our constantly increasing population at the rate of more than 50,000 per annum; in spite of the steady increase in the cost of all materials used by the city; in spite of the fact that under the present administration the pay of all the underpaid employes of the city has been raised; in spite of all these things the actual cost of city government has been lessening, and that cost has lessened to such a remarkable degree that municipal government costs less per person than in any other large city in this country.

"Law, Liberty and Justice."

"I have said to my friends who have thus kindly tendered their support to me, and I say to you and to all the people of our city that if continued in the office of mayor of Chicago I shall go on yielding to the influence of the people only. I shall sink personal and political considerations in seeking the good of the city service and shall give myself unreservedly henceforth, as heretofore, to the support of law, liberty and justice."

SWEITZER TELLS WOMEN HE WILL CLEAN STREETS

County Clerk Is Host at Headquarters in Hotel Sherman.

Robert M. Sweitzer, regular Democratic candidate for mayor, showed how chivalrous he can be among the ladies when he threw open his headquarters in the Hotel Sherman to the feminists yesterday.

It was the first "at home" given by the county clerk to the fair ones and they swarmed into his place until standing room was at a premium.

And "Old Man" Sweitzer was right there with the glad hand, the infectious smile, the fetching bow, and graceful manner. And, when it came to the talk stuff, he mesmerized them all. The Blarney stone had nothing on Chesterfield Sweitzer.

Talks of Street Cleaning.

After all the jolly the women displayed a practical bent of mind and wanted to know something about a clean city—municipal housekeeping.

And Robert was Johnny on the spot.

"We have recently seen something of what can be done in the way of keeping the city a little bit cleaner," he said. "We see the same spectacle just before every primary and election fight in which the present mayor is interested. Gangs of men appear all of a sudden and are exceedingly busy. For a time the streets are cleaned. Then the day that the election is held these men disappear and you need not look for them until the next primary is near at hand.

Will End Farce.

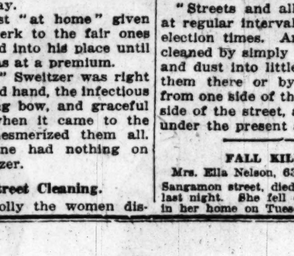

"It is my intention when I am elected mayor immediately to bring to an end this miserable farce.

"Streets and alleys will be cleaned at regular intervals instead of around election times. And they will not be cleaned by simply collecting the waste and dust into little heaps and leaving them there or by brushing the dirt from one side of the street to the other side of the street, as I have seen done under the present administration."

FALL KILLS WOMAN.

Mrs. Ella Nelson, 63 years old, 3929 South Sangamon street, died at the county hospital last night. She fell down a flight of stairs in her home on Tuesday.

Ten o'clock and all's well

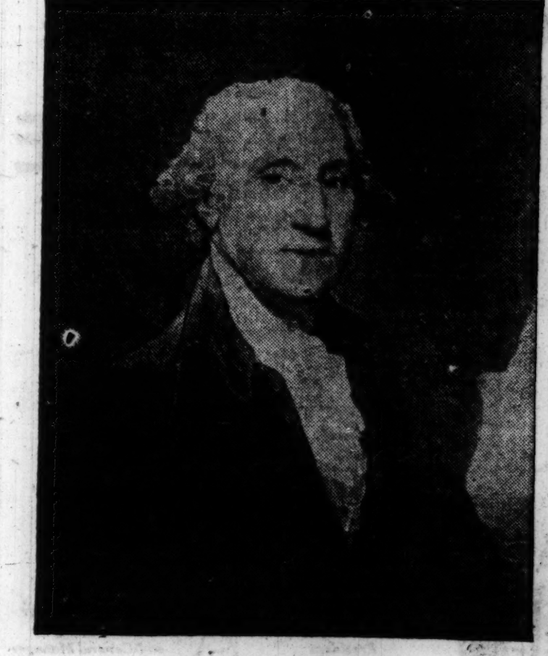

A little begrimed, very tired, somewhat peeved and a trifle hungry, he descended at nine-fifteen P. M. from a train which should have arrived at eight. No fit condition to present himself to his waiting family. Let's see—ah! Henrici's now remains open far into the night—a fine, large, well equipped lavatory—that'll help—and no out-stretched palm there; neither will a uniform without pockets forcibly grab hat and coat, to be detained for ransom. Excellent food, well served, no superfluous accessories. Yes! Yes! Henrici's.

WAR RECORD OF MAYOR LASHED BY JUDGE OLSON

Asks Pointed Questions and Quotes from the Republican.

Judge Harry Olson, Republican harmony candidate for mayor, last night in Wicker Park hall, took the gloves off and went at Mayor Thompson with bare knuckles. He discussed the mayor's war record and lashed him for the utterances of his personal organ, the Republican.

After quoting what Elihu Root said about the mayor, Judge Olson said:

"Mayor Thompson created a false impression of our loyalty to the government throughout the land. He refused to invite Marshal Joffre to come to the city and speak when the great French general was in this country. He allowed a convention of malcontents to congregate here after they had been refused a haven of refuge in a number of cities. Finally he sponsored a scurrilous yellow sheet, the so-called Republican, which continued to attack the prosecution of the war by the United States in a manner that was, if not sedition, just beyond its pale.

Quotes "The Republican."

"On June 9, 1917, the day after Gen. Pershing arrived in England, the Republican said:

"'Suppose the allies continue to fail, even with our aid, what will be the effect?

"'Will not this nation ultimately be obliged to do the best it can to protect itself?

"'Should we not safeguard our own land before we answer the Macedonian cry of Europe?'

"On June 30, 1917, it said:

"'We have a right and duty in protecting America, but we should not allow ourselves to be misled by the cunning and old world diplomats into fighting their battles and fertilizing their fields, enlarging their boundaries, or extending their powers, at the cost of the blood and lives of our boys, who under the law can do nothing but obey the president. We sincerely hope the president will take Mayor Thompson's advice and keep our food, men and munitions at home, at least until America is put in a position to defend herself against the world.

"Why Are We in War."

"'We want to know, and we believe the people of the United States want to know definitely and positively why we are in the war, and how we are going to get out of it? We do not agree with the pro-administration organs and the newspaper representatives of the aristocracy of wealth—which in our opinion is largely responsible for our being in the war—that it is now too late to discuss these questions.

"'If, as many people believe, we have been induced to declare war by designing statesmen of other lands, aided and abetted by subsidized newspapers of our own country, in order that we may pay the war costs which the impoverished nations of Europe can no longer sustain, the American people have a right to know the facts.'

Leaves It to Voters.

"Are such sentiments as these," said the judge, "expressions of real American patriotism? I will leave it to you to decide in your own minds.

"Why doesn't Mayor Thompson tell the voters about his war record? Does he think the people of Chicago have forgotten his attitude on the war?

"How about his failure to issue an invitation to Marshal Joffre? He did not until the French warriors and statesmen were here, and the city council had to do it.

"The mayor said he did not believe that Chicago would be wildly enthusiastic about this visit. I will let the voters determine whether the city was wildly enthusiastic or not.

"Why did the mayor veto resolutions adopted by the city council protesting against un-American meetings in Chicago? The city council, however, promptly adopted the resolutions over the mayor's veto.

Mayor Fought Draft.

"Who was it that thought the war would prove unpopular and who fought the draft? Again we have his honor in the limelight.

"Did the mayor favor sending troops to Europe to help the allies? I should say not. He vigorously opposed this.

"Did Chicago display indifference toward the first Liberty loan? It did not. But the mayor did.

"The mayor had nothing to do with the big Liberty loan investment made by Chicago. Mr. Folds sought to get a big subscription from the city through the controller. Mr. Folds was right; Chicago ought to help. Upon Mr. Folds being able to finance the proposition through Chicago banks it was made possible. Thompson himself was ignorant of how it was done. Pike was anxious to get the political credit for Thompson. The credit belongs to Mr. Pike and Mr. Folds.

Cheers for Slackers.

"There was no discouragement for the men who tried to evade the draft by hasty marriages. They got cheering support from the mayor.

"Why did the election machinery officials have to take charge of the draft work? Was it because the mayor's office was slow to realize that this was part of its work?

"These are the things for which the Thompson administration of the city has become notorious all over the United States. These are the blots upon the escutcheon of our city that are known the length and breadth of the land. These are the stains upon our fair name which were placed there by the Thompson crowd and which can be removed only by a stern rebuke to them in the coming primary election. Chicago owes it to herself to clear her municipal name by relegating to oblivion the Thompson gang.

"These are a few things the voters should remember. The mayor can't befuddle the voters by talking about what his grandfather did. Let the mayor explain his war record. The voters are entitled to an answer on every point.

"Last, did Mayor Thompson ever visit the soldier boys at Camp Grant or the sailors at Great Lakes? Did he? I will reward any one who can prove he visited either place during the war."

In the Political Pot

Former County Commissioner Frank Ragen yesterday declared himself for Thomas Carey for mayor. He said Chicago "needs another Fred Busse, a man of the people, and that man is Thomas Carey."

Lieut. A. F. Nusser yesterday, commenting on the poll at Camp Grant, after declaring for Capt. Merriam, said: "The fighting men of Chicago will do all in their power to retire Mayor Thompson, who boasted he was mayor of the sixth German city and not the chief executive of the second city on the American continent."

Michael F. Ryan is putting some pep into the aldermanic battle in the Twenty-ninth ward. He is a son of Police Captain Ryan and is making the fur fly with his home rule campaign.

The Independent Voters' league of the Third ward yesterday issued an appeal to the voters to support Capt. Merriam for mayor.

More than 1,000 women gathered at the Morrison hotel yesterday to applaud Judge Harry Olson's declarations for 100 per cent Americanism and a city rid of the spoilsman and the gangster.

Possibly the shortest platform of any candidate is that of George W. Bolling, seeking the Republican aldermanic nomination in the Seventh ward. His platform reads: "Service."

"KID" MERRIAM COMES BACK AND ASKS FOR MORE

Challenge to "Big Bill" for Second "Go" Is Mailed.

"Kid" Merriam is going back for more. He is not satisfied with the first "go" with "Big Bill" in the Sixth ward Tuesday night. Because the audience took such a prominent part in the set-to he doesn't think an impartial decision was reached. He now seeks a finish battle with his honor.

Henry P. Chandler, Merriam's second, yesterday sent a letter to Corporation Counsel Ettelson, official city hall matchmaker, requesting arrangements for another bout in the immediate future.

Quotes Lincoln's Ideas.

Capt. Merriam devoted his speechmaking yesterday to the Lincoln theme. Speaking at 3832 North Keeler avenue, in the Twenty-seventh ward, he declared that Lincoln's ideas were peculiarly applicable to the present situation in Chicago.

"Abraham Lincoln," he said, "was first of all an American, and, second, the unwearying and effective foe of special privilege. When timid souls were ready to let the union crumble to pieces his clear eye saw the vision of a united republic and his heart did not falter at the magnitude of the long four years' task.

Dealt with Treason.

"He did not play with treason nor could he tolerate those whose footsteps followed closely the border line of disloyalty to the flag. He had the gentlest heart in all America, but no hand was more firm nor no will was sterner in executing the purposes of the free men of the nation.

"The specious organs of demagogues could not disturb him, nor the outcries of those who sincerely or insincerely opposed the high resolve of the American people to maintain an indissoluble union."

Lincoln Park Budget Lower than Last Year's

Lincoln park commissioners yesterday adopted their annual budget, providing for expenditures of $764,255. The revenue was estimated at $773,834. "We have a full program for construction work," said John C. Cannon, secretary of the park board. "For this year we figure on park maintenance of $609,700, about $12,000 less than last year's figures. This is because we now have more reasonable prices for labor and material."

SWEITZER GOES INTO LEAD ON 'TRIBUNE' BALLOT

Olson Increases Gap Between Himself and Thompson.

Robert M. Sweitzer took the lead yesterday in THE TRIBUNE'S straw vote canvass as the result of the day's canvass, which was chiefly in west side sections. The high candidate was running more than two votes to one ahead of Thomas Carey, his chief competitor in the Democratic primary.

On the Republican side of the contest Judge Harry Olson had an easy lead over the other candidates of his party, but his day's margin was not as great as the day before, over Mayor Thompson. Merriam, the third candidate, trailed with fewer than one-half the votes received by Olson.

Results Up to Date.

A total of 912 votes was cast during the day, bringing the grand total of the canvass up to 2,031, the large majority being composed of Republicans. The figures stood this way last night:

Totals for candidates: Rep.—Thompson, 399; Olson, 483; Merriam, 221. Dem.—Sweitzer, 511; Carey, 230; Heidelmeier, 28. Socialist—John M. Collins, 58. Labor—John Fitzpatrick, 84.

The canvassers found a great number of persons who declined to vote, the percentage being nearly one-fourth of those who marked the straw ballots. The majority of these were women.

The surprise of the day's canvass was the big vote which Judge Olson received. The territory covered is known as Democratic, yet 483 Republican ballots were cast, as against 372 Democratic tickets. Judge Olson received 214 votes, leading Thompson by 45.

Labor Vote Is Small.

Almost as unexpected was the poor showing made by the Labor and Socialist candidates. Collins received only 14 votes, as compared to 44 the day before, while Fitzpatrick found only 33 supporters, as against 51 on Tuesday.

According to political form Thomas Carey, long known as the stockyards statesman, should have walloped Sweitzer in any canvass in the stockyards exchange offices, but the opposite was the fact. Sweitzer got 34 votes, while Carey received 30. Merriam, who ran a poor third in the west side factories, won second place in the limited stockyards poll. He received 27 ballots, against 23 for the mayor, but Olson led the field with 41.

Employers coöperated with the canvassers from THE TRIBUNE in the taking of the poll. Several stated they believed the canvass should be encouraged, as Chicago citizens are eager to get a line on public sentiment in this many sided political campaign.

CAREY DECLARES HE IS SEEKING WOMEN'S VOTES

Thomas Carey, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for mayor, declared last night in Woodlawn Masonic Temple that he had the edge on his opponents when it came to the women voters.

"My opponents have charged me with making an especial appeal to women of Chicago to support me in my candidacy for mayor," he said. "I have been accused of reaching out for women's suffrage by promising to appoint at least one woman a member of my cabinet when elected, and I wish to confess that the charges against me are true. To admit that I am making a strong appeal to women voters at this time is acknowledging my own belief that the women of Chicago today are the deciding factor in elections, and I hope for their undivided support.

"We men have finally consented to allow women an equal chance with us in deciding public questions, and now that the law gives them that right I feel confident they will exercise it for the best interests of our city."

THE AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF THEODORE ROOSEVELT

INSTALLMENT XXVI.

[Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.]

ONE of the worst features of the old spoils system was the ruthless cruelty and brutality it so often bred in the treatment of faithful public servants without political influence. Life is hard enough and cruel enough at best, and this is as true of public service as of private service. Under no system will it be possible to do away with all favoritism and brutality and meanness and malice. But at least we can try to minimize the exhibition of these qualities.

I once came across a case in Washington which very keenly excited my sympathy. Under an administration prior to the one with which I was connected a lady had been ousted from a government position. She came to me to see if she could be reinstated. (This was not possible, but by active work I did get her put back in a somewhat lower position, and this only by an appeal to the sympathy of a certain official.) She was so pallid and so careworn that she excited my sympathy and I made inquiries about her.

She was a poor woman with two children, a widow. She and her two children were in actual want. She could barely keep the two children decently clad, and she could not give them the food growing children need. Three years before she had been employed in a bureau department of Washington, doing her work faithfully, at a salary of about $800. It was enough to keep her and her two children in clothing, food and shelter.

One day the chief of the bureau called her up and told her he was very sorry that he had to dismiss her. In great distress she asked him why; she thought that she had been doing her work satisfactorily. He answered her that she had been doing well, and that he wished very much that he could keep her, that he would do so if he possibly could, but that he could not; for a certain senator, giving his name, a very influential member of the senate, had demanded her place for a friend of his who had influence.

The woman told the bureau chief that it meant turning her out to starve. She had been thirteen or fourteen years in the public service; she had lost all touch with her friends in her native state; dismissal meant absolute want for her and her children. On this the chief, who was a kind man, said he would not have her turned out, and sent her back to her work.

But three weeks afterward he called her up again and told her he could not say how sorry he was, but the thing had to be done. The senator had been around in person to know why the change had not been made, and had told the chief that he would be himself removed if the place were not given him. The senator was an extremely influential man. His wants had to be attended to, and the woman had to go. And go she did, and turned out she was, to suffer with her children and to starve outright, or to live in semi-starvation, just as might befall.

I do not blame the bureau chief, who hated to do what he did, although he lacked the courage to refuse; I do not even very much blame the senator, who did not know the hardship that he was causing, and who had been calloused by long training in the spoils system; but this system, a system which permits and encourages such deeds, is a system of brutal iniquity.

Arguments Against Reform.

Any man accustomed to dealing with practical politics can with difficulty keep a straight face when he reads or listens to some of the arguments advanced against civil service reform. One of these arguments, a favorite with machine politicians, takes the form of an appeal to "party loyalty" in filling minor offices. Why, again and again these very same machine politicians take just as good care of henchmen of the opposite party as of those of their own party.

In the underworld of politics the closest ties are sometimes those which knit together the active professional workers of opposite political parties. A friend of mine in the New York legislature—the hero of the alpha and omega incident—once remarked to me: "When you have been in public life a little longer, Mr. Roosevelt, you will understand that there are no politics in politics." In the politics to which he was referring this remark could be taken literally.

If men are not to be apopinted by favoritism, wise or unwise, honest or dishonest, they must be appointed in some automatic way, which generally means by competitive examination. The easiest kind of competitive examination is an examination in writing. This is entirely appropriate for certain classes of work, for lawyers, stenographers, typewriters, clerks, mathematicians and assistants in an astronomical observatory, for instance.

It is utterly inappropriate for carpenters, detectives and mounted cattle inspectors along the Rio Grande—to instance three types of employment as to which I had to do battle to prevent well meaning bureaucrats from insisting on written competitive entrance examinations. It would be quite possible to hold a very good competitive examination for mounted cattle inspectors by means of practical tests in brand reading and shooting with rifle and revolver, in riding "mean" horses and in roping and throwing steers. I did my best to have examinations of this kind instituted, but my proposal was of precisely the type which most shocks the routine official mind, and I was never able to get it put into practical effect.

Only Means to an End.

The important point, and the point most often forgotten by zealous civil service reformers, was to remember that the routine competitive examination was merely a means to an end. It did not always produce ideal results. But it was normally better than a system of appointments for spoils purposes; it sometimes worked out very well indeed; and in most big governmental offices it not only gave satisfactory results, but was the only system under which good results could be obtained.

For instance, when I was police commissioner we appointed some two thousand policemen at one time. It was utterly impossible for the commissioners each to examine personally the six or eight thousand applicants. Therefore they had to be appointed either on the recommendation of outsiders or else by written competitive examination. The latter method—the one we adopted—was infinitely preferable.

We held a rigid physical and moral pass examination, and then, among those who passed, we held a written competitive examination, requiring only the knowledge that any good primary common school education would meet—that is, at est of ordinary intelligence and simple mental training. Occasionally a man who would have been a good officer failed, and occasionally a man who turned out to be a bad officer passed, but, as a rule, the men with intelligence sufficient to enable them to answer the questions were of a type very distinctly above that of those who failed.

"Exam" Answers Amusing.

The answers returned to some of the questions gave an illuminating idea of the intelligence of those answering them. For instance, one of our questions in a given examination was a request to name five of the New England states. One competitor, obviously of foreign birth, answered; "England, Ireland, Scotland, Whales, and Cork." His neighbor, who had probably looked over his shoulder but who had North of Ireland prejudices, made the same answer except that he substituted Belfast for Cork.

A request for a statement as to the life of Abraham Lincoln elicited, among other less startling pieces of information, the fact that many of the applicants thought he was a general in the civil war; several thought that he was president of the confederate states; three thought he had been assassinated by Jefferson Davis, one by Thomas Jefferson, one by Garfield, several by Guiteau, and one by Ballington Booth—the last representing a memory of the fact that he had been shot by a man named Booth, to whose surname the writer added the name with which he was most familiar in connection therewith.

Now, of course, some of the men who answered these questions wrong were nevertheless quite capable of making good policemen, but it is fair to assume that on the average the candidate who has a rudimentary knowledge of the government, geography and history of his country is a little better fitted, in point of intelligence, to be a policeman than the one who has not.

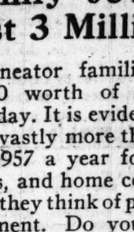

Therefore I felt convinced, after full experience, that as regards very large classes of public servants by far the best way to choose the men for appointment was by means of written competitive examination. But I absolutely split off from the bulk of my professional civil service reform friends when they advocated written examinations for promotion.

The reason for a written competitive entrance examination is that it is impossible for the head of the office, or the candidate's prospective immediate superior, himself to know the average candidate or to test his ability. But when once in office the best way to test any man's ability is by long experience in seeing him actually at work.

Why Swift & Company Handle Poultry, Eggs, Butter and Cheese

Swift & Company went into the produce business because they saw a crying need for the kind of service they were equipped to perform.

The produce business was in chaos. Collecting, transportation, preparation and distribution was hit-or-miss, with delay, deterioration and loss on every hand.

The farmer was at the mercy of an uncertain, localized market. He had no way of reaching through to the people who needed what he was raising for them. There was no premium upon improving his stocks, for grading was lax or lacking.

The consumer had to accept produce that, as a rule, had no known responsible name behind it. He had no way of knowing how long the eggs or the butter he was buying had been lying around in miscellaneous lots in the back room of a country store. Much of the poultry was not properly refrigerated before shipment or properly protected by refrigeration in transit.

Swift & Company's initiative brought system to this chaos. Their organization, equipment, and experience in handling perishable food products were already adjusted to the task. Their refrigerator cars, branch houses, central points, far-reaching connections, trained sales force, supplied just what was demanded.

Now the farmer has a daily cash market in touch with the nation's needs with better prices. Standardization makes better produce more profitable. More consumers are served with better, fresher, finer foodstuffs.

Nothing suffers from this save inefficiency, which has no claim upon public support.

CUB LEADERS GUMSHOE OUT OF CITY ON MYSTERIOUS QUEST

...UINS ANGLING ...OR JACK SMITH, ...ARD OUTFIELDER

...st Young Gardener of St. Louis Dissatisfied with Mound City.

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

...r the last two days neither Presi... and Manager Mitchell nor Vice ...sident Veeck has been seen in Chi...

...elephone calls to their homes failed ...ate them. Mrs. Mitchell simply ...d Fred wasn't at home and that she ...s waiting for him. Mrs. Veeck said ...e wasn't at home and that she would ...ther be excused from talking about ...e matter.

There are many suppositions, but the ...st likely one seems to be that Mitch... and Veeck have gone to St. Louis to ...y to put over a trade with the Cardi... The man most likely desired is ...ll Smith, the Chicago boy who re...ently got his discharge from the ...y. Before going into the service he ...ked to be about the most promising ...ung outfielder in the National ...gue.

Wanted Smith Year Ago.

A year ago when Mitchell was dicker...g for the services of Roger Hornsby ...e man he wanted more than Hornsby ...s Jack Smith. Two or three days ...r Smith left his home on the west ...e apparently to go to St. Louis. He ...d torn up a contract submitted by ...e St. Louis club because it offered ...,000 less than his contract of a year ...o.

Just what Mitchell is prepared to ...fer for Smith is not known, but the ...pression seems to be that he will ...ve up one of his regular outfielders, ...obably Max Flack, and some young ...tcher for the services of Smith. In ...17 Smith looked like the best young ...tfielder in the business. He hit over ...e .300 mark and was a whale in the ...tfield. He would fit in fine with the ...mbination of players Mitchell has on ...e north side, and Smith is dissatis...d with St. Louis and anxious to play ...re.

Needs Star Outfielder.

On more than one occasion Mitchell ...s indicated that he needs a classy ...tfielder to keep the Cubs at the top ...f the National league. He is satisfied ...th his pitching staff, satisfied with ...s catchers, providing of course that ...Tyler gets back, satisfied with his ...field, but wants a bit more strength ...the outfield.

While Mitchell was away from his ...ce yesterday the White Sox snared ...young pitcher who was in line for a ...b with the Cubs. John "Lefty" Sul...an, who gained some fame last sea...n with the Camp Grant team, signed ...contract yesterday to pitch for the ...hite Sox next season. He had had a ...ries of conferences with President ...schall of the north side champions, ...t did no business. He had an offer ...m another major league club be...e the Sox, and several minor ...gue bids.

Henry Signs Contract.

Fred Henry, a promising young first ...seman who has been tried out by the ...hite Sox before, sent his signed con...ct in yesterday and will have an...her chance to break into fast com...ny. He had just procured his dis...rge from army service.

The morning mail brought the signed ...ntract of little Mel Wolfgang, who ...s been carried as extra pitcher for ...e Sox for a number of years. Mel ...s in his home in Albany and wrote ...at he still has hopes of taking a reg...ar turn on the south side slab.

MUSCLE MERKLE OF CUBS COMING HERE NEXT WEEK

Daytona, Fla., Feb. 12.—Fred Merkle, ...st baseman of the Cubs, will return ...Chicago to join his team, leaving ...is Saturday after having spent a ...et winter at Ormond, where he owns ...home and entertains himself mostly ...y truck gardening and fruit growing. ...erkle's farm is within the vicinity of ...is winter residence.

Merkle says he is in the best of con...tion and from the ruddy appearance ...f the big first baseman it would seem ...ossible for him to hurl a ball over to ...r. Rockefeller if the effort were made ...teresting enough.

The Cub ball player motored to Day...na beach today, where he watched ...alph De Palma pail two world's rec...rds on that speedway and seemed ...reatly carried away by this touch of ...ig time thrills.

...SI SANBORN MAY ...HEAD "COMISH"

New York, Feb. 12.—I. E. (Si) San...rn of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, presi...nt of the Baseball Writers' associa...n, is being seriously considered for ...e chairmanship of the national com...ission.

Sanborn, it was said, was recom...ended for the post by Vice President ...illiam Veeck of the Chicago Na...onals. Sanborn also is reported to ...ve the approval of Ban Johnson, ...esident of the American league.

Johnson and John A. Heydler, presi...nt of the National league, were in ...nference here today and it was said ...at a chairman might be elected before ...ey left the city.

WARREN WOOD FINDS 1 1-2 LBS. SUGAR CAN BUY HORSE ON RHINE

BY JOE DAVIS.

When Capt. Warren K. Wood of the American Red Cross, western golf champion in 1913, went 900 miles behind the German lines in quest of American wounded soldiers, following the signing of the armistice, he found that a German army horse brought no more than a pound and a half of sugar.

Horses were being sold by the government for 160 marks a pair, the mark being equal to about 15 cents at the prevailing rate of exchange. Sugar was 65 marks a pound, while eggs retailed at 3 marks each. Good suits of clothes brought 1,000 marks. The high cost of fodder made horses undesirable possessions.

Locates 31 U. S. Wounded.

Wood resumed his business position with Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co. Monday. His mission overseas in company with Capt. A. H. Noyes of Chicago was to locate American wounded and arrange for their return to army hospitals. They found thirty-one and were the first Americans these men had seen, as Wood and Noyes were the first to travel over much of that territory after the signing of the armistice.

The men rescued complained they had not been well treated until after the signing of the armistice, when conditions improved greatly. Warren found that horse meat and potatoes were the staple foods, and the former proved quite palatable.

One Armed French Star.

Wood's only game of golf was over La Boulie course, located near Versailles. He was much impressed with the skill of Yves Botcazon, the one armed French player, who uses his right arm. Although it was a wet course his drives averaged 180 yards. Botcazon uses light clubs and has a three-quarter swing. Wood was especially taken with his chip shots, which were equal to those of any two handed player. He also is a good putter. He made the course, which Warren considers fairly easy, in 82.

The other players were Capt. Norman Macbeth of Los Angeles, former southern California champion, who is with the Red Cross, and Capt. George MacBeth of the British army.

Warren expects to play in the Flossmoor events this season, and if business will permit, may take part in one or two tournaments.

ELWELL STAR OF SECOND ROUND ON FLORIDA LINKS

Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—The second round of match play in the South Florida Golf championship today eliminated J. N. Van Buren, Sherwood, who was tied for the medal with W. J. Baxter, Oakland, and produced a twenty-hole match in which Quintin Feitner of the South Shore Field club, was eliminated after being dormie at the fourteenth. It also saw the return to fine form of J. B. Elwell, Apawamis, who though in the third flight, led the entire field with a medal score of 32 at the turn, won 5 and 3 from H. L. Hankinson, with a card of 57 for the fifteen holes, an average of 3 under 48 equivalent to a 69 granting par for the bye holes, which were not played out.

Elwell, medalist a year ago and until this season, always found in the first division, has been off his game until today, having been in third flight in both tourneys.

First flight—C. E. Van Vleck Jr., Montclair, defeated J. N. Van Buren, Sherwood, 2 and 1; H. C. Clarke, Myopia, defeated Quintin Feitner, South Shore Field, 1 up, 20 holes; Andrew Carnegie II., Myopia, defeated A. H. Poehler, Minneapolis, 1 up; W. J. Baxter, Oakland, defeated W. R. Simson, New York, 2 up.

LAKES NATATORS IN A. A. U. RACES

Coach Harry Hazelhurst of the Great Lakes swimming team yesterday nominated his best swimmers for the fifty yard and 200 yard breast stroke National A. A. U. indoor championship swims to be held at the Chicago Athletic association next Wednesday night. Perry McGillivray will be the station's mainstay in the short swim and Chapman and Herb Taylor in the breast stroke. Mike McDermott of the Illinois Athletic club, who has won the breast stroke nine consecutive times, is expected to start. The Great Lakes entries:

50 yard swim—Perry McGillivray, W. B. Vosburgh, Clark Leach, D. L. Jones.

Wilde Fights Joe Lynch of N. Y. in London March 31

LONDON, Feb. 12.—Jimmy Wilde, British flyweight champion, will meet Joe Lynch, New York bantamweight, in a fifteen round bout before the National Sporting club on March 31 for a purse of $15,000. Lynch will make 118 pounds.

MAT MATCH SQUARE, OR REFEREE QUITS

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Followers of wrestling, who have looked upon the game with suspicion, may rest assured that the Joe Stecher-Ed Lewis match, which was closed yesterday for the Coliseum on March 3, will be on the level. The reason this match will be on the square is the fact that Martin Delaney, physical instructor of the Chicago Athletic association, will be the third man in the ring.

The principals, their managers, and matchmakers for the Coliseum A. C. met yesterday at the Morrison hotel. Each wrestler and the club posted $1,000 with Harry Moir to go through with the contract. The question of referee was then taken up, and Delaney was acceptable to all concerned.

Precautions Against "Frameup."

Before he could accept, Delaney had to obtain consent of the board of directors of the C. A. A. The physical instructor was told to use his own judgment, but if he saw there anything crooked in the match before the men entered the ring was instructed he coud not act.

Having had experience with wrestlers and knowing their cunning ways, Delaney did not hesitate to tell the promoters he would call off the match the moment the men started to slightest sign of a "frameup."

Must Try All the Way.

"I have consented to referee this match because I think it will be on the square," Delaney said. "The minds of the wrestling public have been poisoned by the grapplers who have done so much to kill their own game. I have known Lewis and Stecher for years and they have told me this would be a blood match and that it would go to a finish in order to determine a winner. They must wrestle cleanly and must try at all times.

"I intend to show Chicago wrestling fans that good matches can be staged if the men are told beforehand that no signs of faking will be tolerated."

Stecher and Lewis already have started to train. Their match should be the best in Chicago in years. Tickets will be placed on sale at sporting goods houses in a few days at popular prices.

Local Semi-Pro Writes That He's Over 'Der Ryan'

First Sergt. Joseph McGarry of the One Hundred and Forty-ninth field artillery writes from Coblentz that it took him twenty months to cross "Der Ryan." He is still going, but hopes to be back in Chicago in time for the baseball season. Before going into the service the summer before last McGarry was backstopping for the Murleys of the City league.

Don't Want Big Ring Go Staged at Camp Grant

Camp Grant, Ill., Feb. 12.—Camp Grant does not want the Willard-Dempsey fight, according to Capt. Omer, athletic director. He declared Col. Barth, commandant of the camp, will have nothing to do with it unless Washington orders the bout staged here, and this they certainly will not do.

VOX POP ON LAKE FRONT FISHING.

Chicago.—[To the Editor.]—My experience leads me to believe that the wind has much to do with success in fishing on the lake front. I believe that when there is an easterly wind the pressure of the wind causes a current next to the surface of the water. This current travels toward land where it dives down, causing an undercurrent, going in the opposite direction, along the bottom.

This is the undercurrent that is sometimes so dangerous to bathers at the beaches. The westerly winds cause the current to run the opposite way. Now herrings generally stay from one to four feet below the surface, causing them to be carried toward land and making good fishing when we have easterly winds. The perch live in deeper water and go with the undercurrent. Therefore we have the best perch fishing when there are westerly winds, but poor luck with the herrings. I do not believe that the wind has much to do with fishing on the smaller lakes and rivers. I have fished on the lake front for the last twenty years and have found that the best fishing is in cloudy weather and when the water is slightly dirty. Yours truly,

ANDREW E. BRODIN.

[Editor's Note: This sounds to us like the real dope on lake front fishing. It corresponds with our own observations and those of many old lake fronters. And by the way, brothers, if this weather keeps up it will be only a few weeks until we can get out the li'l ol' pole and beat it for the piers for a mess of perch. Doesn't that listen good? We'll say it does!]

DE PALMA CLIPS WORLD RECORD

Daytona, Fla., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—Going north on Daytona beach, the fastest speedway in the world, Ralph De Palma broke the world's automobile speed record this morning. He sped one mile in 24.02 seconds, as against the mark of 25.40 set up by the late Wild Bob Burman on the same course April 25, 1911. In attaining this tremendous speed De Palma hit a pace of 149.87 miles per hour, or 215.65 feet per second. At the same time he established a new kilometer record of 15.86 as against Burman's figure of 15.88.

It was the original intention to have De Palma immediately take another mile in the opposite direction in order to satisfy the rules of Europe, which provide for trials in both directions. A broken valve spring prevented this, but as soon as the damages were repaired he made the mile going south in 24.37. Another trial was well under the old record.

Chicago Fighters Will Be in Bouts Tomorrow

Emil Thiry is chaperoning half a dozen fighters to a western city tonight, where they are billed to appear in the ring tomorrow night. Emil will send his star welterweight, Jock Malone, against Steve Choynski. Other bouts on the bill are Earl Puryear vs. Frankie Callahan and Kid Hogan vs. Bud Clancy. The three bouts are scheduled to go ten round each.

BOXING BILLS WILL HAVE A HEARING AT SPRINGFIELD FEB. 26

"Tribune" Decisions

Decisions of "The Tribune" representatives are:

At Hot Springs—Jimmy Hanlon stopped Jack Reed [3].

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 12.—Senator Charles Wood, chairman of the license and miscellany committee, today announced that his committee will hold a public hearing on boxing bills Feb. 26 at 8 p. m.

"We will be ready then," said Senator Wood, who two years ago opposed the bill, but this year is more friendly, "to hear all arguments for and against the passage of a measure legalizing boxing."

Sentiment regarding boxing is growing more favorable and it is believed now that the chances of passing a bill containing proper safeguards against the professional promoter are good.

Boxing matches in Peoria on Monday night were attended by several members of Gov. Lowden's cabinet and other state officials. They brought back accounts of the sportsmanlike manner in which the matches were conducted and reported that they enjoyed the display of the manly art.

M'GUIRE WINS AT GREAT LAKES

Great Lakes, Ill., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—Before entering the outgoing detention camp to take his release from the navy McGuire, hospital school, defeated Mizerka, also of the hospital school, in the feature bout of Lieut. Kennedy's boxing entertainment in Camp Perry this afternoon. The boys had fought four draws previous to McGuire's win today. Although Mizerka sent home several telling blows, McGuire had the best of each round with his clever style. The loser will defend the welterweight belt now that McGuire has received his discharge.

KENTUCKY RACE TRACKS MERGED

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 12.—Spring racing dates at Douglas park, one of the important racing plants of the country, will be canceled and nine days added to the spring meeting at Churchill Downs, its sister track here, where both the Kentucky handicap and Derby will be run.

This announcement was made by Charles F. Grainger, president of the New Louisville Jockey club, who also said that at a conference here today the proposed merger had been accomplished. The tracks had passed under control of a syndicate largely composed of Kentuckians.

The Derby, it was announced, will carry $20,000 and the handicap $10,000 in added money.

Hebrew Institute Five Wins Semi-Final Game

Hebrew institute won a semi-final game in the 135 pound basketball tourney on the C. H. I. floor last night, defeating Kosciuszko Senecas, 46 to 16. Fine, a star guard in the 1918 Central A. A. U. championships, caged eight baskets and Stein added seven. The final games are billed Saturday.

Kansas City Schmelzers Stop Great Lakes, 45-39

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 12.—Great Lakes naval station basketball team suffered its first defeat after a string of seventeen victories here tonight, when the Schmelzers of Kansas City won by 45 to 39. Great Lakes had a 10 point lead at one stage of the second half, but the Schmelzers rallied and overcame it.

BASKETBALL

IN THE only prep basketball games scheduled on the school holiday, Evanston captured two games and lost one to Morton at Evanston Y. M. C. A. The heavy and lightweight encounters, which were Suburban league games went to the home teams, but only after hard, scrappy play.

The heavy game was an Evanston victory, 16 to 10, after Morton had led, 6 to 4, at the half. Evanston's team play, which won the league trophy in 1918, was not in evidence in the first half, when Kubelsky, Morton's star, ran the floor almost at will. Evanston 135 pounders won by 22 to 19, Jaros enabling Morton to make a good fight by his expert foul shooting.

The bantamweight game was a stalemate through one overtime period of five minutes, 4 to 4, after the second half ended with that score, but Franburg of Morton won the game with a free throw in the second extra period, 5 to 4. Lineups:

By agreement, an extra period was not played in yesterday's bantamweight game of the Catholic league, and St. Philips tied St. Ignatius, 7 to 7, at the latter's gym. Both teams have unbeaten records. They will replay next week. The home five led, 6 to 0, on star work by Campbell in the first five minutes, but the half ended, 6 to 6, Kelly starring for St. Philip.

LOOMIS IN TRAINING FOR ATHLETIC MEET IN NEW YORK FEB. 25

Jo Loomis of the C. A. A., one of the most versatile athletes ever developed in the west, has resumed training for the twelfth annual indoor games of the Millrose A. A. to be held in New York City on Feb. 25.

The Cherry Circle athlete has just been released from the army and will need but little training to fit himself for the eastern events. Loomis will run in the seventy yard dash and seventy yard high and low hurdles. He has won at least one of these events in former games and officials of the eastern club, realizing his drawing qualities, will pay all his traveling expenses.

Has Splendid Record.

Before he entered the service Loomis was looked upon as one of the best all around athletes in the country. He was a former national champion in the sprints and in other championships seldom failed to score points. He was a member of the American Olympic team which competed at Stockholm, and he still believes he can compete with the top notchers.

Frank Loomis, a brother of Jo, has been invited to run in the seventy yard low hurdles. Frank is the national 220 yard low hurdle champion, but he is just recovering from influenza and has not made up his mind to take the trip.

Other Westerners to Go.

Aside from the Loomis brothers the west will be represented in other events. Joie Ray of the L. A. C. will try to win the third and final leg on the Rodman Wanamaker trophy. This prize becomes the property of any runner who wins the mile and one-half run three times. Joie has won the event for the last two years and is determined to win this year. The fleet tri-color club runner has been training conscientiously for the last month with this race in view. Although he should not meet with serious opposition, Ray does not intend to take any chances.

Mathisen to Skate Races at Eau Claire on Sunday

Oscar Mathisen, the Norwegian skater, will leave tomorrow for Eau Claire, Wis., where he will compete in handicap races on Sunday. Efforts had been made to match Mathisen with Art Staff, but the latter is on a tour with the Great Lakes hockey team and cannot fill the engagement.

MAROONS DRUB PURDUE FIVE AT LAFAYETTE, 20-11

Chicago Tossers Outclass Boilermakers; Score 12-2 in First Half.

Lafayette, Ind., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—Chicago strengthened its grip on the Big Ten basketball championship tonight by defeating Purdue, 20 to 11, in a hard fought game in which the Maroons at all times had the upper hand. Soon after the start Hinkle caged a goal and Chicago added four more points before Purdue registered a goal. The first half ended, 12 to 2, in Chicago's favor.

Seldom has Purdue been so completely outclassed at home. In the second half Gorgas and Birkhoff, who starred all the game, resumed their bombardment of Purdue's basket. In a desperate rally the Boilermakers managed to make a few points, but Chicago's five man defense baffled them consistently. Purdue could not connect with the basket because of the consistent preparedness of the Maroons' defense.

Purdue was handicapped by the absence of Campbell, regular center, who was only able to play a few minutes of the last half, and Capt. Markley's injured foot, which interfered seriously with his work. Lineup:

3 CUSHION TITLE MATCH TONIGHT

One year ago Augie Kieckhefer wrested the world's three cushion championship from Alfredo De Oro of New York. Since then he has held it against all challengers. Tonight the veteran Cuban again will tackle the local southpaw for the Brunswick emblem, at Recital hall, 431 South Wabash avenue, the first block being 50 points. The winner will get 65 per cent of the receipts and the purse of $500.

Augie has been made a 2 to 1 favorite in view of De Oro's play in his exhibition match with Morin. Charley Peterson of St. Lou's will referee, and Robert Sweitzer will introduce the players at 8 o'clock.

The seating capacity of the hall is a little over 400 and there has been a brisk demand for seats. These will be on sale at Mussey's Monroe room until 6:30 o'clock tonight.

AT THE BILLIARD ROOMS.

Lundgren won his eighth game in ten starts in the Chicago league, defeating Thurnblud [42], 42 to 36, at Menk & Reading's in sixty-six innings. Lundgren had a high run of 6, his opponent getting a 5.

At Bensinger's Monroe street room Conklin defeated Capron [54], 48 to 30, in fifty-six innings, each having a high run of 5.

RUB PAIN AWAY WITH "ST. JACOB'S LINIMENT"
Best Liniment for Rheumatism, Backache, Lumbago, Neuralgia, Pains, Strains, Sprains
Rub any pain away in a moment! Pain is the easiest thing in the world to stop. Please don't continue to suffer; it's so needless. Get from your druggist the small trial bottle of "St. Jacobs Liniment;" pour a little in your hand and gently rub the sore spot, and instantly—yes, immediately—all pain, ache and soreness is gone.

"St. Jacobs Liniment" conquers pain—It is perfectly harmless and doesn't burn or discolor the skin. Nothing else gives relief so quickly. It never fails to stop pain instantly, whether in the face, head or any part of the body. Don't suffer! Rub your pain away.

Popular Story by Louis Joseph Vance Makes Screen Debut

"THE FALSE FACES."
Produced by Paramount.
Supervised by Thomas H. Ince.
Presented at the Ziegfeld.
THE CAST:
The Lone Wolf .....Henry B. Walthall
Cecelia Brook .....Mary Anderson
Karl Eckstrom ..... Len Chaney
Ralph Crane ..... Milton Ross
Lieut. Thackeray .....Thornton Edwards
Submarine captain ....William Bowman
Submarine lieutenant ..... Carey McGary
Blansop .....Ernest Tasque

By Mae Tinée.

The many who followed "The False Faces," by Louis Joseph Vance, as it proceeded on its serial way through a weekly publication will be anxious to see the picture. Whether or not they will be glad or sorry after they have seen it is rather a matter for conjecture.

To me the production was fairly engrossing—but the story was absorbingly so. The characters of the printed page were vividly real—entrancingly mysterious. Those of the screen managed to hold my interest pretty well. That's the difference. Just the same, it's not fair to be too squeamish, for "The False Faces" is well directed and for the most part well acted.

It must be said that Henry B. Walthall in the character of "The Lone Wolf," former thief and horror of the Paris police, brought by the war into the fold of the U. S. secret service, is not the Walthall of the Griffith administration. He is skillful still, but not so keenly alive to subtleties as once he was. And the way he wears his hair is more suggestive of a church deacon in the real estate business than the romantic person of fiction he impersonates. He should see his barber.

Mary Anderson is terribly conscious of the camera in her first scenes, but warms up and does really creditable work toward the last. Lon Chaney as the "blonde beast"—thief, general all around crook, and at the time of the picture in the German secret service—is fine. There's a bit of splendid acting done by Ernest Tasque as the effeminate and dissimulating secretary to the head of the U. S. secret service. There's lots of action and a great fight.

Considerable more could, I think, have been made of a picture with such a story for basis. Considerable has been made of it. And so I leave "The False Faces" to your consideration.

NOTES OF SCREENDOM

Did you see that story in the paper about William S. Hart? Where he said he was going to marry and leave pictures 'n everything? Well, I wanted to know the truth, so I wired him. Here's his answer:

MY TALK AIN'T EQUAL TO MY FEELIN'S SO I CAN'T SAY MUCH ON A SUBJECT SO NEAR AND DEAR TO ME [STOP] THERE IS NO TRUTH IN THE RUMOR YET NONE WHATEVER BUT I'M SURE WILLIN' [STOP] I STILL SIT AT THE SAME PLACE AN' WATCH THE SAME STAR [STOP] SO FAR I HAVE BEEN PASSED UP BUT I MANAGE TO KEEP GOIN' YOU KNOW IF IT WASN'T FOR BLACK CANYONS WE WOULDNT THINK SO MUCH OF THE SUN [STOP] YOU KNOW THERE AIN'T MUCH USE FEELIN' LIKE A WITHERED LEAF HANGIN' BY A BROKEN STEM IT DON'T GET YOU MUCH NOT ANY BUT IF A GIRL EVER DOES OWN UP SHE CARES FOR ME AN' I CARE TOO I'LL FEEL GOD SURE MUST HAVE TOUCHED HER WITH HIS HAND. BILL HART.

P. S. I'M NOT QUITTIN' THE SCREEN BUT MY PINTO HORSE SAYS THAT DON'T MATTER ANY TO NO ONE.

I'm going to find out who that "same star" he's feelin' like a withered leaf about is, if it's the last thing I do, so help me, Pinto!

Tribune Cook Book

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Potatoes and Cheese.

This is the time of year when potato cookery leaves much to be desired. At two dinners in public places on successive days last week I got exceedingly poor potato. In one case the potatoes had been stewed, but little or no pains had been taken to season them, therefore they were a soggy mess, the worse for being lukewarm.

In the other case the potatoes had been sliced and baked with cheese, more than enough to flavor them well, but the cheese had needed flavoring itself, and so was unfitted to flavor anything. It would have done fairly well for a Welsh rabbit with a toning up by good butter, milk, and some made mustard.

It is one of the exceedingly perplexing things that some stores buy just the same brands and qualities of cheese as others where good cheese, good enough to eat plain, may always be purchased. In the first case some carelessness of handling causes the most rapid deterioration in flavor. Cheese should be stored and handled as carefully as butter.

If cheese is to be used with potato at this time of year it should only be used in dry effects like stuffed baked potatoes or mashed potato and then only a little grated. Mashed potato well whipped may be creamy, but not wet, and if it must wait on a delayed dinner one way to keep it attractive is to put it into a buttered baking dish, grate some cheese over it, and bake it for a few minutes. It will keep hot for fifteen more easily. Mashed potato may be baked in muffin tins, a tablespoon of grated cheese being put in each place first.

Soldiers Demand Vocation Books

Books on vocations are much more in demand at military camps than works of a lighter nature. C. R. Rodin, librarian of the Chicago public library, who presided at a conference of thirty camp librarians from the Chicago area, embracing states between Ohio and Colorado, announced this at the Hotel La Salle yesterday.

REAL LOVE STORIES

Do you know a real love story—one that is stranger than fiction? It is the idea that is wanted. No attention will be paid to literary style. "The Tribune" will pay $5 for every story published. No manuscripts returned. Address Doris Blake, "The Tribune," Chicago.

The Man of Her Dreams.

She lived six years ago in faraway Russia and was highly cultured, bright, and attractive. Like most of her people, she was visionary and could for hours lose herself in dreams. She dreamt of a future that would grant her all the desire of her young, romantic heart.

There were many men to love her, but none of them resembled her ideal. The romance came into her life when she joined an American correspondence club. She happened to get an interesting correspondent, and what he might have lacked her imagination richly supplied. She fell hopelessly in love with this man whom her own thoughts had created. She dreamed of him by night and by day.

The war broke out and the revolution shook her poor country. As life was growing harder and harder over there, her longing for her American friend had the better of her. In spite of wartime and her by no means unlimited means, she crossed the sea and landed on a beautiful spring morning in New York.

The first thing she did was to write to him. Never for an instant did she doubt that he would be overjoyed at her unexpected arrival.

The man had during all these past years seemed interested. In a humorous, half-serious way, he had responded to her warm letters, perhaps just for the fun of it.

After the girl's letter had gone she waited with a throbbing heart for a telegram. She had to wait three weeks and then a letter came, a distant letter, expressing his extreme surprise. O, so different from those letters he used to write.

First she was hurt. Then after a while she was glad. This was just in keeping with what she had thought her ideal would do. How could she have thought that he would jump at an adventure like that?

Like the foolish girl she was she invested her last money in a railroad ticket. The railroad carried her to the far away western town where he lived. He was a doctor. On the day of her arrival she invented some ailment and consulted him. She aroused his interest. She never gave her right name, but she told him she was from that Russian city to which he had directed scores of letters.

She did not know whether he suspected anything. There was, however, no doubt that he felt happy to be conquered, at least he told her so on their wedding day. "I might have known," he said, "that there is no use in a man saying, 'I won't,' if the woman says 'I will.'" B. N.

DORIS BLAKE'S ANSWERS

Twice Too Many, Tommy.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a boy of 17 years and I have never been interested in any particular girl until last summer. I met a very nice girl. I met her at the end of the summer, so I didn't have much time to get very well acquainted with her. I found out her address from one of my fellow friends. Would it be wrong for me to write to her and next summer if I become better acquainted would it be all right if I kissed her twice? TOMMY."

Well, Tommy, you suttinly do believe in preparedness, I'd say. Beginning on your summer kissing campaign while the winds blow with a cold February sting! But such is youth and a few ifs in the way are never discouraging. You might write the girl a note, if you wish. But don't let her suspect your kissing intent. It would mean sure death to your budding young romance. Then when next summer rolls around don't let her suspect them either or she might attribute to an honest enough (perhaps) osculatory nature a familiarity she couldn't forgive. In other words, Thomas, leave the kisses out of the plans.

A Friend in Need

Sally Joy Brown

I want to be the medium through which the friend in deed and the friend in need may be brought together. It may be you have some discarded article which has not outgrown its usefulness that will make some less fortunate one happy, and you would gladly give it if you knew how to go about it. Write to me and I shall be only too happy to be of service to you. Please write on one side of the paper.

When information is wanted by mail a stamped, addressed envelope should accompany the request. Please do not send parcels to "The Tribune," but write for the address of the applicant and send direct.

Poor in Arithmetic.

"I am poor in arithmetic and wonder if some one would give me a little private instruction. I am so anxious to get ahead. I would do any good service in return. PETER J."

I am holding Peter's address. Perhaps some older boy who is an expert in mathematics would be willing to coach our little friend.

Magazines of Sport.

"I am a crippled boy, 13, who has to stay in the house during most of the winter days. I would like to have some baseball or other sporting magazines from some kind readers who have no further use for them. J. C."

I am sure some devotee of baseball will have magazines to spare for this boy.

Nobody to Play With.

"I am a little boy 12 years old. My father is a soldier who has been wounded and gassed. We have not been in Chicago long and I have nobody to play with. I spend all my time reading or painting. If anybody has any books or painting things they do not care for I should like to have them. I am very fond of dogs and if some one has a small dog they do not want I would be glad to have it for a pet. I could call for it. WILLIS B."

Who has some books or paints for a lonely little boy? And is there a dog who would be happy with a 12 year old master?

Bright Sayings of Children

"The Tribune" will pay $1 in thrift stamps for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Please write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, "Tribune," Chicago.

The nurse was going to give Gretchen a bath and as the bathroom was chilly was letting the hot water run into the tub first. Gretchen, watching the steam rise, said: "It is pretty hot, isn't it?"

The nurse answered: "Yes, but we will have the cold water later."

Gretchen with a quivering chin said: "I'd like to have my hots and colds waters mixed, please." D. R. H.

Elizabeth had broken her precious dolly and was inconsolable. The entire family united in trying to cheer her up and make her forget her sorrow. One day soon after the catastrophe her mother found her in tears and, putting her arms about her, said: "Tell mother what's the trouble, dear." To which the little one made answer: "O, mother, I can't unthink about my dolly." M. O.

On my little daughter's birthday I entertained a number of tots in honor of the occasion. One little lad living next door had been invited. He would give his mother no rest until he brought a gift over. So she finally consented and let him bring it over before the party. He knocked at the door, I responded, and he said: "Here's a birthday present for Lucile." I said: "All right." Then he added: "Is Lucile going to have a birthday party?" "Yes," I said. Then he added: "May I come in and see it now?" O. P.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

INEZ: YOU WEIGH OVER TWENty pounds too much. It's you for the reducing diet and exercise instruction, which you may have in return for a stamped, addressed envelope. Stop the candy eating. Two pounds of chocolates a week is enough for your entire family. Certainly that and the pastry and the other rich foods contribute to your present unfashionable figure. Though it gets in its good work unseen, the part a good corset plays in reducing a stout figure is much too important to be overlooked. Economize on something else and have a good corset made. It wouldn't take you long to get a good corset on the money you might save on candy.

FRECKLES: ARE THE FRECKles little ones or big ones? Lemon juice will often rid a face of the light freckles, while it requires a stronger application for the large, stubborn ones. I have a formula for a splendid freckle remover for the latter kind and also printed instructions on how to get rid of blackheads. Please send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

SYRUP OF FIGS FOR CROSS, SICK FEVERISH CHILD

Harmless "fruit laxative" to clean tender liver and bowels.

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," in a few hours all the clogged waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, and they become tightly packed, liver sluggish and stomach disordered.

When cross, feverish, restless, if tongue is coated, then give this delicious "fruit laxative," and in a few hours it, and it can not cause injury, no difference what ails your little one, if full of colds or a sore throat, diarrhea, stomach-ache, bad breath, remember, a gentle "inside cleaning" should always be the first treatment given. Full direction for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit figs now sold. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then see carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Co." Hand back with contempt any other kind.

Delegates Pledge Aid for $13,000,000 Presbyterian Fund

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

A thousand Presbyterians, delegates to the new era conference representing eight states, stood with clasped hands in front of the pulpit, in the aisles, and circling the auditorium of the Church of the Covenant, Belden avenue and North Halsted street, last night and prayed and pledged they would bring to success the big program of the new era movement, which includes the raising for benevolent purposes next year of over $13,000,000.

It was the final session of a two days' conference in which all phases of the program, financial, educational, and spiritual, had been considered. Dr. Howard Agnew Johnston was general chairman of the conference. H. P. Crowell presided last evening.

Between the two chief addresses the audience was requested to honor the name of Abraham Lincoln by standing and singing "America."

Dr. W. H. Foulkes, general secretary of the new era movement, said the 50 cents in the estimate of the total of $13,014,339.50 should be retained for, he said, "the carefully prepared items which are needed for the fields indicated summed up that exact amount. Getting the last 50 cents is essential to success."

The various boards and objects to which the total is to be devoted are as follows: Foreign board, including the women's boards, $4,286,679; home boards, $4,051,550.50; returning soldiers and sailors, $500,000; Protestant churches in the war zone, $500,000; ministerial relief and sustentation, $894,900; general education, $915,000; publication and Sunday school work, $495,000; church extension, $467,010; freedmen, $400,000; temperance, $80,000; men's work, $17,000; new era movement, 1918-1919, $125,000; 1919-1920, $212,200.

LINCOLN

Boston, Mass., Feb. 12.—Gov. Frank O. Lowden of Illinois delivered the Lincoln day address today before the Middlesex club at the Hotel Somerset.

Lincoln's birthday was commemorated in song and speech at the Illinois Athletic club last night at a military dinner for the returning soldiers and sailors. Capt. Shelby Chapman, six times decorated for gallantry and a former University of Chicago student, spoke of the spirited coöperation of the French with Gen. Pershing's forces. Gen. LeRoy T. Steward of the Illinois reserve militia made an appeal for a large standing army and a strong navy. Quin O'Brien recalled the characteristics of Lincoln and attacked bolshevism. He attributed the assassination of Lincoln to the same radical elements.

Other speakers were President J. A. Roesch, John F. Voight, Robert E. Cantwell, Gen. Chauncey B. Baker, Capt. Fred D. Bassett, Lieut. Emil Ricaud, Fred W. Bentley, Col. J. C. Wilson, and Capt. D. C. Shoemaker.

"Lincolnism or Bolshevism—which?" was the subject R. M. Wanamaker, associate judge of the Supreme court of Ohio, chose for his address yesterday at the Hamilton club. He quoted Lincoln on the civil war, saying it was fought "To clear the paths of laudible pursuits for all and to afford an unfettered start and a fair chance in the race of life."

"Abraham Lincoln was something more than a character in history; he was a true, real American man," said Dr. Shailer Mathews, dean of the divinity school, University of Chicago, at the memorial Lincoln birthday service of the Grand Army Hall and Memorial association. George E. Ganiere, sculptor, presented Memorial hall with a bronze bust of Lincoln.

The United Daughters of 1812 held a patriotic musical program, with speaking, in the Hotel LaSalle. The Chicago Culture club also met at the LaSalle for a Lincoln day program.

SOME SHOW

Players from virtually every entertainment at the downtown theaters will participate at the special performance to be staged at the Colonial next Sunday afternoon as a testimonial to Lou M. Houseman, one of the most widely known veterans of theatrical affairs in Chicago.

The program, as given tentative form yesterday, carries the names of Barney Bernard of "Business Before Pleasure"; Frank Craven of "Going Up"; Will Rogers, Miss Marilynn Miller, W. C. Fields, Miss Ann Pennington, Eddie Cantor, Frank Carter, and the chorus from "The Ziegfeld Follies"; Eugene Cowles and the mannequins from "Chu Chin Chow"; Miss Elizabeth Brice, Will Morrissey, and the team of Boyle and Brazil of "The Overseas Revue"; T. Roy Barnes and Victor Moore of "See You Later"; Mitzi and Robert Emmett Keane of "Head Over Heels"; Mlle. Tavie Belge, Miss Louise Groody, and Hal Skelley of "Fiddlers Three"; and Miss Adele Ritchie of "The Masquerader."

In addition, the sponsors of the affair announce, there are three "star acts" yet to be made known. It should be an eventful afternoon.

At least four of the performers are scheduled for rôles they have never attempted before. Mitzi and Will Rogers will make their debut as interpreters of their own ideas of Shakespeare, presenting the balcony scene from "Romeo and Juliet" (rewritten by themselves, as "the Shakespeare Blues"), with Mitzi as a diminutive Romeo and Rogers as a possibly stately Juliet. Miss Pennington, who dances ordinarily, will essay a singing part for the first time in public, and Cantor, who sings, will be seen in a dramatic sketch of his own devising.

The arrangement whereby the National Education association obtained the Auditorium for its approaching convention has made necessary a curious schedule of performances of "Chu Chin Chow" for week after next. The show will be banished from the playhouse on the nights of Feb. 25, 26, and 27.

GOOD MINSTRELS

Despite heroic work by the management to keep the didoes a dark secret, some folks learned that the New York Syncopated Orchestra would be in Orchestra hall last night. A good time was had by those who were there; and I believe the hall will be jammed when the orchestra returns—in April, if plans go through. The orchestra is not syncopated, of course: it syncopates as it goes along; and it went along on this occasion with so much unction and zip that those who went were sick with regret that all the seats were not in use.

In makeup, the orchestra is something of a throwback, I infer, to the beginnings of blackface minstrelsy—the days of Dumbledon's Serenaders and the Christy troupes of legend and tradition, if not of history. The entertainment of last night suggested what is still called the "first part," although far less formal than the ordered and balanced crescent staged by the Dockstaders, the Primroses, and other burnt-cork entrepreneurs in memory. Violins, cellos, and basses there were, with banjos, banjos, and banjos, and a little brass; a piano on either flank, and drums with trimmings. Six or eight men were there to sing; and, then, everybody in the orchestra sang. Will Marion Cook conducted; but he was not uppish about his job, and at times turned it over to others.

What did they play? Well, some Brahms, and some Dvořák, among other things, including Negro, negroid, and nigger tunes. One man pumped a sinister sliphorn, and elicited a lovely, warm tone from it. A lady named Mazie Mullins was just as good on a saxaphone. Quartets sang: not since the days of Fiske's cantors had I heard anything so good in kind as one quartet in Burleigh's transcription of a real camp-meeting tune, "It's Me, O Lord!" Of formal, planned comedy there was little save when the timpani-boy was put to the fore for an exhibition of third-rail jazzbo; and he was a revelation.

The musical quality of the proceedings was distinctly good: the strings were in tune, and of fine tone; Pitch was the middle-name of all who took part; and through it all ran the amazing Negro feeling for rhythm and pulse and life.

A good show, this; and it is a pity that the public was not let in on it.

FASHION'S BLUE BOOK

Trade Mark Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

BY CORINNE LOWE.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—A friend of ours has just stepped off a boat from France with a Premet coat of black velours de laine. It is made with a perfectly straight, unwaisted line and it has a collar of black fur. But the outstanding feature is row after row of black silk braid.

That the Paris designer is braiding his coats as much as a little German fraulein her hair is evidenced by another foreign coat shown here today. This is a spring model of beige cloth with collar, sleeve insets, and long revers of blue taffeta. Shaped pieces on either side of the skirt are finished with narrow braiding punctuated by tiny, self-covered buttons, a treatment which is echoed on the sleeves.

But this is not all. It is a wasted coat which has no waistcoat this year, and so we have as the final touch a waistcoat of silk canvas echoed in the narrow edge of the collar.

Teachers' Chorus on Sunday.

The Chicago Teachers' chorus, under O. E. Robinson, will give a concert at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon in Lane Technical High school for the Ella Flagg Young memorial. Laura Earnist-Hamblen, Ethel Calkins, and Florence Castle-Klose will take part.

Church Hikers Save Three from River

The All Around club of Emmanuel Baptist church, 2320 Michigan avenue, out on a hike yesterday about thirty strong, arrived at the Des Plaines river at Riverside just in time to find two boys struggling in the water. Robert Lundy of 322 East Twenty-fifth street, rushed to their rescue. The ice broke with him and all three were in the water. Edgar Lundy, a Boy Scout, younger brother of Robert, effected a rescue, Boy scout fashion, he was traveling with a rope. Throwing the rope to them he hauled the three out, one at a time.

OBITUARY

DR. PAUL CARUS, editor of the Open Court and the Monist, died Tuesday night at his residence in La Salle. Dr. Carus was born in Ilsenburg, Germany, on July 18, 1852. He graduated from the University of Strasbourg in 1876 and obtained the Ph. D. at the University of Tubingen. He came to America in the early '80s. Making Women "At Home" In the Financial District

La Salle Street has long been regarded as a man's street just as State Street is thought of primarily as a woman's thoroughfare.

The increased participation of women in business matters and their more active interest in investments, resulting from their liberal participation in the Liberty Loans, is changing this situation. Women are now more frequent visitors in La Salle Street.

Halsey, Stuart & Co.

with offices in the heart of the financial district, has for a number of years been privileged to serve an increasing number of women investors. To meet the larger demands now prevailing we have organized a which is prepared to render a complete and individual service to women. Our offerings are confined to safe bonds for investment, many of which, at present prices, yield from 5½% to 7%. You will find here a cordial and interested consideration of your investment problems in surroundings that are pleasant, comfortable, and easily accessible.

We invite you to avail yourself of these facilities. If you cannot call, we shall be pleased to send you our booklet, "Choosing Your Investment Banker," which will serve as an introduction to our house and the facilities which we have to offer. Ask for booklet T. Telephone Wabash 6900.

As an ideal investment for a woman's funds, we recommend and offer West Penn Power Co. First Mortgage 6% Bonds. Price 100 and interest yielding 6%.

The Breadth of Appeal

Nothing gives much better indication of the breadth of appeal of this great Store than the excellent values it offers in the everyday necessities of life. These values are accentuated by the February Sales, in which the most exclusive merchandise is marked at less than regular prices—as in the case of Shoes. Few things are more revealing of the strength of our merchandising organization.

For Charm at Housework

Select from the Dresses Offered in the February Sale

THESE illustrated, for instance, show the prettiness that even the House Dress may have, and to indicate the pleasure they will bring to those women who take advantage of the February Sale prices.

At $4.50—The practical Dress in the center is of colored chambray finished with white piping, and novelty pocket flaps, cuffs, and collar of white pique.

Coverall Aprons, $1.65—In both gingham and percale, are a save to better frocks.

Here Is a Forcible Demonstration of Our Supremacy in the Shoe Markets

Women's Fine Quality Footwear

Priced for the Semi-Annual Sale at $7.75 and $9.75

HERE are many pairs of fine, seasonable Shoes in lasts and styles for every preference—in sizes for every foot—and at prices for every purse. And they will sell rapidly when women see what really good values they represent at these unusually low prices—$7.75 and $9.75. All have been recently received and the size ranges are complete, but early selection is advised, as a brisk selling is expected. These styles are typical of those offered:

At $7.75—Allover black Glazed Kid Boot with a two-inch Cuban heel. High top, narrow toe. An exceedingly dressy Boot.

At $9.75—A fine brown Kid Welt Boot, two-inch Cuban heel. A Boot which is very much in demand at this time.

At $7.75—A medium shade tan Russia and also a dark shade Russia walking Boot.

At $7.75—Two Oxfords, one in a black mat kid, the other a dark tan. These two models, which are unusually attractive, may be worn effectively with spats.

More Furniture Arrives

HUNDREDS who attended the opening of the Sale of Sample Furniture from three of the leading makers in the country found to their satisfaction that quality Furniture could be purchased at a moderate outlay. The Sale continues today with replenished stocks. The opportunity is most timely to furnish the home at a decided saving.

Eighth and Ninth Floors.

A Return to Elegance

A RETURN to elegance is a return to Lace, better and more beloved, even if a bit scarcer than it ever was before, because the looms of northern France were so long idle.

Fashion's forecast of Spring frocks speaks of the use of "Lace in profusion." Margot and Chantilly Laces are being developed into filmy evening frocks, and Parisian ateliers say black Lace gowns will be smartest for Spring evening wear.

Many Laces so valuable as to be worthy of being heirlooms, and all of the newest weaves, are here.

First and Second Floors, South Rooms.

Knitted Apparel in Vogue at Palm Beach

THE fashionable world is not happy to be idle after the late dextrous knitting of khaki and blue yarns. Now whole Motor Capes are knitted; Sweaters are being knitted on the lines of the jaunty box jackets; the vest, so often the accessory of any new Spring costume from a cape to a suit, is most beautifully developed from Yarn, frequently in fancy stitches.

All these stitches are taught by our instructor in the Fancy Goods Section, where there are many models of knitted garments, and Yarns in all the newest shades.

Third Floor, South Room.

Buster Brown "Himself"

and his dog, "Tige," will hold receptions here today and Friday at 11 a. m. and 3 p. m. and will give souvenirs to all girls and boys. Lower subway.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1919. * * 17

FINDS $1,500,000 OVERLOOKED IN CITY'S POCKETS

Controller Didn't Get It in His Initial Draft of Budget.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

The city controller tenders a Lincoln's birthday present to the people of Chicago. It is a paltry $1,500,000.

He didn't know he had it, but he went through all the city's pockets—and there it was.

The controller thought he only had $1,267,221 in miscellaneous revenue for 1919. That is what he told the council in submitting his annual budget. Since he has discovered that the miscellaneous revenue will be $8,846,041. Therefore the $1,558,820 or 21 per cent additional.

It was all a mistake in estimating, which is excusable. For example, the controller in his first estimate omitted any income from saloon licenses. In his second he reckons there will be $1,100,000 which the saloons will pay the city this year. But the controller should not be criticized too harshly for that oversight.

Closing Talk Bewildering.

There has been so much talk about closing the grog shops it has bewildered one, so it may have been necessary to go up and down the streets to ascertain beyond a doubt whether the saloons were open or closed. It would have been a much more serious error to have estimated an income from saloons if they had all gone out of business. The error was on the side of prudence.

Besides the smaller the city's income can be made to appear the larger the tax increase which can be asked of the legislature. The estimate of $1,300,000 is conservative. A hopeful person could have made it larger.

From cleaning the right of ways of the surface lines the controller estimates $272,711 for 1919 in his second estimate. That source of income was not mentioned in his first estimate.

But that is easily explained. "Your mayor" on Nov. 18 in an appeal to the council to forfeit the franchises of the surface lines recited that the franchise ordinance says that "the company shall sweep . . . that portion of each of the streets occupied by its right of way." Then he adds: "Who will deny that the street railway companies have defaulted in many of the expressed requirements of the 1907 ordinances?"

Led Astray by Mayor.

The controller perhaps got the impression that the city did not clean the street car tracks and that the companies pay for the service. That is the fact, so the mayor must have unintentionally led the controller astray on this source of income. It was just an accident, although there should be a copy of the contract between the city and surface lines in the controller's own office.

But that omission also can be explained. The question of income from fire insurance of foreign companies was considered at length by the council finance committee. An expert named Seeley told the committee the city was not getting all it should. He offered to get the right amount on a percentage basis.

All or Nothing.

The committee asked him to confer with Corporation Counsel Ettelson, and Seeley balked at working with Ettelson. Nothing was done to obtain the extra amount of insurance. So it may be that somebody in the city hall decided that it was unfair to collect only part of the insurance income and that it would be better to collect it all or nothing.

Another item in the second estimate, which does not appear in the first, is $94,424 from the harbor commission. That is not at all difficult to explain. It may be the city is to adopt a policy of free rents on the municipal pier this summer, and also on other dock property.

Still another mysterious item to show only in the second estimate is $69,973 in reimbursements from the vehicle tax. There was every reason to overlook that because the motor club recently threatened to get an injunction to prevent the diversion of large parts of the vehicle tax from street repairs. Another new item is for $63,891. That error could be elucidated, but space forbids.

Revises Up and Down.

Altogether the controller estimates $1,196,669 from sources in his second statement, which were not credited with a dollar in his first. But he also revises his estimates from sources named in both statements. He makes decreases in certain items totaling $288,703 and increases in others aggregating $133,852—or a net decrease of $351,849. This subtracted from $1,196,669 leaves—or rather seems to leave—an increase of $1,854,819 in miscellaneous revenue for 1919.

That figure is really hard to explain, because the controller says the total of his first estimate is $7,287,221, and the total of his second is $8,846,041. Therefore the official difference is $1,558,820.

The trouble is that the items in the controller's first statement do not total $7,287,221, but only $6,991,221.

These matters and a proposed decrease of $6,000,000 or more in the corporate appropriations are scheduled for consideration this afternoon by the finance committee, Bureau of Public Efficiency, civic federation, committee of 100, Chicago Real Estate board, Woman's City club, and perhaps one or two more organizations.

A KING tossed away a throne wooing an actress. Scions of wealth have left their paternal mansions for silken tights, and recently an office boy stole a big bunch of Liberty bonds to pile on the altar of love, but it remains for Hamilton Forrest, office boy at the State Council of Defense, to add a new wrinkle to the system of winning favor from a stage favorite.

Hamilton is carrying on his courting—as yet unreciprocated—via the piano.

A week ago Hamilton attended a theater. Out on the stage capered a vision not hard to behold and a leading lady at that. Over the footlights went all of Hamilton's 17 year old affections in a bundle.

The next day, having reported for work, he disappeared. In vain the attachés bellowed "Hamilton." No one responded.

And so it was each day thereafter.

Yesterday a janitor reported some one was "banging on the piano" in a room sometimes used as an auditorium. Attachés investigated. Hamilton was there gazing into space, stopping now and then to jot down some inspired notes.

"I'm writing this music to her," Hamilton admitted. "I wrote her a letter and she wouldn't answer it. I've interpreted her now in music, only it is hard, for she is so beautiful."

Then, turning to the keyboard, Hamilton began playing his "suite" to his stage favorite.

"Just listen to this—'The Dawn,'" he said. "And this—'The Romance,'—isn't it wonderful. I will have 'The Call of the Wild' completed in a few days and then she will receive it."

Hamilton turned and began his ardorous grind of getting "The Call of the Wild" on paper, unmindful of his visitors. They tiptoed out, leaving him to his "wooing."

"It's h—l to be in love," said the janitor who had been eavesdropping. "But if I know anything about music this kid's doing something good.

"It'll be h—l, though," he added, "if this actress lady turns out to have kids as old as he is."

Hamilton admits having had other "musical infatuations." He has been studying at a musical college for three years and plans, if the office boy emoluments continue good, going to London "some day" to finish up.

THIS BURGLAR KINDA CENTERED ON ONE HOUSE

Third Visit Lands the Chloroform Thief in Police Hands.

A vaulting ambition to emulate the deeds of Adam Prochowski, variously known in the public prints as the Gold Coast and the Chloroform burglar, led to John Lock's vaulting into a cell at the Wabash avenue station. His third visit to the flat of Mrs. Edith B. Wood, 4321 South Michigan avenue, proved one too many.

Lock, who lives at 210 East Thirty-seventh street, made his first call in Dec. 10, through a kitchen window. Mrs. Wood was out. He helped himself to $50 in currency, $100 in jewelry, and some keys.

Back Again on Jan. 5.

At midnight of Jan. 5 he returned. This time he entered through the front door, using one of the stolen keys. Mrs. Wood was asleep, but he took the precaution of soaking a handkerchief with ether and placing it over her face. This time he got money, jewelry, and clothing amounting to $400. Again Mrs. Wood notified the police.

Last Tuesday night Mrs. Wood was preparing to retire when she heard a step in the hall. She hid behind a chair. A man entered and walked toward her bedroom. She slipped downstairs and telephoned the Wabash avenue station.

Routed from Under Bed.

Detective Sergeants Ward and Doyle responded and found Lock under the bed. He had a revolver, but he submitted to arrest without resistance.

In his room was found much of Mrs. Wood's stolen property, a $200 steamer rug stolen from the home of Dr. Frank McMahon, a city veterinarian, and unidentified property valued at $1,000.

Suspect Identified by Mrs. N. Frank as Robber

Charles "Buster" Brown, alleged companion of Earl Dear, was booked at the detective bureau last night on a charge of attempted robbery. He was positively identified by Mrs. Nanette Frank, 1730 North La Salle street, as one of three men who attempted to rob her in her home last Friday night.

Five Women Arrested for Picketing Cigar Factory

Five women cigar makers, now on strike, were arrested last night when they attempted to picket the Havana-American company's cigar factory at 319 North Wells street and pass out handbills. They were charged with disorderly conduct.

AN IOWA FARMER ISN'T SOFT MONEY FOR THE CON MEN

A few days ago Frederick Kunz bade adieu to the cows and chickens on his farm at Sioux City, tucked his wallet in his vest pocket, and journeyed to Chicago to see the sights.

"Want to make $5,000?"

"Sure," said Farmer Kunz.

The Greatest Faro Dealer.

"Listen, I'm George Billings, the world's greatest faro dealer. I deal at a millionaire club here. But they've cheated me out of a $12,000 commission, and I want revenge. All I want you to do is to buy $1,000 worth of chips and I'll throw the game to you."

Waddaya Mean, Farmer?

They met—Mr. Kunz, Billings, and his partner, whom he introduced as Everett Moline. They had laid the proposition before Kunz and he had his hand on the wallet, when there suddenly appeared four detectives from Chief Mooney's office, who placed Billings and Moline under arrest as confidence men.

Farmer Kunz had tipped off the police.

GIVE WOMEN IN WISCONSIN VOTE FOR PRESIDENT

Madison, Wis., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—Final passage was given by the upper house of the Wisconsin legislature today to the Coe bill granting the right of suffrage to women in presidential elections. The bill passed the house last week, 80 to 8, and was concurred in by the senate today after a forenoon of debate by a vote of 27 to 4. Those voting in opposition were Senators Benfey, Pilgram, Burke, and Fons. Gov. Philipp is expected to sign the bill.

Passed by Missouri House.

Jefferson City, Mo., Feb. 12.—The bill to give Missouri women the right to vote for presidential electors was passed in the lower house of the Missouri legislature today by a vote of 122 to 8. The suffrage bill recently was placed on the calendar in the senate over an adverse committee report, gaining 18 votes, which, advocates of the proposed measure point out, is exactly the number required to pass it.

EVANSTON COPS FAIL TO SAVE SOPHS FROM LAKE

Dean U. S. Grant of Northwestern university telephoned the Evanston police at 8 o'clock last night:

"Send the reserves to Patten gymnasium. There are a number of young men loose in the campus who threaten damage to property, as well as physical violence."

So Capt. D. J. McHenry hitched up the police flivver, piled in the reserves, and hastened thitherward. At a late hour no arrests had been made, but a number of sophomores in evening dress had been ducked in Lake Michigan. The Patten gymnasium was completely surrounded by freshmen, or frosh, as the college papers have it. The casus belli:

Tuesday evening the frosh gave their annual dance. The sophs locked the doors of the gym and stole all the refreshments. Last night the sophs gave their annual dance. And the frosh—well, you get it, don't you.

Boy Roller Skates Into Auto in Oak Park; May Die

Jimmy O'Brien, the 11 year old son of Leslie O'Brien of 516 Clarence avenue, roller skated into the auto of F. P. Hammon, treasurer of the Otis Elevator company, last night in Oak Park. Mr. Hammon took the boy to the Oak Park hospital. He may die. Mr. Hammon was not held.

Thelma Baum, 15, 4821 Wrightwood avenue, was seriously injured last night when struck by an automobile as she alighted from a Cicero car. Witnesses said the auto was going at high speed.

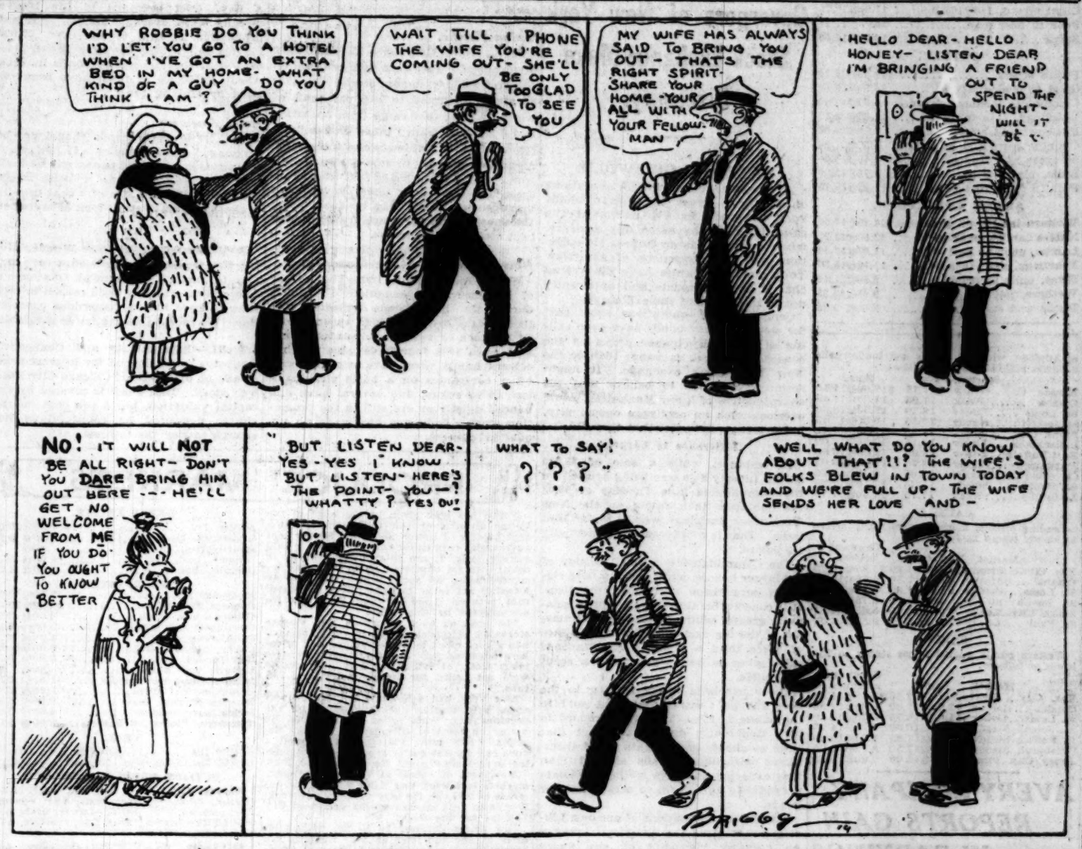

Two Lose Lives When Fire Destroys Opium Den

Thomas Hill, 62 years old, a peddler, and Alfred Plus, 50 years old, a tinner, lost their lives early yesterday in a fire at 1147 West Madison street. They were living over a Chinese laundry, James Kersley, 52 years old, who lived with them, escaped. The fire revealed about $500 worth of opium hidden in the laundry. Kersley said Hill had been running a gambling room.

"Carnation Dan" Now Has Whole Family of Cats

"Carnation Dan" O'Leary, dean of police reporters, has acquired a new hobby—raising cats! Dan is sponsor for five felines now at home in the East Chicago avenue police station. Some time ago a large gray Tom wandered into the station and Dan fed it. Later Tom brought in a wife. Now there are three kittens.

O, MAN!

"IDENTIFY" MAN OF HIGH REPUTE IN $500 LOSS

Police Sure Suspect Is Innocent; Loser Stops Payment.

Mrs. Guy Osborn, 6800 Sheridan road, which is the Stanleigh apartment hotel, went to her strong box in the People's bank vault and got a $500 United States certificate of indebtedness and two $50 Liberty bonds.

She started for her attorney's office, and when she got there found her handbag had been picked as slick as a whistle.

A few minutes later two young men, described as about 16 and 25 years old, appeared at the office of Carl M. White, a loan agent who advertises himself as a buyer of Liberty bonds, at 56 West Washington street. They offered White the certificate.

Payment Stopped.

He took it to the federal reserve bank and asked if it was good. He was told it was O. K. He went back and paid $467 for it. In a few minutes the bank called up and said it belonged to Mrs. Osborn and payment had been stopped.

White rushed to the police. He also told them the young man had given his name as William N. Furthman, 4909 Kenwood avenue. The police investigated. They found a William N. Furthman at 4909 Kenmore—not Kenwood—avenue.

Mr. Furthman is 37 years old, married, three kids, secretary of the Union Electric Engineering company, and a brother of Lieut. Charles Furthman, army intelligence officer, formerly with State's Attorney Hoyne's office. William N. Furthman came in. He was identified as the man by White and Miss F. A. Blinn, his secretary.

Police Sure He's Innocent.

The police said last night they were confident Furthman is innocent. Lieut. Furthman tells this story:

"My brother was sitting in Detective McFarland's office for twenty minutes with White before he learned his name. Not until then did he 'recognize' him as the man who sold the bond. The girl could not identify him until after White pointed him out and said, 'There's the man.'

"There's mystery about this thing and I'm going to find it out. My brother is 37. Mr. White sent the police out to find a man 25 years old. He doesn't answer the description given."

Furthman will be arraigned in the South Clark street court today. He denied he had sold the certificate to White or had ever seen him before.

REALTY BROKERS SEND NOTICES OF RAISE IN RENTS

Chicago's thousands of flat dwellers—north, west, and south—have begun to receive formal notification in letters from realty brokers that rentals will be advanced from 10 to 20 per cent on May 1.

Increased cost of operation is the only explanation given in the notifications. Tenants also are informed they will not have the option of renewing their leases. Some agents hint at another rental advance on Oct. 1.

Wages of janitors, cost of coal and repairs, and general maintenance have increased almost 300 per cent in some instances since a year ago, agents say.

Supply and demand is the reason ascribed by F. A. Gates of McKey & Poague, who handles buildings on both the north and south sides.

BEG YOUR PARDON!

THE TRIBUNE of Feb. 11 quoted Samuel Insull as saying that a 10 per ceht profit would be made by the Peoples Gas if the present rate of earnings were kept up.

Mr. Insull explains that he was misquoted, and that he did not specify a rate of profits. What he said, he adds, was to the effect that, if the rates in force for the last four months of 1918 had been in force all that year, the bond interest would have been earned, with, perhaps, some profit.

The issue of Feb. 8, in telling that Abe Munick, a boy employed by W. H. Colvin & Co., had disappeared with $26,000 he had been sent to deposit in the First National bank, said that he had previously worked as a messenger for Shearson, Hammill & Co.

The latter firm explains that the boy was never in its employ.

BRICKMAKERS URGED TO PUSH 'BUILD NOW' IDEA

Members of three organizations of brickmakers at a banquet in the Edgewater Beach hotel last night were urged to do all in their power to combat the theories of those who advise business men to wait six months or more before building.

The organizations represented were the Common Brick Makers of America, the Face Brick Makers Association of America, and the Face Brick Dealers' association. All are holding annual conventions. The message pointing out the necessity for immediate development work was brought by Commissioner Poley of the division of building and construction of the United States bureau of labor.

"There are some who say we ought to wait several months before starting construction work. If we do there will be nothing to wait for. The bolsheviki will get you if you wait that long.

"The man who locks up a dollar now is a slacker. Every dollar ought to be working. Our banks are full of money, but it will do no good while idle. A million homes are needed in the United States, and we are starting 'build your own home' movements everywhere. Work on highways and railroads ought to be started at once. A plan is now being pushed in Washington to use $2,000,000,000 to aid home builders."

Dealers said they were certain prices for brick will not become lower. It was claimed prices are lower in Chicago than in other cities.

Veteran of Stockyards Fire Dies of Heart Disease

John B. Miller, a member of engine company No. 118, who aided in fighting the big stockyards fire several years ago in which Chief Horan and other fire fighters met death, died last night of heart disease in his home, 8002 South Laflin street. He narrowly escaped death in the stockyards fire when a wall collapsed burying a number of men in the ruins of warehouse No. 7 of Morris & Co.

Miller was 46. He leaves his widow, a son, and daughter.

G. A. McKinlock and Wife Defendants in Arrest Suit

Waukegan, Ill., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—Walter McGuire, former chief of police of Lake Forest and now assistant provost marshal at Great Lakes, was made defendant in a $10,000 suit filed here today. Mr. and Mrs. George A. McKinlock, wealthy residents of Lake Forest, are made joint defendants. Henry Harris, Lake Forest, alleges false arrest. Harris charges that on Feb. 18, 1918, while McGuire was chief of police, he was dragged to the police station on a burglary charge.

EXPERT RISES UP; EXPLAINS THE "SCALPER"

The ticket scalper is a psychologist.

No less a persons than Harry Powers, loop theater manager, is the authority for this statement. He made it to a subcommittee of the council judiciary committee, which is seeking ways to furnish good seats for all theatergoers at advertised prices.

The aldermen want to curb the "scalper psychologist" as well as the theaters, several of which have been threatened with being closed up if they do not prevent tickets for their best seats from filtering into the hands of the scalping gentry, who charge exorbitant prices

Thrilling Folks Back Home.

"It's this way," Mr. Powers asserted with an impressiveness that would do credit to a tragedian. "The ticket brokers have a good sense of psychology. They seem to know that many persons like to patronize anything that is costly.

"They know some people like to go back home saying: 'George, believe me or not, but I had to pay $5 apiece for tickets in Chicago!' So they charge $5 or more."

The aldermen rubbed their more or less high brows and pondered. There must be a way even to beat a psychologist, and then Alfred S. Austrian, counsel for a number of loop theaters, tossed another bombshell closer to the ground, but——

Says Court Spoils It All

He declared Chicago has practically no control over theater ticket scalpers because the Illinois Supreme court has ruled that their business is legitimate. However, he assured the aldermen that his clients, who have refused to raise their theater prices 50 cents a head in order to enter a "legal scalping" contract, which has received the O. K. of no less a legal luminary than Corporation Counsel Ettelson, were ready to aid in every way the aldermen's investigation.

Psychology and court decisions are great stuff, but dollars—there's something almost any alderman knows about, so up spake U. G. Hermann, commonly called "Sport."

$200,000 vs. Bootblack.

"Why not get after the scalpers?" he said. "Here I have $200,000 invested in the property and I am not permitted to charge a cent more than the amount printed on the ticket, while a bootblack or barber a few doors away, who pays no rent or license fee, can charge any price he pleases."

"That's just the guy we're tryin' to land. I had to pay a lot extra for seats to a good show the other night, and"—replied the highest browed—perhaps slightly bald-headed—alderman.

There will be further investigation, scientific and otherwise, by the aldermen of this "scalper" animal.

$1,000 Silverware Awaits Owner; Found in Basement

Myron H. Spades, 221 Walton place, looked at the silverware and said it was not his that was stolen on Jan. 15.

SCRAMBLED

A Tale of Politics Proving You Can't Believe All You See.

HERE is the inside story of a great political mystery:

Dr. John Dill Robertson, as every one should know, is health commissioner under the Thompson administration. Also he nobly undertakes the support of that administration on the stump and as a precinct captain.

Harry Olson, as every one should also know, is battling with Mayor Thompson for the Republican nomination for mayor, and naturally Dr. Robertson has no admiration for him.

Then imagine the surprise of south side maids and matrons yesterday when they received in their mail envelopes bearing the return address of Dr. Robertson and, after they had opened them expecting to find Thompson literature, received an invitation, bearing the facsimile signature of Harry Olson, to attend a meeting in the interests of his candidacy in Wicker Park hall!

It didn't take them long to begin gossiping.

Here are some of the reports that were spread:

Dr. Robertson is supporting Olson.

Olson and Thompson are getting together and Thompson really wants Olson to win.

But some women couldn't understand why Hyde Park women should get an invitation to a Wicker Park meeting, miles away, and they made inquiries.

And the mystery was exploded.

Here's the solution. All mail sent out from political headquarters is handled by addressing companies. The same company got the job of sending out Dr. Robertson's plea for Thompson and Judge Olson's invitation. Then some obliging young men put the Olson letters in the Robertson envelopes.

It is not yet known whether the Wicker Park residents who should have got the Olson invitations received boosts for Mayor Thompson, carefully enclosed in Mr. Olson's choicest grade of stationery.

CHIEF GARRITY SAYS OLD LEVEE CANNOT REOPEN

Chief of Police Garrity said yesterday that he was receiving reports that attempts are being made to reopen the old south side levee district. He said he had started an investigation.

"We shall not permit these places to reopen," the chief said.

The chief made inquiries during the day to verify a rumor that a man had been shot in the Marlborough apartments at State and Twenty-second streets and spirited away to a hospital without police notification.

"I have been unable to corroborate this report in any way," the chief declared. "I do not think there is anything to it."

Camp Grant Sergeant, on Furlough, Kills Self

Sergt. John T. Blank, on furlough from Camp Grant, which expired last Saturday, committed suicide early yesterday in a rooming house at 1137 West Madison street by inhaling gas through a tube which he had purchased.

Bill in Missouri Senate to Punish Lynching Bees

Jefferson City, Mo., Feb. 12.—A bill designed to put an end to lynching in Missouri was introduced today by Senator Kinney of St. Louis, which penalizes mob violence to either persons or property.

GOB IDENTIFIED AS LOST HEIR TO TOLMAN ESTATE

Red Cross Aids Lad in Fight for Share of Millions.

Daniel H. Tolman, apprentice seaman at Great Lakes, 18 years old, an orphan, has been identified as the missing heir to the fortune of Daniel H. Tolman, millionaire loan agent, who died on Feb. 13, 1918, just a year ago today. The boy is now in the hands of the Red Cross, which is helping him in his fight for his fortune.

The boy told friends at Great Lakes that his father, John Henry Tolman, was disowned by his grandfather for marrying against his will. When he was a small boy, he said, his mother died and his father died when he was 13 years old. Since then the youngster has been "wandering around."

Answered Advertisement.

Some time ago he enlisted. One day in a Milwaukee newspaper, he saw an advertisement saying that if Daniel H. Tolman, supposed to be "somewhere in Wisconsin," would communicate with a certain law firm in Philadelphia he would learn something to his advantage. He wrote.

Phillip Herman, lawyer, asked for power of attorney and got it. Then the boy told Capt. L. H. Stafford, of the Red Cross of the incident. The captain took the matter into the courts at once and got the power of attorney rescinded.

$65,000,000 Involved?

At Great Lakes last night it was reported the "lucky gob" had fallen heir to the entire fortune, generously fixed at $65,000,000. At the time of Daniel H. Tolman's death, however, his fortune was estimated at about $4,000,000. Also, there is a widow, Katherine, and a son, Elmer E. Tolman, living.

Tolman operated sixty-three loan offices in the United States and Canada. He once was sentenced to six months on Blackwell's Island in New York after being convicted of usury.

Tolman at one time had a chain of loan offices in Chicago.

THESE GAMBLERS MADE GUEST DON EVENING DRES.

New York, Feb. 12.—Two alleged gamblers with luxurious quarters on the upper west side, who were said to have required "guests" to wear evening dress, and whose records, according to the police, showed evening winning as high as $13,000 and maximum losses of $200, were arraigned in police court here today. Detectives had found roulette wheels, loaded dice and a set of gilt edged books listing socially prominent persons in various sections of the country.

The prisoners, who said they were Frank Jones and Grant Fisher, apparently of middle age, were held as keepers of a gambling house after Magistrate Corrigan had inspected materials which the police declared were used for loading and falsely marking dice.

In the house, the detectives told the court, were paintings ranging in value from $1,000 to $10,000. In one room were forty dress suits, and patrons who came in business clothes were fitted out from this stock.

Imagine, Back from War, His Girl Doesn't Kiss Him!

W. Huntley Crollus, twice wounded and with three regimental citations to his credit, created a homecoming precedent last night. He failed to kiss Miss Helen Flower, 5341 Cornell avenue, who met him at the La Salle street station. The gunner of the Fifty-ninth artillery regiment was greeted by his father, W. C. Crollus, former mayor of Joliet.

Two Seized in Act of Robbing a Japanese

Two men were arrested last night while robbing Y. Takei, 168 West Van Buren street, a Japanese, at Madison and Desplaines streets, by Sergts. Domke and Steib. They gave their names as James Hennebury, 37, 3111 Arthington street, and Lawrence Bryan, 615 West Madison street.

According to the police the men seized Takei, dragged him into a doorway, and were searching him when arrested. Bryan told the police he had just been released from Joliet. Hennebury, the police say, is a pickpocket.

Gassed Soldier Faints of Heart Attack on Car

Sergt. Ernest Toppel, 23, 2110 South Fifty-sixth court, Cicero, who was wounded and gassed in France, became unconscious last night on a Wentworth avenue car while on his way to general hospital No. 32 at Drexel boulevard and Forty-seventh street. After effects of the German gas affecting his heart are believed to have been the cause. He was taken to the People's hospital.

Sergt. Toppel had been permitted to visit his family.

HOGS SELL AT HIGHEST PRICE SINCE NOVEMBER

Competition Between the Small Packers and Eastern Shippers.

Another new high top hog price for 1919 to date was established yesterday at $18.15, being 10c above Tuesday's high point and highest since last November. Receipts at 30,000 were 10,000 below expectations, but with 14,800 over from previous day nearly 45,000 were on sale. Prices were largely 10c higher, but closing trade was weak, with 7,000 left in the pens.

Lively competition between eastern shippers, small packers, and speculators caused an unusually strong opening in the hog trade, with the Armour houses helping the trade considerably. Some of the other large concerns held off until late, forcing a weak finish. The day's average price at $17.93 was 7c above Tuesday, 28c above a week ago, and $1.85 higher than a year ago.

Receipts of hogs at Chicago first half of this week at 120,100 increased about 40,000 over same period a week ago, and shipments at 30,700 made 12,000 gain, compared with a week ago. Eleven markets yesterday received 150,000, against 121,000 a week ago and 139,000 a year ago. For the first half of the week eleven markets had 91,000 more than a week ago and 12,000 less than a year ago.

Weight of Hogs Gaining.

The general average weight of hogs at Chicago this week, owing to the smaller proportion of pigs and 106@200 lb averages among the arrivals, promises to reach about 242 pounds, against 237 lbs last week, 225 lbs four weeks ago, and 231 pounds a year ago, standing heaviest since last September. Quality never was better for this time of the year.

Further weakness was noted in the cattle market. All kinds, except choice to prime grades, sold weak to 25c lower than the previous day. The day's offerings proved rather light, but the keen demand was lacking. After selling at relatively low prices for more than a week, there was a better feeling in the canner and cutter market. Calves sold weaker, but a few prime vealers sold up to $15.75.

Quality of cattle this week has been about the poorest of the season. The sharp advance last week caused liberal shipping, and many feeders liquidated cattle that should have been held back. The excessive supply of plain and medium grades has been one of the main factors in causing the break from the recent high time. But the trade is of the opinion that the decline early this week will have the effect of checking shipping for the present.

Late Lamb Trade Healthy.

Sheep and lambs arrivals were small, and after a slow start the market was fully steady, with some instances of stronger selling. Prime lambs sold to Armour at $17.50, being higher than packers gave Tuesday. Outsiders were less active than usual, mostly because of the light supplies.

Traders in the sheep house are looking forward to the opening of the Colorado lamb season, as they expect some to arrive very soon now. This crop of lambs has started to move to the river markets, and it is customary to get them here soon after. Early this week some sold at Kansas City at $17.00. This price was not very high, as it stood 50@60c below the range for choice to prime lambs here that day.

That the country has a strong opinion regarding the future sheep trade is evidenced by the good demand during recent weeks for feeding lambs. Many buyers at present are taking strong weight stock that will be shorn, given a short feed, and returned to market.

Receipts for today are estimated at 13,000 cattle, 45,000 hogs, and 20,000 sheep, against 12,800 cattle, 34,511 hogs, and 10,667 sheep corresponding Thursday a year ago.

AVERY COMPANY REPORTS GAIN IN EARNINGS

The annual report of the Avery company for the year ended Nov. 30, 1918, shows a material gain in net earnings, but the appropriation of $750,000 for federal taxes, more than three times the appropriation of the previous year, left net equal to 28.71 a share for the common stock, as compared to 30.63 in the previous year.

No income account was given with the report, but the following tabulation may be inferred from comparing the data offered with the report of the previous year:

Alaskan Herd of Seals Shows Increase Over 1917

Preliminary figures for the 1918 census of fur seal on the Pribilof islands have been received by the bureau of fisheries. These figures show that the approximate total number of the Alaskan herd was 496,600 in 1918, as compared with 468,692 in 1917.

WIDE VARIANCE IN LIBERTY BOND PRICES IS FOUND

Governors of New York Stock Exchange Make Discovery.

BY GLENN GRISWOLD.

A free market in which quotations on identical issues of Liberty bonds vary as much as 1½ points at the same hour of the same day appears, when so stated, as an impossible situation, yet the governors of the New York stock exchange have discovered that it actually exists and apparently not to the credit of the exchange.

Comparison of quotations show that for weeks Liberty bonds have been selling at materially higher prices on the consolidated stock exchange than on the New York stock exchange. It might seem preposterous to believe that the sharpshooters of lower Manhattan would overlook such an arbitrage opportunity, but evidences indicates that they did.

Difference Is Large.

In instance, while a sale of $2,000 fourth Liberty 4¼s was being printed on the Consolidated tape Tuesday at 95.08 the quotation then ruling on the New York stock exchange was 93.86 for that issue. That is a difference of practically 1¼ points.

The Consolidated is a small edition of the larger bourse, with, perhaps, less rigorous supervision of trading practices. It is conceivable that there might be relatively greater selling pressure on the market of the big exchange, but a difference of more than a point in simultaneous sales gives exchange governors a scent of trouble.

There has been heavy trading in the new Illinois Central 5½s, just sold to the public at 97½. The price dropped to 96½, apparently due to the fact that some syndicate participants found themselves with more bonds allotted than they expected and were willing to violate a syndicate agreement to escape heavier losses.

The violent fluctuations of our own Liberty bonds gives the American investor an amusing viewpoint of the flurry caused in Paris when French war bonds declined one-eighth of a point. Cables characterized the weakness and decline as spectacular and said the situation was "hopelessly mixed up." Correspondents, apparently, were consoled, in part, by the fact that the decline was not so "spectacular" as fluctuations of last month, when the 5 per cents rose seven-eighths one day and declined one-half the next.

No Fear of Market.

Those who specialize in Liberty bond markets are coming to the conclusion that if Mr. Glass offers the next loan at anything like the terms that the street expects there can be little to fear for the market for outstanding issues. The taxable bonds outstanding are now selling on practically a 4.75 yield basis. The new bonds might bear interest at such a rate without immediately depressing the old issues.

The fact that the fifth loan will probably be for a period of five years and in any event will mature within ten years puts it in a class by itself, giving it a market governed by many factors apart from those fixing values for the long term issues. It is possible, if not probable, that the long and short term issues would move in opposite directions when comparable markets are first established.

FIRST REPORT ON CENTRAL WESTERN ROADS

The first annual report of the railroad administration for the central western region was issued yesterday by Hale Holden, regional director. It shows in detail the efforts of the administration to effect operating economies in its direction of the carriers. Mr. Holden says:

"In the ten month period (results for November and December not yet being available) operating revenues of railroads in the central western region increased 17.3 per cent. Operating expenses increased 34.1 per cent, resulting in a decrease of 12.7 per cent in net operating revenue. It is well understood, however, that operating expenses for the ten month period have included substantially all wage increases effective since Jan. 1, 1918, and increased cost of materials and supplies, whereas operating revenues reflect only the increased freight and passenger rates for substantially the last four months of the period indicated."

At the outset of the report there is a table which shows wherein the principal economies were wrought. The table contains fourteen points, in which a total of $6,442,619.84 a year is saved.

Union Pacific.

C. S., New Hampton, Ia.—Quarterly dividends of 2½ per cent each are paid on Union Pacific common stock. In 1917 earnings amounted to 16.9 per cent, of which 10.9 per cent came from operation and 6 per cent from "other income," being principally dividends and interest on securities owned. In 1918 Union Pacific was one of the few roads that showed increased net earnings under government management. This was because, being the shortest line for much traffic, it was kept crowded with trains.

New Insurance Stock Hazardous.

W. J., Indianapolis, Ind.—The history of life insurance promotions in Illinois during the last decade indicates that their stocks are hazardous speculations. Of eighteen or twenty companies organized since 1906 four have gone into receivers' hands, three have combined with other companies on a basis showing a loss to investors, and several have disbanded quietly or are still in the promotion stage. Only one has made an unqualified success.

Empire Gas and Fuel.

S. G.—The Empire Gas and Fuel company is a subsidiary of the Cities Service company, which owns all of its $12,500,000 of stock. In the year ended June 30 last the Empire Gas and Fuel had an average production of 40,000 barrels a day. Net earnings in the twelve months were over $19,000,000. Present production is said to be over 60,000 barrels daily. This company issued $14,000,000 of first mortgage bonds in 1916. About $14,500,000 of them have been retired by sinking fund.

Brief Answers.

N. C. C.—Liberty bonds should not be exchanged for oil stocks. If you want to risk your money on penny shares limit your "investment" to a little spare change. The par value of 1 cent usually is chosen to make stock look cheap when it probably is dear.

G. M., Compton, Ill.—The Wonder Motor Truck company refused two years ago to furnish a financial statement. There never was any good reason to consider it more than a hazardous speculation. No recent information is available.

T. H.—Chicago City and Connecting Railways bonds depend for interest principally on dividends of Chicago City Railway stock. That stock is covered by the capital valuation, but 5 per cent on the shares deposited as collateral is not enough to pay the interest.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Notice has been given by the head of the butter division of the food administration that holders of butter under the 60 per cent government requisition order of stocks in cold storage, Aug. 1, are to report all stocks in detail with lot numbers. Moldy or butter inspected below 86 points which has been released is not to be included. It is estimated that between 2,500,000 and 3,000,000 lbs are affected by this order.

The ordering of a report on cold storage stocks for shipment and an improved demand had a good effect on butter values, and prices here advanced ½c. All fancy offerings were taken freely at full prices, but lower grades were not called for freely. Receipts, 5,183 tubs.

New York had a holiday, but Boston was open, with trading not as good as on the previous day, with prices on car lots ½c higher on some of the medium grades. Receipts, 2,818 tubs. Philadelphia reported a good call for the better grades, but low scoring grades were easy. Receipts, 2,155 tubs.

Movement of cheese at Wisconsin primary markets last week was 2,308,658 lbs, an increase of 262,658 lbs over the previous week. Wisconsin cold storage stocks decreased 61,740 lbs for the week.

Egg prices declined 1c to 2c, with sales early at 38c and later at 37c. Supplies are ample for all requirements at present, arrivals being 10,625 cases.

Live fowls were 1c higher. Arrivals, 3 cars and 610 coops. Potatoes were slow sale and market weaker. Arrivals, 53 cars, with 175 cars on track and 52 cars outside.

Stocks of butter in cold storage February at leading points in this country showed 40.8 per cent larger and decrease of 75.4 per cent in cheese and 20.7 per cent in eggs, as compared with last year. Details follow:

Anticipate the New Revenue Law

THE taxes which your business must pay on the 1918 turn-over have been materially changed by the Law shortly to be enacted.

We can help you simplify the work which will have to be done to meet the requirements of the law. Taxpayers will be particularly interested in the new rules governing inventories, losses, amortization and invested capital.

You can begin immediately to compile the data requisite for your return if you are informed as to the most important changes that have been made.

It is particularly important for firms and corporations to be able to compute their 1918 tax at once in order that they may make out their balance sheets as of the close of their last fiscal year. The 1918 tax will be payable over the entire year and in most cases will constitute a very important item in the balance sheet. We have issued a pamphlet designed to help business houses in the preparation of data for their returns. We shall be glad to give you a copy.

BOARD OF TRADE HEAD APPROVES NEW WHEAT BILL

"Broad Enough to Meet All Questions," His Verdict.

BY CHARLES D. MICHAELS.

"When business conditions are normal and it is possible to trade with foreign countries as individuals and handle foreign exchange in the same way as before the war we can hope for a reopening of the trading in wheat futures," said President L. F. Gates of the Board of Trade, who has been in Washington for a month looking after the interests of the board and the grain trade in general.

"We must also know definitely about the size of the crops here and abroad. There must be a reëstablishment of credits abroad and a discontinuing of the concentrated buying by foreign governments, as their operations would work to our disadvantage, they being buyers and we sellers, having a large surplus to dispose of, and would be forced under such conditions to accept low prices. The entire situation under the proposed legislation is in the hands of the president, who can determine what shall be done as soon as he signs the bill, should he desire, and all we can do is to wait.

All Should Unite.

"It would be for the best interests of the grain trade were all the exchanges to agree upon one plan, as nothing can be accomplished otherwise. We had the New York, Baltimore, and Louisville exchanges and the officrs of the National Grain Dealers' association with us at the recent hearing at Washington. The attitude of the committee was very fair and the bill purposed is broad enough to meet all suggestions brought forward by the grain trade.

"The questions of international finance, the control of tonnage, and the buying and the prices agencies are the main factors which are expected to be largely determined by the peace conference. The price problem, it is believed, will be ironed out at that time. When all that is done we will know better where we stand and what to do."

President Gates advises members of the grain trade to get a copy of the proposed bill and read carefully sections 3 and 4. Section 3 refers to the marketing and handling of the wheat and the protection of millers, wholesalers, jobbers, and [illegible] against loss by them on account of abnormal fluctuations in the price of wheat and flour and to borrow money. Section 4 is especially significant, as it refers to regulation of trading in wheat and flour only on the exchanges.

Advance in Winnipeg Oats.

Winnipeg was the only grain market open, and prices for oats advanced and closed 1 1-5c higher at 67⅜c for May and 65⅜c for July. May barley advanced 1c and closed at 85⅝c, and May flax closed ¾c higher at $3.11½.

Wheat Condition Less Favorable.

Condition of winter wheat is less favorable than four weeks ago, says the Price Current Grain Reporter. "This is particularly in the case of Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois. This unfavorable condition is based on the fact that there is no snow on the ground, that the soil is dry and damage may result from spring freezing and thawing. However, this condition is general throughout the southwest, but correspondents do not express any particular anxiety on that account. Correspondents report that the greater part of wheat, corn, and oats of last year's crop has been sold. Percentages by surplus states are as follows:

	Wheat.	Corn.	Oats.
Ohio	91	68	73
Indiana	92	80	78
Illinois	88	67	66
Missouri	82	81	85
Iowa	90	70	68
Minnesota	71	..	68
North Dakota	87	..	82
S. Dakota and Nebraska	86	50	67
South Dakota	86	50	67
Nebraska	92	79	87
Kansas	95	86	92
Oklahoma	97	90	90

Statistics on Hogs.

"The number of hogs being fattened for shipment at this date is in excess of last year in the states of Indiana, Illinois, and South Dakota, and somewhat less in Ohio, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota, North Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, and Oklahoma," says the Price Current Grain Reporter. "The percentage of hog crop of 1918 already shipped averages about as follows: Ohio, 72; Indiana, 73; Illinois, 74; Missouri, 63; Iowa, 67; Minnesota, 60; North Dakota, 82; South Dakota, 68; Nebraska, 63; Kansas, 72; Oklahoma, 85. Reports indicate that farmers will sow an increased acreage of spring wheat, and seed dealers are offering spring wheat for seed in winter wheat territory where spring is not ordinarily grown."

Hog Slaughtering.

"Hog slaughterings for the week ending Feb. 8 in the west are estimated at 665,000, compared with 935,000 the previous week and 861,000 the same week a year ago," says the Price Current Grain Reporter. "The total number of hogs slaughtered during the winter season, Oct. 28, 1918, to Feb. 8, 1919, is estimated at 18,819,000, as compared with 10,166,000 for the same period last year."

Wheat stocks at all points except on farms on Jan. 1, as given by the bureau of markets, were 191,775,000 bu, compared with 81,492,000 bu last year. White flour, 8,048,687 brls, or 27.5 per cent over last year. Corn flour, 40,264,000 lbs, or 723.9 per cent, as compared with last year, and cornmeal, 60,920,000 lbs, or 231.9 per cent, compared with a year ago.

INSURANCE NEWS IN ALL BRANCHES EAST AND WEST

BY THOMAS R. WEDDELL.

Closely following the new rates on automobile fire and theft insurance a new liability and property damage schedule has been issued. The new rates become mandatory on April 1, but on business already written may be made retroactive as to Jan. 1. It is understood that the new rates, generally speaking, are lower than those now in force.

The new rates, instead of being based on horsepower, as heretofore, are based on the use of the car, the price, and the territory in which it is located. Cars are classified, first, as owner-driven, private pleasure only; second, chauffeur-driven, private pleasure only; and third, any driver, professional and business uses. They are then sub-classified as cars whose price runs up to $1,199; those from $1,200 to $2,499; those from $2,500 to $3,499, and those from $3,500 and up. The rates under these various classifications are made up for the large cities, all other cities of 200,000 population or more, and the rural districts.

In working out the new rating system the committee adopted the principle that the method of driving a car is of first importance in determining the liability. The classification by price may be said to be psychological. The underlying idea is that demands for damages are not so heavy upon owners of low-priced cars as upon those of high-priced cars, and if damage claims go to suit a jury is not likely to give judgment for as heavy damages against a Ford owner as against a Packard owner.

JANUARY FIRE LOSSES.

The January fire losses in the United States and Canada reflected the unusually favorable weather conditions. They were $29,446,325, which is over $8,000,000 less than January of last year, when the total was $37,575,100. The number of fires with an estimated loss of $10,000 or over was 273, which compares with 494 in January of 1918.

INSURANCE NOTES.

Harold D. Bartlett, who has been with the agency of Standart & Main in Denver for many years, has been appointed state agent for the Phoenix of London and the Imperial in Colorado, Wyoming, and the Black Hills district of South Dakota. His headquarters will be in Denver and he succeeds Glenn E. Charlton, who resigned to go in the local agency business.

Charles G. Baeder, who has been in the underwriting department of the Zurich at the head office in Chicago since the company entered this country, has resigned, effective February 28, when he will go to Cedar Rapids to become assistant to C. J. Duncan, vice president and general manager of the Iowa Mutual Liability.

B. J. Spencer has resigned as superintendent of the casualty department of the office of Arthur L. Nathan & Co., of Chicago, general agents of the American Bonding & Casualty, to become associated with the casualty department in the Chicago office of Johnson & Higgins.

The class in public speaking of the Fire Insurance Club of Chicago, which will be conducted by Ernest Palmer, assistant counsel of the National Board of Fire underwriters, will begin Friday, February 21, and will be held each Friday afternoon from 4:30 to 5:15 o'clock.

The annual meeting of the Western Sprinkler Leakage association will be held today at luncheon at the Fort Dearborn hotel.

West Disinfecting Co. Suit Is Dismissed

The appeal of Harold I. Koppelman, Miss Lillian Koppelman, Jacob L. Brenn, and Arthur C. Tretow and the United States Sanitary Products company from an order of Judge Scanlan, sentencing Koppelman, Brenn, and Tretow to jail and fining all the defendants, has been dismissed by the Appellate court. The defendants were charged with improperly taking the records of the West Disinfecting company, by which they were employed, and using them in the business of the Sanitary Products company, a competitive corporation which they formed.

To the Holders of

New Orleans Railway and Light Company
One Year 7% Gold Notes

To the Holders of New Orleans Railway and Light Company One Year Seven Per cent. Gold Notes, dated June 1, 1918, and maturing June 1, 1919.

The holders of large amounts of the securities above mentioned, being of the opinion that immediate steps should be taken to protect their interests therein, have requested the undersigned to act as a Committee for that purpose.

A receiver of the property of the New Orleans Railway and Light Company was appointed by the United States District Court on the ninth day of January, 1919, and the default of the Company in the payment of interest upon its General Mortgage Four and One-half Per Cent. Gold Bonds which occurred on January 1, 1919, still continues. The period of grace provided in the mortgage securing said bonds within which such default may be cured will expire in ninety (90) days from the first day of January, 1919. Should the default continue thereafter, the holders of said bonds would have the right to compel the foreclosure of said mortgage. In order that the holders of the notes may have a general knowledge of the affairs of the Railway we enclose summary of a statement made by Mr. Francis T. Homer, the president of the American Cities Company, which Company owns the greater part of the capital stock of the Railway, and also a tabulated comparison of valuations placed on the properties of the Railway, and which appeared in the issue of the "New Orleans States" of January 4th, 1919.

In view of these conditions, it is most urgent that the holders of the above-mentioned One Year Seven Per Cent. Gold Notes of the New Orleans Railway and Light Company, for their own protection, should organize at once for united action under a Committee having adequate power and authority.

Holders of New Orleans Railway and Light Company One Year Seven Per Cent. Gold Notes are therefore requested to deposit their notes with the Depositary or the Sub-Depositary named above on the terms and conditions set forth in a noteholders' agreement dated January 30, 1919. All notes so deposited must be in negotiable form and must bear the June 1, 1919 coupon. All depositors will be entitled to receive certificates of deposit issued in their names in negotiable form.

The Noteholders' Agreement contains a provision to the effect that before any depositor shall become bound by the terms of any plan or agreement of reorganization or readjustment made or approved by this Committee, he shall have an opportunity to withdraw upon the terms and conditions set forth in said agreement, in which event, as therein stated, withdrawing depositors shall not be required to pay on account of the compensation and expenses of the Committee, any sums in excess of two per cent (2%) of the principal amount of their deposited notes.

Copies of the Noteholders' Agreement may be obtained by application either through the Depositary or the Sub-Depositary.

Dated, Philadelphia, January 30, 1919.

The disease germ is more dangerous than the mad dog

If a foaming-mouthed, wild-eyed maniac of a mad dog charged at a crowd of children, you know what you would do.

Every ounce of chivalry in your being would be in the quick spring that would land you between the children and danger.

But how about the unseen menace—more threatening—more fatal—more cruel—than a million mad dogs—the disease germ.

The danger spots in the home—places where germs positively will breed unless these places are regularly disinfected, are garbage cans, cuspidors, toilets, sinks, drains, dark, sunless corners and wherever flies gather or breed.

You can make the danger-places in your home completely germ-proof by the regular use of

Lysol is invaluable for Personal Hygiene.

Lysol is economical; a 50c bottle makes 5 gallons of powerful disinfectant, enough to last for months; a 25c bottle makes 2 gallons. Get a bottle today—use it regularly—you will then make a better fight against disease than disease can make against you.

Remember, there is but one true Lysol—the product made, bottled, signed and sealed by Lehn & Fink.

Lysol Toilet Soap Contains Lysol, and therefore protects the skin from germ infection. It is refreshingly soothing and healing and helpful for improving the skin. Ask your dealer. If he hasn't it, ask him to order it for you.

Lysol Shaving Cream Contains Lysol, and kills germs on razor and shaving-brush (where germs abound), guards the tiny cuts from infection, and gives the antiseptic shave. If your dealer hasn't it, ask him to order a supply for you.

WANTED—MALE HELP.

Employment Agencies.

ARE YOU A MORAL COWARD?

We ask this question because we know many men who have let opportunity slide, who have let their life slip away without obtaining recognition for their ability. These men were simply afraid to take a chance; they were afraid to look for the greater things, because they did not have the confidence in their own ability and in their own perseverance to successfully secure that opportunity.

Our business is largely made up of men who are at present employed, men who are using us as their eyes to look for them into other and greater fields of endeavor and to secure for them positions which will allow complete and full recognition and satisfaction to them from the efforts expended.

If you have not already done those things for yourself which should be done and which you in justice to yourself should do, we ask you to think, and think hard, whether or not you are one of the men who in the latter days will, in your tottering way, earn a few paltry pennies or be begging on the streets. These are hard words, but they are not near as hard as the actual fact, and that fact is shown plainly to every one of us every day by people we see walking the streets.

We can find for you that which you wish. You must do your part. Our doors are open at 8:30 and we will be waiting to advise and assist you towards greater and better things.
